Roseburg Fugitive Nearly Decapitates Himself on River Barge After Street Chase.

Making an unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide by cutting his throat with a pocket knife, in his room at Julia street and Macadam road Thursday, H. J. Robinette, 50 years old, finished his b a few minutes later on a barge in e Willamette river, where he nearly decapitated himself with a kitchen kaife that he picked up in the boat's galley. His douth came as the climax to his efforts to escape arrest and return to Roseburg to face charge of attacking a young girl.

Robinette was picked up by local deputy sheriffs Thursday morning on telegraphic advices from the sheriff of Douglas county. He saked that he be allowed to go to his room 'to secure his effects, and with his attorney. A. M. Crawford, former attorney general of Oregon, was accompanied to the place by Deputy Sheriff Rexford. Left alone in his room for a moment. Robinette slashed his throat with his pocket knife, and a minute later ran to the street and toward the river with blood streaming from the wound. Rexford and Mr. Crawford both grappled with him, but the man shook them off and plunged into the Willamette. Mr. Crawford waded in after him and the bleeding man and the attorney had an exciting tussle in the water, in which Mr. Crawford was repeatedly thrown under the surface. Unable to control the man alone, Mr.

Crawford broke away from him and returned to shore for assistance, and Robinette swam to a barge, climbing aboard, and reaching into the galley for a kitchen knife, slashed himself again and again, nearly severing his head from his body.

Efforts to stop the wound and save the man's life were futile, and his body was taken to the public morgue.
