

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA SCORES BIG TRIUMPH IN MUSICAL FESTIVAL

Conductor Carl Denton and Performers Share Honors With the Soloists.

ENCORES ARE FREQUENT

Dvorak's "From the New World" Symphony Is Principal Offering and Applause Is Hearty.

By J. L. Wallin

Another triumph was scored in the Music Festival series at the Auditorium when the Portland Symphony orchestra held the stage Friday night, assisted by two of the five soloists appearing during the season, Miss Mary Jordan, contralto, and Theo. Karle, tenor.

At the opening performance Thursday night, the symphony orchestra served largely in supporting capacity. Friday night it formed the principal background, and filled the place nobly. Without fear of contradiction let it be said that the efforts exerted by the city points justly with much pride. The numbers chosen for this program were those with which the orchestra had gained thorough familiarity through having played them before in concert, and at a large number of rehearsals.

Beautiful Story Appeals

Dvorak's "From the New World" symphony, the principal offering, was read and executed with the breadth of interpretation that throughout made it an open book to even those who heard it for the first time. It was a plain and beautiful, compelling story related by the instrumental voices, portraying impressions from the new world, America, as they came to the Bohemian composer in 1892 while visiting New York his home. For themes he had chosen the plaintive negro melodies and they were brought forth as had they been sung without embellishment to convince.

Perhaps the most haunting of these was that voiced by the English horn. In the second movement—an incidental music which sounds like an instrument that stands as one of the most seductive ever written, surpassed perhaps only by that which Sibelius conceived for his "Swan of Tuonela." The third and fourth movements more sprightly, were given with a dash and brilliancy that made the contrast altogether delightful.

Applause Is Enthusiastic

Conductor Denton and the orchestra members were enthusiastically applauded after each number and a veritable ovation was the reward after the last chord of the fourth movement floated away. "Hilfungs" much from Edward Grieg's suite "Sigturd Jorsalfar" proved a splendid selection for the introduction of the second part of the program. The music, played with abandon and breadth of style that fully warranted the enthusiastic applause.

The came the tenor, Theo. Karle, in a group of songs, "Onaway, Awake, Beloved," from Coleridge-Taylor's "Hiawatha," "Moonlight," a charming ballad by Hallé, that the audience insisted upon hearing a second time, and the celebrated "Celeste Aida," from Verdi's famous opera, "Aida." It was in this that the young Seattle tenor—Mr. Karle is but 24 and singing—found opportunity to demonstrate that he is a dramatic tenor, bordering on the robust, and yet possessing a voice of much lyric quality. The group would not satisfy the craving and for a final encore Mr. Karle chose the delightful tenor aria, "O Paradiso," from Meyerbeer's "L'Africaine," which he gave with exquisite dramatic effect.

Two Grainger Numbers Given

The orchestra followed with two numbers by Percy Aldridge Grainger, the young Australian composer, who for the past two or three years has been a resident of New York, and of whom we have just read that he enlisted in the United States army as an aviator, which goes to show that he is not only a pianist-composer, but doubles in deed and in patriotism. The Grainger compositions were "Irish Tune from County Derry" and "Molly on the Shore," both built upon Irish themes. In Mr. Grainger's own words, "The two tunes are typical examples of the real 'fiddle tune' type, and reflect the technique of the peasant fiddler at every turn." And that is a very excellent analysis.

Waves of Music Swells

The program closed at 11 o'clock with a stirring production by the orchestra of Tschakowsky's famous 1812 overture, given with the imitation of the battle scenes of Borodino, vigorously emphasized by the frequent booming of cannon as called for in the original score. For the final climax the audience sang the "Star Spangled Banner." It was a fine wave of music that "swelled the breeze." Tonight the festival will come to a

Waves of Music Swells

The program closed at 11 o'clock with a stirring production by the orchestra of Tschakowsky's famous 1812 overture, given with the imitation of the battle scenes of Borodino, vigorously emphasized by the frequent booming of cannon as called for in the original score. For the final climax the audience sang the "Star Spangled Banner." It was a fine wave of music that "swelled the breeze." Tonight the festival will come to a

