

WOMAN'S War Work

BY VELLA WINNER

The American Red Cross authorizes the following statement in the official bulletin:

"The American Red Cross is supporting and will continue to support General Pershing and his troops in France to the limit of its power."

"No need for our army which we can possibly foresee will be left uncovered," cables Major Grayson M. P. Murphy, head of the Red Cross mission in France. In order to facilitate his work, Major Murphy, a West Point graduate, who saw service in the Spanish American war, has been appointed to General Pershing's staff and the whole Red Cross campaign is being conducted with the view to the fullest cooperation with the American commander.

The Red Cross has perfected its plans to care for each contingent of troops as it lands. On the route from the reception camp to the training camps there have been established six infirmaries and rest stations, each in charge of a trained nurse and assistant, to care for soldiers who are ill on the way.

Tobacco Already Sent

When the men reach camp the Red Cross will continue its friendly agency to supplement what the army itself does to make the men comfortable and to preserve their morale. "Parcels to the number of 1,500,000, 5,000 packages of smoking tobacco, and 10,000 cuts of chewing tobacco have already been sent to France for their use."

At the railroad stations where the soldiers will be waiting for train connections as soon as the routine of alternate trench duty, reserve duty, and leave begins the Red Cross has arranged to provide cigarettes where they can be had, eat, sleep or amuse themselves in comfort.

Gifts for First Contingent

Before the first contingent sailed the men were given comfort kits, each containing heavy socks, handkerchiefs, wash cloth and soap, pencil and writing paper, a pipe and the "makings," playing cards, a mouth organ or game, buttons, pins and other small articles. Further gifts will be sent over in time for the Christmas celebration at the front.

If Americans are captured, there is a Red Cross bureau already organized at Borne which will maintain communication between the prisoners in Germany and their homes in the United States and will forward the supplies and foodstuffs which the men in the German prison camps will need.

Hospital Supplies Made

Red Cross women have made hundreds of dozens of various bandages, compresses and sponges and all that will be needed in the big box they hope to forward soon. But even though it appears that in the weeks of work the women have done wonders, and they have done remarkably well, yet all they have made will only last one half day in a large hospital over in the war zone, says the Ontario, Ont., Argus.

This shows how great is the demand for surgical dressings. At the mass meeting of women held last Saturday afternoon it was decided to continue to work on surgical dressings, for that is the most needed work. And in this work the Ontario women have become quite expert, so that the output grows greater every day, in proportion to the number present. It now requires the work of a number of women every morning to cut the gauze into the required size, and in the afternoon, last Monday there were 25 women at work in the rooms, and each day this work has been a task of work done, and the number of workers is growing. Still there is need and room for more workers. Every worker will be welcomed. The record made by those who have worked right along is most commendable and the Red Cross officials are proud of the work done, but feel that somehow many who might help, as yet, have not realized how much there is to be done.

Officers Elected.

The Astoria chapter of the Red Cross elected the following committees to serve in the different operations of the society at a meeting last week: Division of relief committee—Local disaster, national disaster, international disaster, dependent families of soldiers, non-combatant in time of war, Mrs. W. Mrs. Kemp to Talk on War Work

Mrs. Jennie M. Kemp, state president of the W. C. T. U. and vice chairman for Oregon of the women's committee for national council of defense left this morning for Southern Oregon where she will speak on the patriotic work of the women before large audiences at Grants Pass, Medford, Ashland and a number of other towns of that district. The women of these places have sent many requests in Portland for someone to come and speak before them and explain the war relief work in full and Mrs. Kemp will take with her samples of the surgical dressings committee's work, and the knitting unit's work to show and explain in detail. It is expected that in her lecture tour of two weeks that the organization of women workers for war relief in Southern Oregon will be accomplished to bring splendid results for assistance to the cause.

LAKE CANTONMENT IS NEARLY READY; NEW HEADQUARTERS OPEN

Water and Sewer Systems 98 Per Cent Complete—Comfort Is Consideration.

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 28.—(U. P.)—Monday was moving day at Camp Lewis headquarters.

Major General Greene, who arrived Saturday night and visited the camp Sunday morning, ordered headquarters. Construction work was rushed Sunday with a full shift in all departments of construction except sewers. This was the first time the men worked on Sunday, but it probably will be necessary to do so from now on, the contractors say.

Water and sewer systems are 98 per cent done, and workmen are being dropped in three lines.

Emergency arrangements for housing the 1500 officers who will be here by Tuesday are occupying the quarter-master's department and the Pacific Commissary company.

Officers' quarters are delayed for a day or two until they can be connected up with the sewers, and meanwhile mattresses are being put on cots in the finished barracks.

Two or three hundred cots are packed together in the barracks down the length of the great, unpainted rooms, but as a young lieutenant observed cheerfully Sunday, surveying the prospect, "when the boys get as good as this we'd be satisfied."

