

EXEMPTION BOARDS IN NEW YORK CITY HOLD BACK DRAFT OF ARMY

Condition Arises Because the Members of Metropolitan Boards Were Last Named. DRAFT OUTLINE IS GIVEN

Members Will Be Placed in Black Caps in Glass Jar; Drawing for Each State Separate.

Washington, July 12.—(I. N. S.)—Ten million American youths today awaited their fate in the draft of the new national army while New York city exemption boards organized.

While there are but 21 states organized and ready for the draft, reports indicate that every other state will be prepared long before the New York city boards have completed their organization. This condition arises from the fact that New York city exemption boards were the last to be named.

Kansas City was the first large city to report readiness for the draft, but other cities are now reported rapidly proceeding and it seems most likely that the end of the week will find every state ready with the exception of New York.

Details to Be Kept Quiet
Details of the operation will be made by a proclamation by the president on the morning of the drawing. This plan is followed in order that no schemes of evasion may be contrived and in order that there may be no possibility of even the slightest bit of manipulation.

Provost Marshal General Crowder, who will have actual charge of the selection and drawing, as stated in the registration, is today working on the completion of the details of the drawing. Present plans before Secretary of War Baker call for the actual drawing of about 200 numbers. These numbers will be key numbers and the men holding the drawn numbers in each district will be called for examination and given opportunity to present claims for exemption.

Alabama Drawing First
When the fortunes of thousands of American youth are cast there will be no ceremony, but the occasion will be a solemn one. Secretary of War Baker may possibly draw the numbers himself.

The ceremony of the drawing will begin with prayer. Either the chaplain of the senate or the chief army chaplain will officiate. Then, blindfolded, Secretary Baker or his representative will draw the first number. The numbers will be in large receptacle, the numerals themselves will be written in red ink on white paper and carefully rolled up and placed within the black gelatine capsules.

The first drawing will be made for Alabama and the drafting will continue through the alphabetical number of the states, concluding with Wyoming.

Numbers for All to Be Used
In the receptacle will be placed globules containing numbers to correspond to the number of registered men in the list containing the greatest number. That is, if there are 50 districts in Alabama and the sixteenth district has the greatest number of registrants, say 500, there will be 500 numbers in the bowl.

Alabama, say, is called upon to furnish 50,000 men. On the first drawing, carry out the example, say, number 2 is drawn. That would mean that the man whose card bears the number 2 in all the 50 districts would be drawn. Suppose number 500 was drawn. It might be that only one district would have 500 registrants. So only one man could be selected on that draw, while 50 were on the other.

Draft to Take Day, Estimate
As the globe is drawn by the blindfolded man, he hands it to another official beside him, who opens it, draws out the printed slip bearing the number and holding it up so that all around can see, reads it aloud. A third official, in charge of the registration list, marks off immediately the men drawn.

This process will continue all the way through the states. The bowl will be refilled for each state. It is estimated that an average of at least 50 men will be drawn on a slip and that the entire draft will be completed within a day.

Notification will immediately be sent to the local boards of the men drafted and they will make the names public from their own lists. The names also will be made public here from the duplicate lists in possession of the war department.

Entire Draft to Be Made Now
Each state's quota will be based, it was indicated today, on the registration of approximately 9,500,000 men. The first cut to the colors will be for 487,000, but the entire draft will be completed at one time and the 487,000 will be selected from those who were first to be drawn. Others will be held in reserve for later call if needed.

On the basis of 2,500,000 men it is believed approximately 4,000,000 will be required by the quotas. This would enable the government to secure a

Fire Warnings Are Issued by Federal Weather Bureau

Fire weather warnings have been issued, according to the weather bureau, covering all the north Pacific states. All campers are advised to be cautious in building fires and to see that they are put entirely out before leaving camp; also to observe the rules of woodcraft generally.

Conditions are getting very dry and the fire hazard is increasing daily with the warm weather, according to reports from forest observers.

Wakena Fails to Float With Tide

D. C. O'Reilly of Portland, representing Clatskanie Transportation Company, in Tacoma to Help Save Boat. Tacoma, Wash., July 12.—(I. N. S.)—For the purpose of investigating the condition of the stranded freighter Wakena, D. C. O'Reilly of Portland, representing the Clatskanie Transportation company, was in Tacoma this morning. After a conference with the Border Line officials, it was expected some action would be taken toward floating the vessel. The Wakena failed to float Wednesday night on high water.

It is believed that the vessel had a number of holes in the hull aft, as the engine room flooded. Attempts will be made to patch them on low tide this afternoon. The swells from the passing Seattle steamers are doing some damage to the boat. The Wakena is valued, according to Mr. O'Reilly, at about $30,000.

It is the sound freighter Wakena and not the Charles R. McCordick company Wakena, as stated in the Journal Wednesday, that is ashore in Tacoma harbor.

Bids Wanted for Bean-Barret Bonds

State Board of Control Directs That Advertisement for First Issue Be Placed; Money to Match Government Sale. Salem, Or., July 12.—Bids for the first $400,000 worth of bonds to be issued under the provisions of the Bean-Barret road bill will be opened by the state board of control August 8. The board, headed by Secretary Goodin to advertise for bids.

