Guy Standifer Saves 3 Boys From Death

Portland Man Performs Heroic Deed at Jericho Beach, Near Vancouver, B. C.

Vancouver, B. C., July 13.—The keen vision and courage of Guy Standifer of Portland are given credit today for the thrilling rescue of three boys from drowning at Jericho beach, just outside the Jericho golf links, where Mr. Standifer and three other Portland men were enjoying a game.

The party, which consisted of Standifer, Russell Smith, James A. Dougherty and J. M. O'Brien, had just started a foursome and teed off when faint cries were heard from the beach, an eighth of a mile away, and three heads bobbing up and down and as many pairs of arms wildly waving in the distance, gave Standifer his cue. Rushing for the beach, Standifer plunged to the rescue without waiting to remove any clothing. Two boys had gone down clutching each other, and the other was about to sink for the third time, when Standifer reached the spot. He dove and brought up the pair, carrying them to shoaler water and turning them over to others; then returned to search for the third boy. His efforts were rewarded within a short time, and bringing the unconscious boy to the shore, administered first aid and was rewarded by seeing the boy open his eyes.

All the boys were put to bed at the Jericho Golf clubhouse, and within a few hours were as good as ever. The Portland party made the trip here by automobile.

Mr. Standifer, who is connected with the Standifer-Clarkson company and prominently identified with wooden shipbuilding here, left Portland with Mr. Dougherty Wednesday for Vancouver.

Explosion Suspect Is Charged With Fraud

Men Arrested in Connection With Vallejo Disaster Secured Meal and Lodging, Saying He Would Enlist.

San Francisco, July 13.—(U. P.)—While government agents are investigating every possible clue to the Mare Island powder explosion of Monday, Joseph Kozlowski, arrested as a suspect at Esparto, Cal., is being held today on a warrant charging him with defrauding the government out of a meal and lodging.

On July 5 Kozlowski applied for enlistment at Mare Island. It being late in the afternoon he was given an order by the recruiting officer for a meal and bed and was told to return the next day. The next thing heard of Kozlowski was when he appeared at Esparto posing as a secret service agent, and was arrested.

Authorities at Woodland received a telegram today from Kozlowski's wife in Chicago in which she claims he deserted her and states that he committed a robbery before leaving for the west.

LIBERAL PARTY IN GERMANY IS URGING TERMS

Dispatches Reaching London Predict That Demand for Announcement of War Aims Heard Saturday.

RESIGNATION OF CABINET MAY BE MADE PUBLIC

Reichstag Committee Said to Be Refusing to Vote for War Credit.

London, July 13.—(U. P.)—German dispatches reaching here today predicted that the German government would accede to the reichstag majority members' debate for electoral reforms and form full statements of Germany's war aims before the vote of credit is asked Saturday.

Amsterdam, July 13.—(I. N. S.)—Saturday promises to be the vital day in the present session of the German reichstag.

In addition to current reports that the resignation of the entire German cabinet might be announced, the day's program includes general debate upon the political situation, finance, the foreign policy and possibly peace.

The Liberals threaten to introduce a resolution setting forth the peace terms of the entire liberal factions of the empire.

So far, said a dispatch from Berlin, dated Thursday evening, the main committee of the reichstag has refused to vote an additional war credit of 15,000,000 marks, but in spite of this refusal it is understood that the credit will be discussed in the open sitting of the reichstag.

Never has the position of Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, the German chancellor, been so precarious, if he has not already resigned, as reported by the Vossische Zeitung. But the reported resignation is only one of the conflicting rumors which Germany is seething. Out of this swirl have come surprises as well as predictions. Among the latest of these is the indicated attitude of the crown prince, who was called to Berlin from the western front to participate in a crown council.

This council was followed by a rescript from the kaiser recommending universal suffrage for Prussia. After (Continued on Page Two, Column Three)

Have You Any Nutty Looking Rose Bushes?

Nurserymen Plan Eradication of New Disease That Threatens Industry in Northwest.

Tacoma, Wash., July 13.—The rose bush industry and even the individual growing of roses in Portland and the northwest, may be threatened unless a newly discovered rose-tree disease is eradicated, according to J. A. Balmer of Cle Elum, who addressed the annual convention of Pacific coast nurserymen being held here.

The disease came from California, according to Balmer, and develops, after a bud or flower has been cut, a callous growth that looks like a wart instead of a new sprout, where the cut is made.

"This will undoubtedly put Oregon and Washington nurserymen out of business, if it spreads to outdoor plants," said R. A. Stadthaler of Seattle, representing the United States department of agriculture, of which he is the field pathologist expert. "It is a matter of importance that is not sectional, but national. I will immediately place specimens and all possible information in the hands of government experts."

