

STATE RURAL CREDIT FUND IS NEARLY ALL LOANED ON PROPERTY

Sixteen Applications for Loans Are Rejected by the Board; Number Are Turned Back.

BIG AMOUNTS ASKED FOR

Requests Show That There Is Something Wrong Somewhere With Manner of Making Assessments.

Salem, Or., Oct. 3.—All but approximately $1000 of Oregon's rural credit fund is now loaned out, or will be as soon as several approved applications now on hand are completed.

The state's rural credit fund totaled $450,000, as no more bonds were sold because the state could not get par for them.

This sum is divided into approximately 255 different loans. Sixteen applications for loans have been formally rejected by the board, including four instances where the board offered to approve loans for lesser amounts than those applied for, and the applicant declined to accept the smaller loan.

Some Are Returned

Besides these, in 12 or 15 instances, the assessed valuation of the lands offered as security for loans was so outrageously low in comparison with the amount of the loans desired that the clerk of the state land board returned the applications without the board taking formal action to reject them.

A bunch of such applications came in from Deschutes county and caused State Treasurer Kay to write to the assessor for that county, calling his attention to the specific instances wherein the assessments were ridiculously low. The assessor replied, admitting the lands were assessed low, but saying he intended to raise the assessments next year.

Something Wrong Somewhere

In some instances, where loans have been made, the appraised value of the land is given at six times the assessed value. In many instances the appraised value is given at two or three times as much as the assessed value. These illustrations bring home the fact that either the method of making assessed valuations is all out of joint or assessors are on the job who make no pretense of following the law in making assessments.

Following is a list of the last 37 loans made or which are now approved and in the process of being completed, showing the county, the amount of the loan, the number of acres, assessed value and appraised value:

Shay Invents Ship To Baffle Torpedo

Thomas J. Shay, founder of the Marine Iron Works at St. Johns, has invented and patented a ship that would be practically invulnerable to torpedoes. Mr. Shay's plans are for a submerged cargo vessel, which is so constructed that it would require numerous shots from submarines before it would sink. Its construction is of a series of steel tanks.

The inventor went east with his plans before the United States entered the war, and submitted them to German agents. They acted upon the invention favorably, but Mr. Shay, doubting their sincerity, withdrew his plans. He then submitted them to the United States shipping board, Senator McNary and the war department. Senators McNary and General Goethals referred the plans to the Royal Society of Engineers in London, who immediately asked for the cooperation of the inventor. The Canadian government then became interested.

LONG DASHES IN 46 TO 0 VICTORY OF WASHINGTON

Benson Players Are Green at the Game and Wilt Under Attack.

Table showing game statistics for Benson players, including names like Franklin, Washington, Lincoln, etc., with columns for W, L, T, etc.

With a powerful smashing offensive, Coach Earl Washington high school football eleven swamped the Benson Polytechnic team under a 46 to 0 score in Wednesday's interscholastic league contest on Multnomah field.

The feature of the game was a 90 yard run for a touchdown from a kickoff by Captain Thompson on the Benson team in the third period. Thompson received the ball on his team's 10 yard line and then started down the middle of the field. He suddenly darted to one side and then had a clear path to Benson's goal line, his speed enabling him to get away from the Benson's tacklers.

Edgerton, one of Washington's substitute backs, made a 70 yard dash through a broken field for a touchdown in the second quarter, but the play was not allowed because he went outside the middle of the field when avoiding a couple of Benson's tacklers. Washington then put the ball in scrimmage and carried it over the goal line for its third touchdown.

Washington has a good football team and if it improves the fondest hopes of the Washington rooters will be realized. Benson, too, has a powerful aggregation of players are green. Their defense at times was very good, while at other times it wilted under the smashing attack of the Washington eleven.

Benson's backfield is small, but as soon as the players get working together Coach Wells will have a team that will hold its own with most any of the other clubs in the league.

Penalties—First quarter, Washington 20 yards. Second quarter, Benson 10 yards. Third quarter, Benson 10 yards. Fourth quarter, Benson 10 yards. Final quarter, none. Touchdowns—Benson 2, Dalton 2, Lewis, Clough, Glass, Thompson 4. Goal kicking—First quarter, none. Second quarter, Washington, Cunningham for Hitchcock for 15 yards. Third quarter, Benson, Perket for Johnson for 15 yards. Fourth quarter, Benson, Perket for Johnson for 15 yards. Final quarter, Dalton for Glass, Clough for Johnson.