Waves of Music Swells

The program closed at 11 o'clock with a stirring production by the orchestra of Tschakowsky's famous 1812 overture, given with the imitation of the battle scenes of Borodino, vigorously emphasized by the frequent booming of cannon as called for in the original score. For the final climax the audience sang the "Star Spangled Banner." It was a fine wave of music that "swelled the breeze." Tonight the festival will come to a

Waves of Music Swells

The program closed at 11 o'clock with a stirring production by the orchestra of Tschakowsky's famous 1812 overture, given with the imitation of the battle scenes of Borodino, vigorously emphasized by the frequent booming of cannon as called for in the original score. For the final climax the audience sang the "Star Spangled Banner." It was a fine wave of music that "swelled the breeze." Tonight the festival will come to a

SOLOISTS AT MUSIC FESTIVAL TONIGHT

Above—Miss Kathleen Lawler, coloratura soprano. Below—Louis Graveure, baritone.

GERMAN DIPLOMATIC AGENTS WILL BE SENT FROM UNITED STATES

Men Left by Bernstorff to Go and American Agents Will Leave Berlin.

Washington, July 7.—(U. P.)—All German diplomatic agents are to be cleaned out of the United States as the government proceeds with its work of stopping the leak of military information to Germany.

BOHEMIAN RESTAURANT

In every city there is a place which, because of its excellent service and unique dishes, has its name passed on to other cities. When speaking of Portland, the quiet tip they give you is the "Bohemian."

127 WEST PARK STREET Between Washington and Alder

DRAFT FAKE FOUND BY MR. REAMES TO HAVE STARTED CAPITAL

United States Attorney Runs Down False Report by the Elimination Process.

WIRE FROM WASHINGTON

Cite Traced Back Across Continent to National Capital—No Arrests Made Here.

By the simple process of elimination United States District Attorney Reames has traced the source of the fake draft numbers, as far as Portland was concerned, and had turned his end of the matter over to federal officials at Washington, D. C., for most rapid investigation of the matter. An investigation of the matter has already been ordered by the department of justice, and there is every probability that the author of the fake will pay a severe penalty. A fine of $10,000 and imprisonment for not more than two years is the punishment provided by United States laws for "circulating a raise rumor in time of war."

Mr. Reames summoned to his office Friday every person whom he learned had heard of the fake. On being brought before Mr. Reames, the person was asked from whom he got his information, and his answer at once caused the apprehension of the person telling him. In this way, by keeping it up until the Portland source of the report was discovered.

Man Sees Dispatch

"At 1 o'clock," said Mr. Reames, "I had before me the man who started the report. He was a customer of a certain Portland firm, and had seen the report as a dispatch over a private wire to which the firm subscribes. He copied down the number and then went out and told a friend. The friend told another friend, and that man told another—and so the rumor spread."

"The firm that started the wire got the message from Salt Lake. Five minutes after the first message was received another message came ordering the first report killed. In the meantime, however, the customer had gone on his way, and the rumor was spreading about the city."

"Following up this clue, we traced the message by telegraph from Salt Lake to Chicago, then to New York, and thence to Washington, where it was put on the wire. Officials in Washington are now seeking the man responsible for the original fake."

Matter Presumed Joke

"The whole thing is just a fool hoax. There appears to be no reason to regard it as malicious; it was evidently an unwise and entirely impractical joke. No prosecution will be made in Portland for the spreading of the report, as we have no reason to believe that the original man who any one else copied it from intended any harm when he told his friends about it."

SENATE VOTES TO REQUISITION "HARD" LIQUORS

(Continued From Page One)

The $1,670,000,000 revenue bill, made a strong plea for sidetracking the whole prohibition issue during the war, although he said he favored the prohibition of the use of foodstuffs in the manufacture of distilled spirits during the war.

Vigorous pleas for reconsideration of the Cummins amendment marked the opening of the debate. Senator Reed of Missouri said it might wreck banks and financial institutions which have loaned money on liquor in bond.

Senator Harding of Ohio read a telegram from Cincinnati distillers, declaring that the amendment would mean financial confusion for the country and the "insolvency of concerns valued at more than $750,000,000."

Opposed by "Dry"

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, classed ordinarily as a "dry," declared the Cummins amendment "went too far."

