BEAVERS END SEASON AT HOME IN REGULAR FIRST DIVISION STYLE Take Sunday's Doubleheader From the Droaning Bees by Scores of 5-2 and 1-0.

IT'S BRENTON AND DAILEY Both Pitch Good Ball and Makes Clinch Offerings of Rube-Evans and Kirmayer in Final Chance.

By R. A. Cronin Portland closed its 1917 baseball season at home in the proverbial blaze of glory. The Beavers actually won a doubleheader on Sunday and they beat the strong Salt Lake club, vanquishing Rube Evans, 5 to 2, and Ollie Kirmayer, 1 to 0, in a seven inning game.

By winning the two games, the Beavers grabbed every series in the month's stay at home except the one with Los Angeles, which they lost three games to two. Portland fans are more than ever of the opinion that were the season to close November 28, instead of October 28, the Beavers would be the pennant winners.

Brenton and Dailey the Winners Lynn Brenton won the first game and Young Joe Dailey the second. After being knocked out of the box Saturday, the youth came back and held the Salts scoreless, and to the sixth inning, hitless.

The two games were full of features, most notable of which was the fielding of Hollolcher, who bravely brought the fans to their feet in acclamation in the first game when he threw out Ith and Shely in the sixth. No two greater plays were ever made in Portland, home of the great shortstops. Farmer made a sensational catch of Shely's fly in the fourth inning of the second game, and in the fifth Griggs knocked down Quinlan's hard grounder and pegged Crandall out as he was sprinting home.

Rodgers Also in the Zimehalt Then in the seventh Rodgers leaped into the air and pulled Quinlan's high hopper down and pegged it to Griggs for the third out, with Ryan ready to score on his two bagger and Crandall's sacrifice.

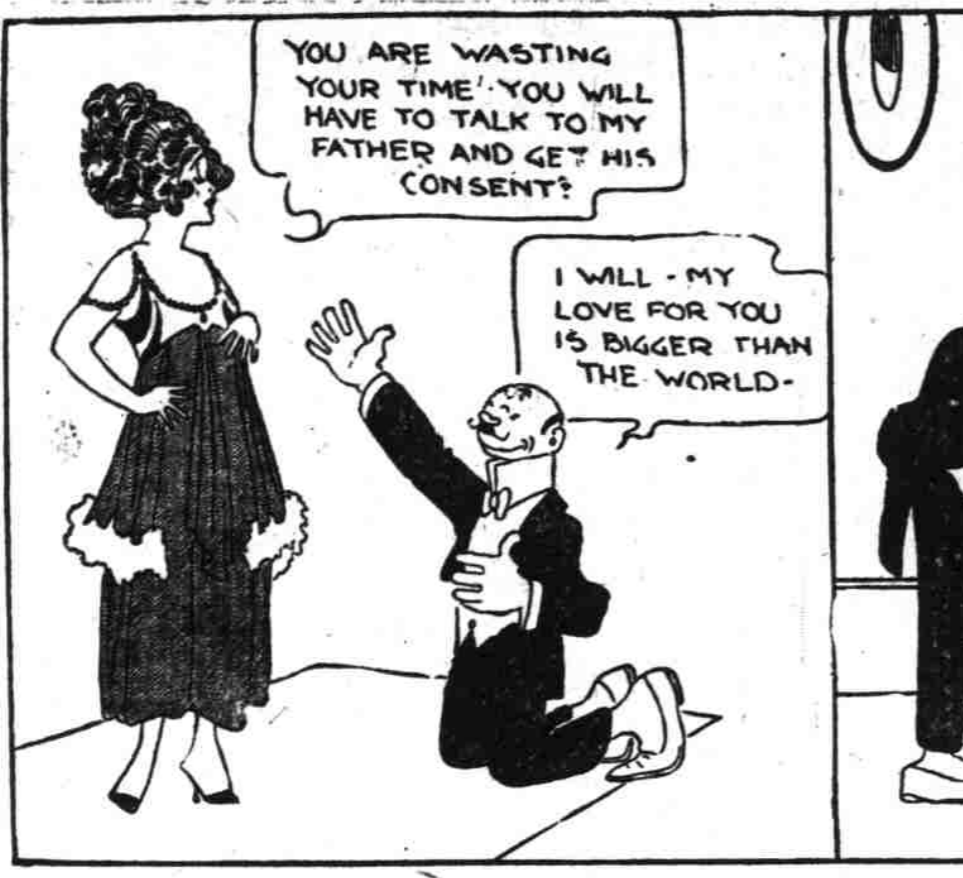

The second game was tighter than the first and kept the fans on edge. It was won in the second inning, when the only run was tallied. Farmer doubled to right, went to third on Rodgers' out, and came across when Orr could not handle Lee's terrific ground ball.

