MISS MAYBELLE MILLER

DRESS BY DUSHELLMRS.
JOHN ROY KENNY

and Eugene Kenny of Leona, Or., was the best man. The bride wore a white silk Jersey suit which with her tulle picture hat, also in white, was very chic. She carried a bouquet of orchids and white sweet peas fashioned in a graceful shower. Miss Miller was given in a yellow tulle and tulle and carried a shower bouquet of red sweet peas, which harmonized with her red tulle hat. The rooms were a veritable garden of flowers, roses, sweet peas, canterbury bells and carnations arranged in great redolent masses throughout the house.

The ushers formed an aisle through which the bride party passed and they included Fred Heitzhausen, S. Milton Hermann, brother of the bride; Frederick Harkness, Leon Robertson, Harry Diviss.

Mr. Hermann gave his daughter in marriage and the wedding march was played by Mrs. Arthur Torgler. Miss Agnes Torgler sang "Until" during the ceremony.

A buffet supper was served after the ceremony.

Those presiding in the dining room were Mrs. Dell O'Hanlin, Mrs. Moyer Cole and Mrs. Frederick Harkness, assisted by Mrs. Ruth Henderson Harvey, Mrs. Edward Krupp, Miss Hilda Cliff and Miss Erma Rice.

In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Schiller B. Hermann and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Kenny, with the bride party.

The out of town guests included Hon. and Mrs. Binger Hermann, grandparents of the bride; Harry V. Mason, uncle of the bride, of Goldfield, Nevada; Mr. and Mrs. Augustyn Granville of Hartford, Conn.; E. H. Mish of New York and B. A. Judd of New York.

A home wedding was solemnized at Brookside farm, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bachmann, near Clackamas, Wednesday noon, June 27, when their eldest daughter Anna, became the bride of John W. Wornstaf of Bend, Or. Only immediate relatives and a few intimate friends were present. Rev. J. R. Landsborough of the First Presbyterian church of Oregon City performed the marriage, using the impressive ring ceremony, which had for a setting an improvised altar of cedar festooning with lovely pink Caroline Testout roses, artistically draped from the ceiling and banked with a profusion of Testout roses and ferns, making a beautiful background for the bride party. Pink roses were placed in vases about the rooms. Mrs. Josephine Languth Link of Portland played the wedding march and just preceding the ceremony sang "I Love You Truly." The bride was charming in her wedding gown of white, Georgette crepe trimmed with pearls and satin and her filmy tulle veil was held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms. The bride's bouquet was a shower of white sweet peas, baby breath and asparagus fern, tied with white tulle ribbon. Mrs. Wornstaf was attended by her youngest sister, Miss Jennie Bachmann, while their brother George acted as best man. The bridesmaid wore a cream voile frock. After the ceremony a wedding feast was served, the bride cutting the wedding cake, which was an immense 16-pound fruit cake. The bride was one of Clackamas county's popular school teachers and an active worker in civic organizations. The bridegroom is a well known and prosperous rancher of central Oregon and is a member of the Farmers' union. The marriage is the culmination of a romance begun four years ago on the lower Columbia when the bride met Mr. Wornstaf while teaching in the Olney school near which place the bridegroom's father, E. W. Wornstaf, formerly operated a logging company. Mr. and Mrs. Wornstaf, after a brief honeymoon trip to Seaside, will make their home at Bend, Or. where Mr. Wornstaf has a dairy ranch.

The wedding of Miss Camille Ann Taylor, daughter of Madge Taylor of Portland and Edward Theodore Ness of Tacoma was celebrated in a very quiet manner at Seattle Wednesday afternoon.

The bridegroom has been connected with the National bank of Tacoma for a number of years, now filling the office of auditor, and the bride has many friends in Portland and other cities because of her charming personality and her remarkable ability as a violinist.

Mrs. Ness will be a welcome acquisition to Tacoma musical circles. She has played a great deal in public and has had a number of offers to make professional use of her ability on the violin.

During the past several months she has been studying with Prof. Sparger of Seattle.

The service was read by Rev. L. E. Schell, in the presence of the immediate relatives. The bride looked charming in her going away gown of pearl grey charmeuse faille, heavily embroidered in chenille and silver lamme, with hat to match. She carried lilies of the valley with maiden hair fern.

The bridesmaid, Miss Alice Lennes, was becomingly gowned in a Paquin model of salmon pink broadcloth and Georgette crepe. Her bouquet was sweet peas and forget-me-nots.

William A. Ness, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The bride was given in marriage by her mother.

After a wedding trip to Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Ness will make their home in Tacoma.

An attractive home wedding was solemnized Thursday evening, June 21, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Olson, when their daughter, Miss Hazel Arline, became the bride of Newell B. Chandler of Grafton, N. D. Only relatives and a few very intimate friends attended the wedding. Preceding the ceremony, Miss Lillian Peterson, who was also maid of honor, sang, "O Promise Me." Her mother, Mrs. Nellie Peterson, was her accompanist and also furnished the wedding music, playing softly during the ceremony.

tailored cloth gown with chic white hat. Mr. Hogg who is a mining engineer with the Clark Butte mines took his bride on a tour to San Francisco and on the return Mr. and Mrs. Hogg expect to go to Butte to make their home after July 15.