The officers' quarters, when ready, will be comfortable, though extra tall officers may have to double up a little to keep from hitting one side of their rooms with their heads and the other with their feet. Mess houses seating 25 officers have been ordered and 19 of these will be opened this week.

Major Greene and 145 of his parties will live in tents arranged in a semi-circle in a little grove of oak trees between the administration building and the hospital.

VANCOUVER BARRACKS

Forty-fourth Infantry Needs Barbers, Tailors and Buglers.

Barbers and Tailors Wanted.—The Forty-fourth United States Infantry at Vancouver is in need of barbers, tailors, buglers and carpenters. The company barbers frequently make $50 a month, and tailors do as well. Buglers and carpenters are allowed extra pay over the minimum of $30. Musicians are also needed for the regimental band. From $15 to $14 a month is added to the minimum pay of a private of $30. At present players are wanted for the flute, piccolo, cornet, alto and bass. The applicant must be recruited through the regular enlistment office in this city and assigned by his own request to the Forty-fourth Infantry.

Capable Teamsters Needed.—The Fourth United States engineers at Vancouver could use to advantage several good teamsters accustomed to handle six and eight animals. A good auto mechanic is wanted. Extra pay and promotion is assured capable men. To enlist in this regiment the applicant should apply at the Worcester building and state his preference to be with the Fourth engineers. If accepted for general service, he will be so assigned, and on report to the adjutant, Captain F. W. Bouffie, will be given a detail, if satisfactory.

Stoves Being Set Up.—While the thermometer does not indicate any need for stoves, the new cantonment quarters at Vancouver are being fitted out with stoves, both for company and for office buildings. The stoves are being set up as if to be used tomorrow.

Preparing for Conscripts.—Near Gravel walks around the company houses of the conscripts are being built. "We will have everything comfortable for the conscripts, if they succeed us," remarked a non-commissioned officer. "If a lot of them come in here before we leave for France, we will take great pleasure in showing them just where to step."

Men Trained Daily.—The particular character of the drilling and training going on at Vancouver with the engineers is not being made public. The different organizations are busy, and kept busy, with always plenty to do. There are many lines of activities being followed with a view to making the enlisted man and officer as efficient as possible. The dummy sacks or straw hanging on crosspieces are full of bayonet holes. Some of them are mere sacks, while others have arms and legs indicated. The dummy has a hard time of it.

Major Robert Reports.—Major H. H. Robert has reported for duty with the Fourth United States engineers at Vancouver. He comes from the southern division and has had experience in training camp duty.

Eleven Regiments Of Engineers to Go

Washington, Aug. 28.—(U. P.)—Eleven more regiments of United States engineers are to be sent to France to build a railroad from the American base to the American section of the trenches. Secretary of War Baker made this announcement Monday afternoon.

The 11 regiments will be formed from volunteers and men drafted into the national army. There are already nine regiments of railroad workers, rated as United States engineers, in France at work repairing French and British railroads behind the lines. These men will be put at military work for the United States troops as soon as they have completed the rehabilitation of the French railroads.

New York, Aug. 28.—(U. P.)—Donald B. MacMillan, American Arctic explorer, found an immense glacier, second only in size to the famous Humboldt, in his far north wanderings, according to a telegraphic report received from him Monday by the American Museum of Natural History. MacMillan also reported discovery of two new islands.

MacMillan said he found the huts of the Greeley "starvation party" of a score of years back, records of the British expeditions of 1876, and other landmarks, including some of Peary's camps.

IN 1844

a Philadelphian started to make tools and supplies for dentists. His name was S. S. White.

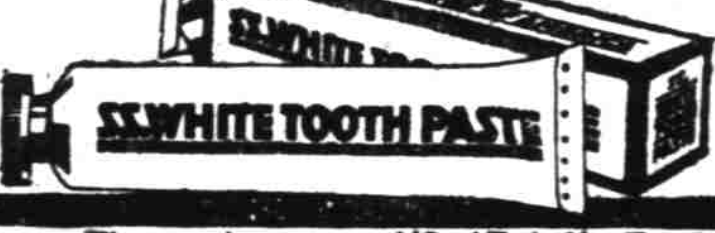

In the 40's Dr. Thomas W. Evans, another Philadelphian, started a dental practice in Paris. His practice made American dentistry famous—it included no less a personage than Napoleon III.

Just as Dr. Evans was part and parcel of the rise of the profession to its present eminence, so "S. S. White" has constantly meant "Standard" in dental equipment since 1844.

Your dentist knows S. S. White products and quality. He knows that S. S. White Tooth Paste—a pure, honest, non-medicated cleanser—will keep healthy the teeth he restores to health.
