AGAINST SELECTION OF BALLSTON ROUTE

Citizens of McMinnville and Amity Are to Protest Before Highway Commission

VARIOUS CLAIMS MADE

Controversy Arises From the Selection of Boute for West Side Branch of the Pacific Highway.

The location of the west side branch of the Pacific highway between Ma-Minnville and Dallas by way of Bailston, instead of by way of Amity, does not meet the approval of the Yambill county court and residents of Amity and McMinnville. The Polk county court says it is indifferent so long as the road comes through Dallas.

At the meeting of the state highway commission at Salem tomorrow it is expected that a delegation from McMinaville and Amity will be present to ask for a reconsideration of the action of the commission in choosing the Ballston route. It is also probable that a delegation from Ballston will be there to maintain the desirability of the route chosen. Protestants' Views Given

"It appears to me that it was the plain intention of the framers of the highway bill that the Pacific highway over the road which every one travels going south from Portland to Eugene on the west side. If the bill contemplated turning the Pacific highway West at McMinnville why did it also provide for 'the Sheridan-Tillamook road leading from the Pacific highway near or at McMinnville? "The designation of the Ballston route by a majority of the state highway commission is contrary to every pledge and promise that the county good roads association made the peo-ple of this county during the recent campaign for the road bonds. Every voter of Yamhill county understood won't go through the mail at all, defend the household from burglars, when he voted for the bill that the since the government Anthony Comhighway should go through Amity. Unfairness Is Alleged want to see Dallas have the road and think the county seat should be on the highway, but I do not wish to see the highway located in a sparsely populated section instead of through the most populous portion and along a course which nature has provided. The Ballston view is thus set forth by George Conner:

"By designating the Ballston route, populous district with a more circuitous route is given the road.

Ballston Side Is Presented

"We can show where the Ballston route is not only better but would cost less and as a matter of fact would serve a larger number of people to a better advantage. "If the road could come from Dayton to Amity and from Albany to Monmouth the route would be shortened by seven miles. But the act of the legislature specifies that the highway shall go through McMinnwille and Dallas. Therefore any route leaving those two county seats to one side cannot be considered. It may be that the route by way of Amity and Perrydale is three miles shorter than the Ballston route, but the Perrydale route is more hilly and would require a larger amount of money to improve than the Ballston parallel to the railroad, while the morning. The exhibition is to be Ballston route extends farther into handled by the women of the army and the interior of the valley and away naval auxiliary and 50 per cent of the