This action was based on a formal request from the highway commission yesterday. The commission requested the board to advertise for bids to match the federal appropriation for road and port roads. State Treasurer Kay insisted on requesting the highway commission for a detailed statement as to the amount of money which will be available from the government this year, this statement to be made a part of the board's records before any bonds are issued.

The bonds will bear 4 per cent interest and will be in denominations of $500 and $1000. One-half will run for 10 years and the balance 20 years.

Question of Prison Head Up Again

Salem, Or., July 12.—The question again bobbed up today at a meeting of the state board of control as to the state board's authority over the entire penitentiary system. The board is now in the midst of a fight with the penitentiary board and much friction. Secretary of State Olcott requested the board to ask the attorney general for an interpretation of the laws relating to the penitentiary. This will be done.

Warden Murphy of the penitentiary had made a contract with Frank Smith under which a convict will be used on the Smith place to cut several hundred cords of wood for the prison. The governor asked the board to approve the contract.

Both Secretary of State Olcott and State Treasurer Kay pointed out that under a law passed by the 1917 legislature the state board has nothing to do with the management or control of the prison and that it is absurd to expect the board to pass on such contracts or be responsible for the expenditure of funds appropriated for the penitentiary when the board has not the slightest voice in the management of the institution.

The governor said his idea was full control over the management of the men and the institution, but that the board should approve all expenditures in connection with the property of the prison.

Entire Draft to Be Made Now

Each state's quota will be based, it was indicated today, on the registration of approximately 9,500,000 men. The first cut to the colors will be for 487,000, but the entire draft will be completed at one time and the 487,000 will be selected from those who were first to be drawn. Appeal Telephoned Across Continent

San Francisco, July 12.—(U. P.)—An appeal to English and Scotch residents of California to recruit for the British army was telephoned across the continent from New York today by Lord Northcliffe. He sent his message through the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company.

"When I last visited California, I found a great number of English and Scotch. I suggest that they get together and organize for the purpose of recruiting the local board, strictly observing the 'foot' regulations issued at Washington."

OREGON MAY ESCAPE SELECTIVE DRAFT, ON ACCOUNT OF SHOWING

Enlistments Are Steadily Increasing and All National Guard Units Are Filled. STATE'S CREDIT IS GOOD

Courthouse Will Be Made Headquarters for Almost All of the Boards If Draft Is Resorted to.

There is a chance that Oregon may not have to furnish any men in the first selective draft, though there is nothing certain about it. This development appears on the face of Oregon's credit, as announced Wednesday by Adjutant General White, and from the fact that enlistments are steadily increasing and that all units of the national guard are practically at war strength now.

The figures announced Wednesday were that Oregon is given credit for 1974 men who have enlisted in the regular army. Added to this credit of 4683 men enlisted in the national guard, this makes a total credit of 6657. Based on 1 per cent as Oregon's share in the draft of 675,000 men, expected to be drawn in the first selection, there remains only 93 men to be supplied by this state.

At the rate Oregon's patriotic young men are joining the colors, it appears that the chances are more than even that no draft will be required in this state.

Concerning when the draft numbers will be announced, General White said that indications are that it will not be until next week. A report from Washington is that only 21 states have reported their readiness. Oregon has been ready since July 8. The courthouses will be headquarters for nearly all boards during the draft, though the law requires that each board should have headquarters in its jurisdiction. Permission to have the headquarters centrally located for the convenience of the men affected was received this morning by General Crowder in a telegram.

Allocation of quotas for each county in the state, made necessary by the new development in the allotment, is still in progress.

Hall Filled to Hear Ella Flagg Young

Chicago Educator Discusses the Necessity of Maintaining School Standards in Time of War.

The Lincoln high school auditorium was filled this morning to hear Ella Flagg Young speak on "Teacher's Problem of Maintaining School Standards at the Present Time." The well known educator pointing out the difficulty that teachers met at this time of war and stress when the natural tendency is toward a lowering of educational standards, but when as never before it was needed to prepare the mind and heart of "Young America" for the untried problems that would come before him.

A splendid series of motion pictures illustrating kindergarten activities was shown, among them being the roof-top dental office of the Pacific Dental Association, and the kindergarten of New York, and games at Pittsburg.

A cafeteria lunch is being served daily in the basement of the high school.

Candidates Taking Dental Examination

Twelve Aspirants for Lieutenantcy in U. S. Dental Reserve Corps Have Completed Tests.

The twelve candidates for lieutenantcy in the U. S. dental reserve corps are taking their examination at the North Pacific Dental college. The tests began Wednesday and finished today. The requirements for applicants demand a graduation from a standard dental college and a license to practice in the state of residence.

The surgeon general at Washington appointed Dr. Herbert C. Miller to conduct the examinations. He appointed J. Francis Drake and Louis J. Fitzpatrick to serve on the examination board.

The result of success in the exams will be a commission as first lieutenant in the dental corps. The successful candidates will have to undergo a physical examination at Vancouver after this examination.