The nurserymen finally decided to leave the matter in the hands of the committee on uniform horticultural laws, on which some additional members were placed for this year, including George C. Reeding, Fresno, Cal.; J. A. Balmer, Cle Elum, and R. A. Stadthaler of Seattle.

"Secretary of war has instructed General Parker to send officers to Arizona at once to report to him conditions there, with a view to cooperating in the maintenance of order. Meantime, may I not respectfully urge the great danger of citizens taking the law into their own hands, as your report indicates their having done in looking upon such actions with grave apprehension. # KING'S ROYAL RIFLES WIPED OUT IN FURY OF FIGHT NEAR SEA

Shells Few Escape by Swimming River, Relations Between U. S. and South American Country Cause of Uneasiness.

With the British Armies in the field, July 13.—(U. P.)—History's faceless pages will record the heroic deaths of most of the King's Royal Rifles and Northamptonshire in fighting between Lombrayde and the sea. They died almost to the last man in fighting, the fury of which has not been surpassed by any of the heroic conflicts of this greatest of wars.

British army headquarters today permits the heroic story of this fight to be told to American readers, and the enemy airplanes flying low, speared survivors of this great German attack in sand dunes came out of the battle unscathed. All that did emerge were those who swam the sea.

The enemy bombardment of the sand dunes began at 6 o'clock in the morning.

Deluged by Fire of Shells
The fire of shells raged for a time near the front lines of the British trenches and then shifted back to the support lines, deluging them.

Desperate Resistance Offered
Between 7 and 7:15 p. m. the enemy planted a barrage fire around the front line once again, while simultaneously the German marines, ever the Kaiser's hardest fighters, charged both flanks. The foremost attacking wave was concave, the middle converging on the few remaining British troops.

Hero Swims River for Hope
One soldier, wounded, wounded and battered by the shelling and the desperate struggle of man to man, swam across the waterway—and then went back with a rope so that those of the few remaining who could not swim might pull themselves across to safety.

SUFFRAGE SOLE BAR TO ENTIRE N. E. A. HARMONY

Ella Flagg Young Overridden in Convention When She Recalls President Wilson's Atlanta Speech.

NO TIME TO HECKLE PRESIDENT, IS VIEW

All Officers Chosen in Accord With Recommendations of Committee.

Program Features Tonight
The William E. Miller will deliver a lecture on "Oregon's Wild Life," illustrated with his famous motion pictures at the Auditorium. Addresses will be delivered by northwestern educators as follows:

"Education and the World," by W. J. Kerr, president of O. A. W. The University and the National Education Association; Campbell, president of University of Oregon; "National Education and World Policy," E. O. Sisson, newly elected president of University of Montana.

Woman suffrage caused the only dissension at the annual business meeting of the National Education Association this morning in the Auditorium. The resolutions of the various committees were adopted with little discussion, and all officers were elected according to the recommendations of the nominating committee, including Mrs. Mary C. C. Bradford of Colorado, as president.

The dissension over the question of a motion regarding woman suffrage, arose after the report of the resolutions committee had been unanimously adopted. Ella Flagg Young of Chicago offered a resolution as follows:

Quotes President's Words
"I was at a meeting of women in Atlanta last spring at which President Wilson was present. He said that he said that he was in favor of woman suffrage, and was fighting for it. I move that it be resolved that the National Education Association endorse the will of the Kaiser and prefer death to dishonor and treason."

Immediate reorganization of the Home Telephone company, extensions of the company, were announced by former Governor Oswald West, receiver of the company, this morning, following his return from conference with the principal bondholders in Los Angeles.

A majority of the bondholders have agreed to the reorganization and have placed a policy of service extensions and a campaign for new business unreservedly in West's hands.

The Home Telephone company has $3,000,000 of outstanding bonds and $2,500,000 of outstanding stock. Samuel Hill is the principal stockholder and a large owner of the bonds. Under the reorganization, no individual will be more than $100,000 in debt.

The plan of the bondholders is to foreclose the mortgage securing the bonds. This will wipe out the present equity of the company. The bondholders will then exchange their bonds for stock in the reorganization and will thereby become the owners of the company. The reorganization company will make a beginning, said Governor West, without debts or interest burden. The Home Telephone company has been paying about $10,000 annually to meet interest charges. The intention after reorganization is to use the reorganization for extensions of service and for the reorganization company.

Belgians Will Go to Los Angeles Today

Receiver Asked for Big Stores Company

Chicago, July 13.—(U. P.)—Seven thousand people heard Baron Moncheur, head of the Belgian war mission, and Lieutenant General Leclercq reiterate here today how the "brave patriots of Belgium defy the will of the Kaiser and prefer death to dishonor and treason." General Leclercq declared Belgium is proud of being the "little grain of sand" thrown into the Kaiser's machinery which stopped it if the few precious days France needed to arm.
