

MORNINGSIDE ASYLUM ASKS FOR MORE MONEY FOR ALASKAN INSANE

Dr. Coe Tells Interior Department That High Cost of Living Has Created Deficit.

SANITARIUM LOSES MONEY

Must Have $7.50 a Month More From Congress for Each Patient or Financial Disaster Result.

Washington, Sept. 20.—(WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE JOURNAL.)—In documents submitted to the interior department and transmitted by it to congress, Dr. Henry Waldo Coe tells how the upward cost of living cuts into his contract for the care of Alaska insane patients at Morningside sanitarium, Portland, of which institution he is president.

He has kept the food, clothing, heat and necessary comforts to the usual standard, he says, but the present contract rate in $27 a month a patient is not sufficient without involving considerable loss. As a result of personal conferences with officials of the department, which has recently held in Washington, his plea was granted to the extent of recommending an allowance of $35 a month for the present fiscal year.

More Money is Needed

To enable this to be done congress is asked to grant an appropriation of $29,000 additional, so Dr. Coe can be given the benefit of the increased rate from June 30. On that date there were 211 patients, an increase of 25 over the previous year, and the estimate submitted includes a margin for another increase in the present year.

Governor J. F. A. Strong of Alaska, under date of August 31, wrote to the department in support of a higher contract price at the sanitarium. He says he inspected it in July and found conditions more satisfactory than at any time in the last four years, during his term as governor, as the equipment has been materially increased, the plant enlarged, and the patients better cared for.

Many Improvements Made

Dr. Coe in his petition also lays emphasis upon the improvements made in an effort, he says, to cooperate with the department in securing the highest possible comfort for the wards of the government. As an example of the cost involved in doing so, he cites the hydrotherapy apparatus for a new building, which was estimated to cost $500 when the plans were made, but actually involved an outlay of $2000.

In order to maintain the institution at its best he put in $5000 above ordinary income, he states, hoping to tide over the era of high prices, but conditions have grown worse, and he felt it necessary to appeal for a revision of the contract.

Increase Probably Deserved

Dr. W. A. White, superintendent of St. Elizabeth's hospital in the District of Columbia, who was asked to give his opinion on Dr. Coe's plea, says that while he had no personal knowledge of prices on the Pacific coast, he assumed that the situation has been represented correctly, and an increase in the rate to $35 a month looked reasonable to him.

The recommendation of the department probably will be in time to have the appropriation added to the general deficiency bill.

Navy Yard Board Needs Money

Washington, Sept. 20.—The commission on navy yards and naval stations, popularly known as the Helm commission, has asked congress to make available for its use $5000 of its original appropriation of $10,000 expense money. It had spent approximately $5000 on June 30 and the remainder of

Elks to Issue Paper On Salem Excursion

"The Loose Nut" is the name of a paper to be published on the train that will carry some 200 Portland boosters and Elks to the state fair at Salem September 27. A. G. Clark has been delegated as editor. Fun will be the keynote of the excursion and all arrangements have been made with those ideas in mind.

E. N. Weinbaum, secretary in charge, announced this morning that women with or without escorts are invited to join the excursion. He says many of the reservations so far call for whole families. Only certain seats in the grandstand have been reserved for the Portlanders, Mr. Weinbaum says, so it is imperative that all reservations be in early.

The train will leave the Union station at 9 a. m. and returning will leave Salem at 9 p. m.

Threatening Blaze At Montgomery Dock

Fire Wednesday night destroyed about 12 feet of the north end of Montgomery dock No. 2, at the foot of Russell street. The blaze started from a fire left under a tarp between Elsworth and Montgomery docks, and for a time threatened to become serious.

The fire broke and two land companies arrived on the scene promptly, however, and got the flames under control. Incidentally truck 4, an automobile making a run between the dock near the dock, and had to be dragged out by horses.

J. R. O'Donnell Dies; Former Elma Mayor

Aberdeen, Wash., Sept. 20.—Former State Senator J. R. O'Donnell, partner and manager of the White Star Lumber mill near Elma, and former mayor of Elma, died here Wednesday morning following an operation which indicated severe cancerous growth.

O'Donnell had lived in the county 35 years and was known throughout the state. He was 60 years of age and survived by his widow and two children.

Shortage Due to I. W. W.

Washington, Sept. 20.—On a report from H. F. Davidson, agent of the Apple Growers' association at New York, that I. W. W. activities are apparently the cause of a shortage in the supply of apple boxes, the department of justice has promised Senator Chamberlain an investigation will be made.

