On account of the shortage of men and boys, a dozen girls, most of them formerly employed in the shoe factories of Lynn, Mass., have perfected themselves in the business of shoe shining and last week they opened a business with a woman superintendent in charge. The girls wear a neat uniform, an overall one-piece garment and caps. The only male employes are two men who brush off the customers after the girls have rubbed and polished their shoes.

Things to Make From Leaves RE you one of the very "beforehanded" boys and girls who have A handed boys and girls who have saved some of the pretty leaves you have walked through, on the street and sidewalk this fall?

Haven't you noticed the beautiful red and yellow and brown leaves? And haven't you carried some of the choicest home and pressed them in book? I'm sure you must have, and now you are wondering what in the world you are going to do with those very same leaves! They can't stay forever in the books, for books get out of shape if things are kept too long between their pages. The leaves are still too pretty to throw out and-well what shall you do with them?

"I'll tell you what you are going to do! You are going to have a Lear Party! Doesn't that sound joily? You are going to invite all your friends to come and bring the leaves they too have saved and then you will have your party.

But what will you do at a "Leaf Party" do you ask? That is just the very nicest part of the whole plan! You and your little friends will make Thristmas presents of your leaves! Won't that be fun!

You didn't know you could make things out of pressed leaves, you say! Yes, indeed you can-nice things, When the boys and girls have come to your party, spread the eaves out on a big table—the dining room table is best-and sort them over. Pick out all the perfect ones and lay them carefully to one side, the imperfect ones are not worth working with and might as well be thrown out at once. Now have ready a warm iron and appoint one of the most careful of your guests as presser. The iron must be run lightly over a cake of beeswax and then quickly over the eaf to be pressed. While one guest is ironing, the others must sort and hand leaves to her so she can work As fast as the leaves are pressed. As fast as the leaves are pressed, other guests must spread them out on clean papers to dry and cool. You see, you can keep guite a table full of hivs and girls at work that way.

When all have been pressed and drich they must be sorted as gifts.

Christmas, your mother will give you all some good apples and doughnutt or sandwiches. I'm sure you'll all depide to have a Leaf Party again next year!

Tomorrow—Who Was the Most

While one guest is ironing, the others must sort and hand leaves

Take a dozen leaves that are about the same color, that is, mostly red or mostly yellow, and slip them together in a big envelope marked "PLACE CARDS." These can be given to some mother or auntie who likes to give pretty dinner parties. Another dozen can be put in a box and marked "TABLE TRIMMINGS" these should be all colors and sizes and can be used to trim the center of a dinner table,

A set of big leaves can be used as trimining around the freize in a bedroom. The few that are so very perfect that you want to use each one some way that will show, can be used as trimming for blotters or calendars. Isn't it fun to plan things to make? And then, maybe, when you are al through your work and each boy and girl has some nice gift ready for Christmas, your mother will give you
