Extended-Order Drill EXTENDED-order drill will give your squad its first lesson in the methods of advancing against enemy lines actually used in present day warfare. You will first be show: how to deploy as skirmishers, Moving at a run you and the other men will place yourselves in one rank, the interval between men being about 15 inches, instead of four inches as in any directions that may be given to close-order drill. This is the simplest you as to resetting the sights on your form of deployment, which may be that they may more easily advance even in the face of enemy fire. This means that you become to a greater extent an independent unit. When pushing forward in skirmish ines you must rely in part on your wn initiat've and judgment. The next step in extended order dril is to practice kneeling, lying down and advancing at a run. In the meantime, you will be getting practice also in rifle loading, and a little later will begin to carry your rifle when advanc-ing as a skirmisher and to practice loading, aiming and firing from the

Your object is to reach the enemy. The more skillful you are in the use of cover the smaller the chances of your being disabled during the attack,

But you are not to remain too long in one place, no matter how well you may be concealed. Your value as soldier depends on your ability to advance from cover to cover, always selecting before you leave one place the position you are going to occupy. Practice Fighting

The problem of each individual soldier is to obey the commands and at the same time to use his own judgment and skill in taking advantage of cover as he advances. It is especially important that you should obey at once any directions that may be given to rifle and that the rapidity of your firing should be controlled by the or-ders of your captain. roughly defined as spreading out a body of troops in thin open lines so Going a step beyond the extended order drill your company and regiment will take part in field and combat exercises, in which conditions and movements of actual warfare are reproduced as closely as possible. Here you will put into practice everything learned during your previous drilling. You will practice correct methods of attacking and of defending yourself both with the rifle and bayonet and with other weapons now in use. Don't fail to enter into the spirit of these exercises with as much enthusiasm and intensity as if you were on the actual battle field. Use your imagination. See the enemy in front of you and act pre-cisely as you would act if the enemy One of the most important features were real. Only in this way can you Don't fail to keep in mind also that you are a member of a big team and that every member plays an important part in contributing to the success of the team. "The one requisite necessary to win the battle is intelligent teamwork. The army is handled just like a football team. A part is on the first line facing the enemy. Another part, like the half backs, is held back as supports. Another part, like the full backs, is held as a reserve. Each unit, ike each player, has a certain duty to perform. When the signal is given, all work together—all play the game—teamwork." (Manual for Noncommis-

To have gained first place as the largest selling gum in the world means much. It means that WRIGLEY'S is liked above all others.

That its quality, lasting flavor and its package are the kind most appreciated.

Back of all this — the enormous sales of WRIGLEY'S show that people have learned its benefits: refreshment — aid to appetite and digestion-soothing, antiseptic influence to mouth and throat and the advantages of sweet, clean breath.
