

VESSELS ARE TIED UP WHEN LABOR TROUBLE SHUT MILLS IN NORTH

Half Dozen Schooners Are Delayed in S. F. Because of Absence of Cargoes.

San Francisco, July 28.—Labor troubles in the lumber camps and mills up north have laid up more than half a dozen steam schooners in this port and owners predict that before another month has passed at least 60 will be out of commission.

The labor situation so far has not bothered the lumber industry in this section, say local people in touch with the situation. Reports of some disturbances in the camps along the lower Columbia have been circulating for several days, but apparently the reported disturbances have had but slight effect on operations.

WAR MONARCH WILL SAIL

Vessel Will Depart From Port With Full Cargo.

The War Monarch is ready to sail with a full cargo. She will have a draft of about 30 feet. Immediately after the War Monarch clears, work of reloading the schooner Margaret will begin. The War Monarch was shifted to municipal dock No. 2 from municipal dock No. 1 Saturday morning and will later be shifted back to Victoria dock to finish loading.

Work of loading the War Monarch at Tacoma will be completed Tuesday. She is taking on a cargo of flour.

KILBURN TO GET NEW BURNER

Breakwater Will Undergo Repair at San Francisco Soon.

The F. A. Kilburn is at the Union Iron works at San Francisco undergoing renovation. Some $25,000 will be spent on the renovation work which will include a new oil burning system. After the Kilburn comes off the ways the Breakwater will undergo similar overhauling. Captain Carey, who has been in the South Seas for 30 years, is to have command of the Kilburn.

ALL ALONG THE WATERFRONT

Ed Wright, manager of the McEachern shipyard at Astoria, was in the city Saturday morning on one of his regular trips.

The river fell at all points again Friday, said A. H. Thiesens, meteorologist of the weather bureau. The stage at Portland Saturday morning was 12.5 feet, representing a drop of 2 since Friday.

Loaded with lumber, the E. H. Meyer and Johan Poulsen got away from Westport for California points Friday.

The Dreadnought is now moored at the Oceanic dock, under instructions from Collector of Customs Burke. She was shifted Friday from the old anchorage to abreast of St. Johns, but the collector decided that the expense of getting supplies to her would be too great.

H. A. Smith has replaced H. J. Devitt as master of the steamer Daisy Freeman.

E. R. Reed has replaced Andrew Woldund as master of the steamer Lansing.

The following charters have been reported: Schooner Andy Mahony, lumber from North Pacific to Sydney, $37.50, by Comyn, Mackall & Co. (September); schooner Encore, lumber from North Pacific to Sydney, $37.50, by Comyn, Mackall & Co. (December-January); schooner Goldenshoe, lumber from North Pacific to Sydney, $37.50, by Comyn, Mackall & Co. (February-March).

The steamer Daisy, which left San Francisco Thursday for the Columbia river, returned to port early this morning on account of boiler trouble.

Burned Vessel Is Mystery

San Francisco, July 28.—There is a divergence of opinion in shipping circles here as to whether the burned vessel sighted by the Ottilie prior to 150 west close to the line on July 19 is the R. C. Slade or the Beluga. The Beluga was carrying case oil out of this port and the Slade was coming to this port with copra.

Wahkiakum Renews Work

The government dredge Wahkiakum started work on Sloughers' bar Friday after being laid up for repairs for several weeks. The dredge Multnomah goes out early next week to work on Henric's bar.

Fuel Oil Wanted

Call for bids on approximately 100,000 barrels of fuel oil to run the government dredges during the coming year is about to be sent out by the