Rube Evans, on whom Manager Bernhard was depending to keep the club up in the race, lost his second game of the week when he started the day's hostilities against the hit-happy Mackintosh. He was out in the first inning, when he was hit by a line drive from the pitcher, and he was out again in the second, when he was hit by a line drive from the pitcher.

Hollocher Drives Out a Double Hollolcher tickled the boards in right field in the first inning for a double and went to third when Willie beat out a hit to the pitcher, and he was out on third, whence he scored, when Farmer forced Willie at second.

Another run was added in the second on Griggs' sacrifice, and Griggs' sacrifice and Baldwin's single through short. The third run was scored in the third after Hollolcher had forced Ith and reached third on Willie's walk, and came across when Farmer's out, Orr to Shely. Willie tried to steal home on a pitch, but was caught at the plate.

AMERICAN LEAGUE CRUSH GIANTS, 7 TO 2, IN SECOND CONTEST

Four Pitchers Hurdled Into the Breach by McGraw in Effort to Start Rally. World's Series to Date Second game—Total attendance, 32,000; receipts, $73,152; national commission's share, $23,234.72; players' share, $29,917.28; each club's share, $17,366.36.

By Damon Runyon Chicago, Oct. 8.—(I. N. S.)—"They knocked us cockeyed," was the terse summing up by a member of the New York Giants of the second game of the world's series here Sunday afternoon.

Writers of renown were groping for words to describe the defeat of his club by the Chicago White Sox when the Giants came along. They were thinking of "overwhelmingly" as a good strong word and lingering lovingly "crushing," but the athlete who knows what a 7 to 2 score really means in a championship game covered the situation in one swift inguinal stroke.

Then he hurried away to catch the train which is bearing him and his teammates back to New York, the Polo grounds and the third game of the series, which now stands very much in favor of the American league with two straight victories over their National opponents.

After that one inning, which was the fourth, the Sox never in doubt. Customers were walking out on the pasture by the seventh inning, though most of the 32,000 people remained to witness the over-night southpaw phenomenon of the National league, heit the careful curving of Fred Anderson, who stands first among the pitchers in the old organization in the matter of allowing no runner to reach base.

It was just a sort of general slaughter of the New Yorkers to make a Chicago holiday and all the White Sox participated. It upset all the dope and left the experts practically speechless. It is impossible to expect a 7 to 2 score to any extent.

This was the first world's series game played on a Sunday since 1913, when the Chicago Cubs and the Philadelphia Athletics met in the autumn struggle. After that the series struck its way through baseball on Sunday is not permitted.

It was a new experience for the Broadway contingent in Chicago, as most of them have heretofore regarded Sunday as a certain, when thrown to intensive slumber, especially from noon on. They came out gummy-eyed and yawning to find a bright and sunny afternoon.

All Chicago Turns Out Thousands of people waited in the lee of Comiskey's walls all night long, hoping to get one of the comparatively few seats which were thrown on the open market. There were a number of women in the line Sunday is the favorite baseball day in Chicago, but on Saturday is the favorite baseball day in New York, for about the same reason.

COMPOSITE BOX OF WORLD SERIES GAMES

Chicago, Oct. 8.—(U. P.)—It's all over so far as the White Sox management is concerned. The redeemed tickets will be placed on sale at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, but that's a mere formality and Comiskey's assistants are already planning a big celebration to greet the world champions when they return from the east Thursday.

Clear Weather Promised A New York, Oct. 8.—(U. P.)—A clear sky will greet the thousands who flock to the Polo grounds tomorrow to see the Giants struggle with the White Sox in the third game of the world's series.

By Jack Veiock Aboard the White Sox Special, Oct. 8.—(U. P.)—The White Sox are as good as in the old bunting. They are the best baseball club in the business today, but they will have to go through the formality of winning two more games from the men of McGraw, a thing which they should do easily.

EVERY DETAIL OF SOX-GIANTS GAME

First Inning New York—Burns singled, but was forced at second by Herzog. Gandil and Collins, who had taken second on the throw-in after his hit. Felch then hit into a double play, to Herzog, unassisted. Herzog grabbed his liner and stepped on second, doubling Jackson.