Senator Jones of Washington, an ardent "dry," declared alcohol had hurt England and France more than any other influence in the conduct of the war.

President Wilson has asked the withdrawal of the amendment to the food bill which would prevent members of the advisory committee of the council of national defense from selling to the government, according to a letter received today by a member of the senate agricultural committee.

Passage of the amendment, the president believes, would bring about disarrangement of the system devised by the government for mobilizing the war industries of the country. Its inclusion in the food bill would necessitate establishment of a new means of securing fair prices for materials now contracted for by the various committees of the defense council's advisory committee.

The president points out no member of the advisory committee has power to control the terms under which con-

To Have Perfect Skin Throughout the Summer

These days the face needs special care and attention. Flying dust and dirt, the beating sun, are severe on any skin. Their despoiling effects are best overcome by the application of pure mercurized wax. This keeps skin and pores in a cleanly condition, the complexion readily brightens up. It is obtainable at any drug store, is sufficient to completely renovate a soiled complexion if used like cold cream, allowed to remain on over night, and washed off in the morning.

As the skin tends to expand in warm weather, causing wrinkles to form, good astringent lotion should be used. Dissolve 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel. Bathe the face with this during the heat of the day or before going out for any social affair. It is a remarkable skin softener and wrinkle eraser. (Adv.)

DANGER! Is NEAR Watch Your Step!

When writing to or calling on advertisers, please mention The Journal. (Adv.)

RUSSIA OPENS NEW DRIVE ON GERMANS NEAR CITY OF PINSK

Artillery Duel of Utmost Violence Precedes Infantry Attacks on East Front.

Petrograd, July 7.—(U. P.)—A mighty battle has broken out between Russian and German troops west of Pinsk, according to a dispatch given out by the semi-official news agency today.

The engagement was preceded by an artillery duel of the utmost violence. Pinsk is reported to be in flames.

The semi-official agency also announced the capture of the fortified forest of Slaneczek and Hill No. 338. The Russians have penetrated the village of Godovan, and savage fighting is taking place from house to house. An elaborate series of German defensive works has fallen into the hands of General Brusiloff's army.

Pinsk lies in a low lying basin known as the Propeet marshes and has long been in dispute of the western front fighting. It is about 85 miles northeast of Kovel, the great German base in Volhynia. A railroad passing from the east to west, runs through Pinsk.

Teutons Hasten Reinforcements Petrograd, July 7.—(U. P.)—German and Austro-Hungarian reinforcements have been rushed to the eastern front line to meet the renewed attacks of the Russians.

In Galicia the Austro-Germans hold on Halicz and Brzezany is threatened by the violent activity of the Russian artillery in that sector indicates a powerful effort to take them in storming attacks.

In Volhynia and farther north, in the Smolonsk district heavy bombardments have been followed by raids and local attacks, delivered to test the strength of the hostile positions.

The German army has a task of tremendous difficulty in front of it for the Germans have had nearly a year to strengthen the defenses of most of their positions in Galicia and Volhynia and more than that length of time to build new works along the other parts of the line.

There is a big increase in the aerial activity on both sides and sky battles are becoming every day occurrences.

British Troops Advance

London, July 7.—(U. P.)—British forces in Belgium pressed closer to Warneton during the night, advancing their lines east of Wytchaete.

News of this fresh success for the west Flanders army was contained in an official statement issued by the war office at noon.

The gain was scored east of the Messines ridge sector, where Field Marshal Haig struck his first blow in the new British offensive in Belgium.

Warneton is a Belgian town of strategic importance about nine miles south of Ypres. A number of roads converge there.

Verdun Front Is Quiet

Paris, July 7.—(U. P.)—A lull has settled down over the Verdun and Aisne river fronts, the German counter offensive having apparently broken down.

East of Rheims and south of Moronvillers in Champagne, intense artillery duels were in progress all night.

RUSSIA OPENS NEW DRIVE ON GERMANS NEAR CITY OF PINSK

Artillery Duel of Utmost Violence Precedes Infantry Attacks on East Front.

WIRE FROM WASHINGTON

Cite Traced Back Across Continent to National Capital—No Arrests Made Here.

