

PROVISION MADE FOR CANADIAN SOLDIERS' DEPENDENTS IS TOLD

Children's Bureau of Department of Labor Reports Results of Inquiry.

FAMILIES ARE CARED FOR

Residents of Certain Cities Insured: Government and Canadian Patriotic Fund Aid Families.

Washington, June 29.—How Canada provides for the wives and children of her enlisted men is described in a report by S. Herbert Wolfe of New York, prepared at the request of the secretary of labor and just published by the children's bureau of the United States department of labor.

In presenting the report, Miss Lathrop, chief of the children's bureau, says:

In the 50 years since the Civil War legislation affecting the family and its economic status has shown marked growth. Mothers' pension laws and minimum wage laws are recognized examples, and it is acknowledged that their result has not been to impoverish but distinctly to improve the power of the family to protect itself. In view of this tendency it is to be expected that a system of compensation for soldiers and sailors can be developed whereby the government will make possible for their children the home life and parental care which are the common need of every child.

Canadian Soldiers Insured

The report points out that in Canada two notable elements have been added to the government provision for soldiers and their families. First, insurance on the lives of soldiers is carried by various municipalities, and, second, the dominion has undertaken as a part of its military system the re-education of the disabled soldier so that he can assume again, in whole or in part, the care of his family.

Family Well Cared For

For example, the wife of a private soldier with three children between the ages of 10 and 15 may receive either $15 or $20 from the assigned pay of her husband, $29 separation allowance and $25 from the Canadian patriotic fund, or in all $60 or $65 a month.

If her husband is killed, she will receive $40 a month for the first year and an additional $6 a month for each of her children until her boys are 15 years of age and her girls are 17 years of age. In addition, if she lives in Toronto or one of a number of other cities, she will receive life insurance. This will be paid to her in monthly installments unless she shows that she is having medical treatment and when he is finally discharged, if his physical disability continues, a pension will be paid according to the extent of his disability and the number of his children under 16 or 17 years of age.

Disability Provision Made

If her husband is disabled, she will receive a special maintenance allowance while he is having medical treatment and when he is finally discharged, if his physical disability continues, a pension will be paid according to the extent of his disability and the number of his children under 16 or 17 years of age.

Mr. Wolfe is an actuary of recognized authority, and he has analyzed especially the municipal provision for life insurance by which certain Canadian cities have supplemented the pensions provided by the dominion for dependents of deceased soldiers. In Toronto, the municipality has not only purchased $10,000,000 worth of insurance from private companies, but it is itself carrying more than $2,000,000 worth of insurance.

All Allies Protect Families

A municipal insurance bureau has been organized and $2,000,000 worth of bonds have been issued, of which the principal and interest are a charge upon the general taxpayers of the city. Every officer and enlisted man residing within the city limits of Toronto, who volunteers for overseas service, has from the date of his enlistment been protected by a life insurance policy of $1000, the protection running from the time of his enlistment to his death or six months after his discharge or resignation.

The report refers, also, to the fact that each of the European countries makes government provision for the families of private soldiers and sailors. In Great Britain, France and Germany, the amount of the government separation allowance depends upon the status of the family which must be supported.

Teacher, on Outing, Dies in Wilderness

San Francisco, June 29.—(I. N. S.) News of the death in the wilds of Trinity county, 80 miles from medical aid, of Miss Leona Elizabeth Meyer of Palo Alto, was received Thursday by the girl's brother-in-law, Harry Coles of Palo Alto. Miss Meyer, on a vacation hike with her sister Ida, and a cousin, Charles Matthews, fell from a rocky trail and broke a leg. Before medical attention could be given blood poison set in and Miss Meyer died. She was a teacher in the All Saints Episcopal Sunday school of Palo Alto.