Second Inning New York—Weaver made an easy stop and throw on Fletcher, but Robertson singled and Holke followed suit, thinking of the National league, heit the careful curving of Fred Anderson, who stands first among the pitchers in the old organization in the matter of allowing no runner to reach base.

Third Inning New York—Herzog whiffed and Kauff was put out by Faber, unassisted. Anderson was derricked and Pol Perry took up his roller toward first and beat him in a race to the bag. Faber tossed Jim out easily.

Fourth Inning New York—Fletcher popped to Robertson. Robertson singled, Holke forced Robby, McMullin to Collins, and then went out trying to steal, Schalk to Collins.

Fifth Inning New York—Rariden singled, but was doubled when Wilbott, batting for Perry, hit a line to Weaver, whose throw beat Rariden back to first. Burns walked but was forced by Herzog, McMullin to Collins.

Sixth Inning New York—Weaver took care of Herzog's boulder and Felch gobbled up Kauff's fly. Jim popped to Collins.

Seventh Inning New York—Fletcher started with a single and went to second on Robertson's out, Schalk to Gandil. Holke hit a liner to Felch, who doubled Fletcher. Faber singled, putting Weaver on third and took second on the throw-in. It was here that Faber pulled his "bone" by trying to steal third with Weaver camped there. He forced Weaver off the bag and Buck was out, Ferritt to Zim.

Eighth Inning New York—Rariden singled, but was doubled when Wilbott, batting for Perry, hit a line to Weaver, whose throw beat Rariden back to first. Burns walked but was forced by Herzog, McMullin to Collins.

WHITE HOSEIERY FEELS SURE ALL WORRY IS OVER

Cicotte May Be Used Tomorrow in First Game in New York. Chicago, Oct. 8.—(U. P.)—It's all over so far as the White Sox management is concerned. The redeemed tickets will be placed on sale at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, but that's a mere formality and Comiskey's assistants are already planning a big celebration to greet the world champions when they return from the east Thursday.

SIDELIGHTS OF WORLD'S SERIES

Manager Rowland was en route to New York today with his right hand bandaged. He was so excited after the game that he turned on the hot water shower too far and he was badly burned.

The police were called to restore order when 10,000 fans viewing the game in an automatic scoreboard at the stockyards pavilion staged a riot in celebration of the big fourth inning.

The crowd and Sox laughed when Red Fabre "stole" third base, which was already occupied, in the fifth. But if the Sox hadn't been leading, 7 to 21 President Comiskey watched yesterday's game from a box until the end of the fourth, when his boys chased five runs across. Then he went to his office to clean up some business.

By Fred S. Ferguson En Route With the Giants, Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 8.—(U. P.)—Having an unenviable reputation as a pitcher, Michigan Central train No. 18 arrived here today with the Giants aboard.

From Buffalo, on the Giants felt a thick trail of gloom that was strong across Indiana and Michigan last night.

The Giants have been so badly mauled by the White Sox so far that even a Pullman porter can see much in them.

The expert persons are all agreed today that it will be only a matter of going through the motions for the White Sox from now on. And with the confidence that they have gained through two great victories they will be as hard to stop as a hard-boiled egg running from a collector.

Of course there is always the possibility of an upset, but when it is remembered that even the weakest members of the Sox are delivering the goods it is next to impossible to figure how New York can overcome the advantage Chicago holds today.

At Polo Grounds Tomorrow The teams will arrive in New York tonight and on the morrow there will be a baseball shindig at the Polo grounds, in which a gentleman named Edward V. Cicotte may be expected to play the role of master of ceremonies.

Loudermilk Stars on Mound St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 8.—Grover Loudermilk pitched 13 innings of shutout ball against the St. Louis Nationals in yesterday's game of the city series.

English scientists are conducting a series of experiments to ascertain how best crop production can be increased with the use of high frequency electric currents.

Charley White May Box Here This Fall

Nate Lewis, manager of Charley White, the Chicago lightweight, has accepted terms offered by Matchmaker Bobby Evans of the Pacific Athletic club for a contest some time in December. Evans is dickering with Willie Hoppe and Johnny McCarthy and it is expected that the contest will be held in the latter part of the month.

Washington High to Play C. U. Tomorrow

One of the best interscholastic football games of the season is expected tomorrow afternoon when the Washington high school and Columbia university teams clash on Multnomah field. The contest will start promptly at 3:15 o'clock.