By the simple process of elimination United States District Attorney Reames has traced the source of the fake draft numbers, as far as Portland was concerned, and had turned his end of the matter over to federal officials at Washington, D. C., for most rapid investigation of the matter. An investigation of the matter has already been ordered by the department of justice, and there is every probability that the author of the fake will pay a severe penalty. A fine of $10,000 and imprisonment for not more than two years is the punishment provided by United States laws for "circulating a raise rumor in time of war."

Mr. Reames summoned to his office Friday every person whom he learned had heard of the fake. On being brought before Mr. Reames, the person was asked from whom he got his information, and his answer at once caused the apprehension of the person telling him. In this way, by keeping it up until the Portland source of the report was discovered.

Man Sees Dispatch

"At 1 o'clock," said Mr. Reames, "I had before me the man who started the report. He was a customer of a certain Portland firm, and had seen the report as a dispatch over a private wire to which the firm subscribes. He copied down the number and then went out and told a friend. The friend told another friend, and that man told another—and so the rumor spread."

"The firm that started the wire got the message from Salt Lake. Five minutes after the first message was received another message came ordering the first report killed. In the meantime, however, the customer had gone on his way, and the rumor was spreading about the city."

Matter Presumed Joke

"The whole thing is just a fool hoax. There appears to be no reason to regard it as malicious; it was evidently an unwise and entirely impractical joke. No prosecution will be made in Portland for the spreading of the report, as we have no reason to believe that the original man who any one else copied it from intended any harm when he told his friends about it."

SENATE VOTES TO REQUISITION "HARD" LIQUORS

(Continued From Page One)

The $1,670,000,000 revenue bill, made a strong plea for sidetracking the whole prohibition issue during the war, although he said he favored the prohibition of the use of foodstuffs in the manufacture of distilled spirits during the war.

Vigorous pleas for reconsideration of the Cummins amendment marked the opening of the debate. Senator Reed of Missouri said it might wreck banks and financial institutions which have loaned money on liquor in bond.

Senator Harding of Ohio read a telegram from Cincinnati distillers, declaring that the amendment would mean financial confusion for the country and the "insolvency of concerns valued at more than $750,000,000."

Opposed by "Dry"

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, classed ordinarily as a "dry," declared the Cummins amendment "went too far."

Senator Jones of Washington, an ardent "dry," declared alcohol had hurt England and France more than any other influence in the conduct of the war.

President Wilson has asked the withdrawal of the amendment to the food bill which would prevent members of the advisory committee of the council of national defense from selling to the government, according to a letter received today by a member of the senate agricultural committee.

Passage of the amendment, the president believes, would bring about disarrangement of the system devised by the government for mobilizing the war industries of the country. Its inclusion in the food bill would necessitate establishment of a new means of securing fair prices for materials now contracted for by the various committees of the defense council's advisory committee.

The president points out no member of the advisory committee has power to control the terms under which con-

To Have Perfect Skin Throughout the Summer

These days the face needs special care and attention. Flying dust and dirt, the beating sun, are severe on any skin. Their despoiling effects are best overcome by the application of pure mercurized wax. This keeps skin and pores in a cleanly condition, the complexion readily brightens up. It is obtainable at any drug store, is sufficient to completely renovate a soiled complexion if used like cold cream, allowed to remain on over night, and washed off in the morning.

As the skin tends to expand in warm weather, causing wrinkles to form, good astringent lotion should be used. Dissolve 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel. Bathe the face with this during the heat of the day or before going out for any social affair. It is a remarkable skin softener and wrinkle eraser. (Adv.)

DANGER! Is NEAR Watch Your Step!

When writing to or calling on advertisers, please mention The Journal. (Adv.)

RUSSIA OPENS NEW DRIVE ON GERMANS NEAR CITY OF PINSK

Artillery Duel of Utmost Violence Precedes Infantry Attacks on East Front.

Petrograd, July 7.—(U. P.)—A mighty battle has broken out between Russian and German troops west of Pinsk, according to a dispatch given out by the semi-official news agency today.

The engagement was preceded by an artillery duel of the utmost violence. Pinsk is reported to be in flames.

The semi-official agency also announced the capture of the fortified forest of Slaneczek and Hill No. 338. The Russians have penetrated the village of Godovan, and savage fighting is taking place from house to house. An elaborate series of German defensive works has fallen into the hands of General Brusiloff's army.