Mr. Davidson, who was in Washington a few days to confer with officials on the apple export question, now the subject of diplomatic negotiation, is still hopeful that order may be allowed to move into the British market under permission to load un-filled space at Atlantic terminals.

While here he and Representative Sinnott called at the state department and conferred with representatives of some of the neutral countries, with which countries questions of apple importation are pending.

Passport for Mrs. Knight

Washington, Sept. 20.—Senator Chamberlain has assisted in securing a passport for Alice J. Knight, who telegraphed from New York city that, while lately a resident of New York, she is a citizen of Oregon. She goes to France to take up canteen work of the Deaconess mission under Bishop Padock.

HAPPY CANYON LURES VISITORS AT ANNUAL PENDLETON ROUND-UP

Good Program Offered; Scenic Effects Remarkable and of Historic Correctness.

OLD AND NEW ERA IS SEEN

Gambling Joins and Dance Hall Almost Like "Real Thing" But "Licks" is Tame.

Pendleton, Or., Sept. 20.—"The days of old, the days of gold, the days of '49," in all their pristine wildness were recalled Wednesday night to the 4000 people who crowded into "Happy Canyon" when the Round-Up's little sister opened Pendleton's annual frontier celebration. Sports and scenes of early western days and little tragic and comic snatches of life as it was lived then were presented, and they were followed by the popular pastimes that prevailed in those days.

In the first part those who paid their admissions were spectators only, the actors being cowboys, cowgirls, Indians and volunteer performers; but after the first hour all who wished were permitted to enter into the life of the little town. Most of them did so with a will, and they gathered around the roulette wheels and gaming tables and staked fortunes in buck bills on the turn of a card or the whirl of the little ivory ball.

Dance Hall Pretty Tame

In "Hell Morgan's dance hall" they danced and drank with happy abandon even though the "licker" had no "kick," and the dancing was according to the rules and regulations of modern times. The spirit and atmosphere were there, for all that the devil had been driven out.

The Happy Canyon of 1917 is Different

From the Happy Canyon of the past three years. From its crude beginning it has been developed into a real complement of the Round-Up. Details have been worked out this year, and there is nothing about the program which does not harmonize with the basic note.

The greatest of the new features is the transformation scene, which is truly wonderful for an amateur performance. Instead of a street scene confronting the audience, there is nothing to suggest that white man has ever appeared in the west.

Coming of Whites Shown

From a flat valley the scene rises up over precipitous cliffs to rolling hills, while on the sky line rise snow-capped peaks. In the foreground, amidst

6-Cent Fare Debate Topic at Civic Club

Franklin F. Griffith of Car Company and Arthur I. Moulton, Who Was Attorney for Jitney Drivers, Speak.

With only one point of agreement—that the streetcar men should have higher wages, Franklin F. Griffith, president of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company, and Arthur I. Moulton, who was attorney for the jitney drivers, will debate the 6-cent fare issue before the Oregon Civic League at the Multnomah hotel Saturday noon.

"The facts are these," announces the league. "The men who work on the streetcars need and should have higher wages and the railroad company affirms that it cannot pay this increase of wages unless the fare is raised. Some people think this problem can be solved by charging extra for transfers only. Mr. Griffith can tell us why the 6-cent fare is necessary. Mr. Moulton will argue the case on behalf of the public which wishes to be convinced of the necessity of such increased fare."

A large audience is expected those expecting to attend are urged to make reservation by telephoning the secretary Isaac Swett, at Main 8550, or the chairman of the program committee, A. C. Newell, at A-3440.

China Will Send Troops to France

Tokyo, Sept. 20.—(I. N. S.)—China, according to the correspondent of the newspaper Nichi Nichi, will send 20,000 volunteer troops to France. The force will be the first detachment of a Chinese expeditionary army to aid the allies.

real evergreens, is an Indian village, and squaws are discovered about their daily routine of camp life. Action is injected by arrival of scouts with news of the coming of an emigrant train. Then follows a war dance. Attack, capture of a white girl, daring rescue by a cowboy and escape over rocky cliffs into a deep pool, into which a real waterfall pours, and a battle between cowboys and Indians.

Suddenly the lights are dimmed and all in an instant the scene changes along its entire front of 300 feet. The rocky walls give way to fronts of stores and saloons and the action changes to conform. The transformation is so complete that rock over which the waterfall pours becomes an old mill with water running the old mill wheel.

The best scene painters on the coast were employed, and six weeks were required in the making.

The program which precedes the riding show is a varied one, from the riding of bucking broncos to singing by a cowboy trio, but no false note is struck. Happy Canyon this year has nothing of modernity about it, and will not have until it is dismantled after Saturday night.