BOARD MAY RESCIND ACTION ON GIVING AID TO ROADS IN COUNTIES

Douglas and Lane Appropriations Meet Criticism From All Parts of the State.

At the next meeting of the state highway commission it is probable that a former action of the commission in appropriating $2000 to Douglas county for a paved road from Roseburg to the Soldiers' home and $5000 to Lane county to aid in the graveling of a section of the Pacific highway near the Douglas county line will be reconsidered.

Criticism of the action of the commission is growing stronger, coming from different parts of the state, in addition it has developed that the action was probably illegal, especially in the case of the Soldiers' home road. The road is a local one and does not form a link in the state system laid out by the legislature.

Section 10 of the law creating the state highway commission reads as follows: "No part of the state highway fund shall be expended upon other than state highways."

In the case of the Lane county appropriation it is admitted that there might not be a violation of the letter of the law, but it is asserted that there is a transgression of the spirit of the six million dollar bond act. During the campaign for the bonds it was generally understood that those counties not specified should bear the expense of preparing the road bed to receive the hard surface. The money made Chairman Benson of the commission said they were improper, but he was overruled by the vote of Commissioners Adams who made the motion, and Thompson.

Hospital Unit Is Called Into Service

Lieutenant John Guy Strohm's crack field hospital unit is the first northwestern hospital corps to be called out. The organization will mobilize at the Union depot training camp, but which camp is not known here.

Lieutenant Guy is familiar with the company now. Lieutenant Sargentich is well fitted for the post, inasmuch as he has recently returned from the command of a field hospital in Seattle. Lieutenant R. Weatherbee is also connected with the company. The company was "adopted" by the Ad club at its luncheon Wednesday, and the club will look after the men.

Dr. Dillehunt Gets Medical Corps Place

Dr. Richard B. Dillehunt has received his commission as first lieutenant in the medical officers' reserve corps. He expects to be called to active service within the next two or three weeks.

under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Houston, state secretary. An illustrated presentation of the work of the organization in its aid in national preparedness and food conservation movements was given.

A drill showing the different ways in which the children of the nation may help was given by six little girls with books.

A recitation, "Our Flag," was given by Mary Beth Woodard of Portland, while the diversified farming methods of the west were demonstrated by Mrs. S. E. Russell, who wore a hat trimmed in garden products and carried samples of the products of the "small lot."

Aid Work Demonstrated
On the platform sat a number of W. C. T. U. workers and all were engaged during the program in preparing some article for the soldier boys at the front of the family at home. The cooperative work of the Red Cross and the W. C. T. U. was explained by Mrs. Alice Shearer, Red Cross nurse. A review of the work being done by the soldiers and sailors was given by Mrs. Elizabeth Dalgleish, Mrs. Louise Knute and Mrs. Duncan Munn. The Young Brigade, of the morning forum hour at 11 o'clock were Mrs. Jennie M. Kemp and Mrs. Lee Davenport, the theme being "Our Do-Everything Policy."

W. C. T. U. headquarters, which occupy a permanent building just a few steps away from the auditorium were crowded all day with visitors, and at noon a picnic dinner for visitors was held nearby.

Sunday School Meet Held
This afternoon a Sunday school conference was held in the music hall, at which Dr. Hicks of New York, national secretary of the religious educational movement of the Federation of Churches, was the principal speaker. Others present and taking part besides the local ministers were Dr. Matthews of Seattle, Presbyterian general Sunday school secretary for Washington, and Dr. J. D. Springston of Portland, Baptist general Sunday school secretary for Oregon and Washington. The afternoon program in the auditorium was opened with a prelude by the Fillion Concert company, and the large audience showed its appreciation of the vocal and instrumental, violin and piano numbers by hearty and frequent applause.

At 3 o'clock William A. Bone of Peoria, Ill., gave a continuation humorous and serious lecture on "The House of Man," the human body being so designated, and the generous applause accorded the speaker showed that his thoughts struck home.

Rev. Buckner Talks
The sermon lecture of Rev. W. C. Buckner on "High Cost of Lighting" had to do with truth as the light, in which the speaker said that we should only teach that which one holds as a conviction, and that a conviction is not a whim, not an opinion and not a prejudice, but that it is a truth which has been put to three-fold test and which holds you—not you it. The three fold test comprises intellect, which is open to every test and evidence; conscience and the test of incarnating that by an act of the will which says: "I believe this is right and I give my hand, my heart and my life to it—then it becomes a conviction."

Thursday will be G. A. R. day and aside from a big turnout of veterans and their families from the valley, Portland is expected to be well represented. The splendid new cottage of Meade Post and Meade Corps of Oregon City will be dedicated upon this occasion, and the local members will be hosts to all visitors.

Oregon City day is Friday and efforts are being made to record it as an attendance breaker. The Fallarian marching club will turn out in force and do a few drills about the grounds. Joseph L. Zito and his Royal Venetian band, assisted by Mary Adea Hays, soloist, will give a program both afternoon and evening.

Governor George A. Carlson of Colorado was the lecturer last night, his subject being "The Price of Progress." The speaker declared that unbounded loyalty and devotion had been the