Pinsk lies in a low lying basin known as the Propeet marshes and has long been in dispute of the western front fighting. It is about 85 miles northeast of Kovel, the great German base in Volhynia. A railroad passing from the east to west, runs through Pinsk.

Teutons Hasten Reinforcements Petrograd, July 7.—(U. P.)—German and Austro-Hungarian reinforcements have been rushed to the eastern front line to meet the renewed attacks of the Russians.

In Galicia the Austro-Germans hold on Halicz and Brzezany is threatened by the violent activity of the Russian artillery in that sector indicates a powerful effort to take them in storming attacks.

In Volhynia and farther north, in the Smolonsk district heavy bombardments have been followed by raids and local attacks, delivered to test the strength of the hostile positions.

The German army has a task of tremendous difficulty in front of it for the Germans have had nearly a year to strengthen the defenses of most of their positions in Galicia and Volhynia and more than that length of time to build new works along the other parts of the line.

There is a big increase in the aerial activity on both sides and sky battles are becoming every day occurrences.

British Troops Advance

London, July 7.—(U. P.)—British forces in Belgium pressed closer to Warneton during the night, advancing their lines east of Wytchaete.

News of this fresh success for the west Flanders army was contained in an official statement issued by the war office at noon.

The gain was scored east of the Messines ridge sector, where Field Marshal Haig struck his first blow in the new British offensive in Belgium.

Warneton is a Belgian town of strategic importance about nine miles south of Ypres. A number of roads converge there.

Verdun Front Is Quiet

Paris, July 7.—(U. P.)—A lull has settled down over the Verdun and Aisne river fronts, the German counter offensive having apparently broken down.

East of Rheims and south of Moronvillers in Champagne, intense artillery duels were in progress all night.

ACCIDENT TO RUDDER MAY HAVE RESULTED IN SAVING TRANSPORT

U. S. Vessel Veered Just as U-Boat Let Fly Two Torpedoes Which Missed.

SUBMARINE HURRIED OFF

Phosphorescent Streaks Fought Path of Torpedoes Fanning Steamer—Attack Made on Inky Black Night.

By W. S. Forrest

Paris, July 7.—(U. P.)—It was a providential and timely accident to the rudder of one of the transports bearing the first contingent of American troops to France that may have saved that vessel from a torpedo fired by a German submarine.

The attack occurred the night before the American transports and their convoys had met at a certain spot on the sea for rendezvous with some of the American war vessels already in European waters.

The night was inky black and the water was shimmering with phosphorescence, according to an eye-witness who told the story today. At 10:30 p. m. the vessels suddenly veered from their customary cruising formation, the transports continuing on one course while the naval vessels switched to another.

Phosphorescent Streaks Discovered Suddenly those on the transports saw the white phosphorescent streaks of the two torpedoes narrowly missing two of the transports. Two others followed at once, all passing harmlessly by and continuing to circle in the vortex of phosphorescent water formed by the wake of the vessels. The submarine, which was submerged, crossed the bow of the American vessel.

The Germans' erratic aim was attributed purely to a providential accident to the rudder of one of the transports, which veered sharply. The veering motion of this led the submerged U-boat to believe she had been discovered and that the American vessel was trying to ram her.

Diver Releases Two Torpedoes Then the German hastily let his torpedoes fly and himself fled across the bows of the vessels.

The whole attack occurred with a suddenness that was breathless. It was over in a minute. Thousands aboard the transports knew nothing of the incident. Discipline of those who did see the attack was of the most perfect order. The transport with the balky rudder quickly overcame her difficulty and rejoined the line of ships. The cruise was continued without incident.

The following day the American convoy from Europe joined the transports.

A SUMMER TONIC DRINK Rosford's Acid Phosphate Refreshing and agreeable to taste. Refreshes and invigorates. Use it in place of lemon-Adv.

Scursion Boat "Swan" dance tonight.

DANGER! Is Surely Coming

NEW Telephone Directory WILL GO TO PRESS July 15, 1917 THE PACIFIC TELEPHONE & TELEGRAPH COMPANY Applications Should Be Made by July 10th if Possible