A wedding which took place in Vancouver, Wash., Thursday, June 28, was that of Miss Zillah C. Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Crawford of Vancouver, and Fred Fliedner Glen of Portland. Rev. Dr. J. M. Skinner of the Rose City Park Presbyterian church officiated at high noon in the presence of the relatives and a few intimate friends. The arrangements were all very simple, the bride being no attendant, and the bride wore her traveling suit, a smart tailored costume with chic hat to match. She wore a corsage bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. Mr. Crawford gave his daughter in marriage and only the relatives and a few intimate friends were present. The wedding plans were very much simplified on account of the war, as the bridegroom expects to be called to service soon. He is a member of Company C, Oregon engineers. He was graduated from Boston Tech. in '16, where he was a Sigma Chi man, and is a member of the University and Multnomah clubs of Portland. He is a grandson of the late William Fliedner, a pioneer of Oregon, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh M. Glen. Mrs. Glen was graduated from the University of Washington and is a Gamma Phi Beta sorority girl. The couple left for a short wedding trip, after which they will be at home to their friends in Portland.

A pretty home wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McClarkin, 638 Club avenue, Rose City Park, Wednesday evening, June 27, at 8 o'clock, when their youngest daughter, Myrtle Myra, was united in marriage to Dr. Aaron Samuel Torrens. The Rev. W. L. Gray officiated, using the impressive ring ceremony, in the presence of relatives and intimate friends. The bride, an attractive and popular young lady, was pretty in a gown of cream French serge and Georgette crepe, artistically hand-embroidered. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and ferns. The only jewelry worn by the bride was a lavalier, beautifully designed in platinum and green gold with a setting of aquamarine, a gift from the bridegroom.

The bride was attended by her sister Mrs. Maude Reese and Dr. W. G. Scott acted as best man. Preceding the ceremony Mrs. I. H. Crawford, a cousin of the bride, sang "I Love You Truly," after which the couple took their places beneath a bow of ferns and roses. The house was beautifully decorated with home grown Portland roses, Oregon grape and ferns. Following the ceremony a delightful luncheon was served at the home of the bridegroom, a program of patriotic songs, vocal and instrumental selections.

The bridegroom, a native of Minnesota, is a graduate of the College of Medicine of the University of Illinois.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Walworth, 1078 East Twenty-fourth street, North on Wednesday evening of this week, June 27, their daughter Ethel became the bride of Homer Ogle, the marriage service being read by the Rev. William E. Todd, of Vernon Presbyterian church.

The bride's gown was of white embroidered voile and she wore a corsage bouquet of fern and carnations. The decoration of the rooms was in a color scheme of pink and white and the attendants as bridesman and bridesmaid were the bridegroom's brother and the bride's sister. The ring ceremony was used. A dainty luncheon was served after which the couple who are popular among their numerous acquaintances, departed to spend their honeymoon at Bayocan. After July 6 they will be at home to their friends at 1078 East Twenty-fourth street North, before establishing their own home elsewhere in the city. The guests were the immediate friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ogle.

An attractive June wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Baumer, 1156 East Salmon street, Wednesday evening, June 27, when their daughter, Miss Lucille Baumer, was united in marriage to Elwyn M. Marston, the Rev. Dr. J. J. Staub of the Sunnyside Congregational church officiating. Very attractive decorations of a scheme of green and white culminated in a beautiful floral arch over the place where the service was read. Miss Ruth Pfander introduced the service with "O Promise Me." She afterwards also sang, "At Dawning." The wedding march from Mendelssohn was played by Miss Gladys Miller. The bride was charming in a gown of Japanese crepe de chine, in orchid June 27 over satin, carrying an arm bouquet of pale pink and lavender sweet peas. The service, attended by relatives and a goodly number of intimate friends, was followed with refreshments. Mr. and Mrs. Marston have been prominently connected with the work of the Sunnyside Congregational Christian Endeavor society.

A wedding of interest to many Spokane and Portland people took place at 5 o'clock Monday, June 25, at Spokane, when Miss Veve Boothby and Louis Nordheim of Portland were married at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Elmer D. Taylor, West 1308 Nineteenth avenue.

The Rev. James A. Palmer of Trinity Episcopal church read the service, which was attended only by the immediate family. Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served at Davenport's.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Boothby of Pendleton, Or., and has been visiting in Spokane the daughter, Miss Anna Hansen, was married to Roy I. Streckenbach, by the Rev. J. J. Staub, D. D., of the Sunnyside Congregational church. Miss Anna Mathison opened the service with "O Promise Me." The bride couple were attended by Lawrence P. Hansen as best man, and Miss Christel Thode as bridesmaid. Relatives and a few intimate friends witnessed the impressive double ring ceremony. Refreshments followed.

R. E. Stout and Miss Mary E. Hanson, of Portland, were married in the parlors of the White Temple Wednesday evening, June 27. W. C. Wise and Mrs. Jessie Lussier were the attendants. Rev. O. C. Wright, D. D., officiated.

E. C. Chapin and Miss Florence Ritchies were married at the parsonage of the Sunnyside Congregational church Wednesday afternoon, June 27, the Rev. J. J. Staub, officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenny will be at home to their friends at Estacada following a short honeymoon.

SOCIETY PERSONALS

Miss Marie Draper and John R. Newell were married at noon Saturday at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. Roy Cleveland Taylor, at 1692 Sandy boulevard. The Rev. Dr. Luther Injott read the ceremony in the presence of the two families. The wedding was simply appointed, the bride being gowned in a white bridal dress worn
