

WATERUSERS CHARGE SQUAW CREEK CANAL RATES ARE EXCESSIVE

They Petition Public Service Board to Reopen Case on Ground of Erroneous Ruling

Salem, Or., Sept. 20.—W. W. Van Meter and 18 other waterusers under the canal of the Squaw Creek Irrigation company, in Crook county, have petitioned the public service commission for a rehearing of the case in which the commission fixed the economic duty of water and the price the company should charge for its water. The petitioners allege that the commission erred in both instances. The commission fixed the economic duty of water in the district at two-acre feet for a season. The petitioners assert that the state water board adjudicated water rights on a basis of five-acre feet, which amount, they contend, is required to irrigate alfalfa and clover crops. The commission fixed the price at 60 cents an acre foot, which the petitioners allege is excessive.

Public Service Permits Issued
Salem, Or., Sept. 20.—The public service commission Wednesday granted a permit to the commissioners of Multnomah county to construct an overhead crossing over the tracks of the Oregon Electric at the intersection with Occident street, in Capitol Hill addition. Permit was given the city of Astoria to cross Forty fifth street at grade over the tracks of the S. P. & S.

Tenth Convict Has Escaped

Five of the 10 were trustees, three were members of the honor gang, and two cut their way out from inside the walls. Only three of the 10 have been recaptured. The man who escaped Wednesday was Harry McCleary, serving five years from Union county for obtaining money by false pretenses. He had about four months yet to serve. He had escaped once before and was caught, so was being made to serve his full sentence.

Salem, Or., Sept. 20.—More than 2000 people gathered at the Union depot Wednesday night to bid farewell to 15 Deschutes county boys who formed 47 per cent of the county's quota for the draft. ### Aquatic Circus Is Friday Night Event

The three 100 men teams of the Y. M. C. A. will stage what they call an "aquatic circus" in and around the big swimming tank in the association building at Sixth and Taylor streets, Friday evening. Norman Pritchard, log roller, whose skill in keeping his footing on a whirling log in the water is so great that he has never been "rolled in," will give an exhibition of his prowess and challenge all comers to beat him.

There will be exhibitions of diving, life saving methods, six minutes of water polo, a tub race, a pillow fight and tilting contest. The teams competing for new members have pledged themselves to bring in 300 new members during the month. By the middle of the month 122 new members had been reported.

"Viewed from any angle 'Polly of the Circus' is an artistic triumph. A human story, sympathetically told, a charming star and a superb production combine to make the first Goldwyn release a big success. All the pathos and humor of life itself are duplicated in Margaret Mayo's well-known story. The outstanding features of the first Goldwyn film are unsurpassed and perhaps unequalled lighting effects and exceptional photography. Everything is screened with such attention to detail that the atmosphere obtained makes the spectator forget it is only a picture. Mae Marsh lives the character of 'Polly' and brings to it all the winsome and appealing charm that is so inseparably a part of herself."

Another Great Mountain Range Conquered by Electricity The mighty Rockies, the Belts and the Bitter Roots have bowed their lofty heads before the onward progress of man. The limitless energy of their tumbling cataracts has been harnessed to furnish power for the giant electric locomotives which haul the heavy steel trains of the "Milwaukee Road" across their rugged slopes. And now another great mountain range—the snow-capped Cascades in Washington has felt the hand of the conqueror. The work of electrifying the 211 miles of line through this range is well under way.
