

PRODUCTS EXHIBITION TO BE THE SIGNAL FOR BIG DEMONSTRATION

Parade Will Feature Opening Day, Oct. 3; Leading Men Will Speak at Auditorium.

MANY EXHIBITS PLANNED

Manufacturers of State Will Have a Prominent Part in Display; Outside Districts Will Compete.

Saturday, November 3, the Oregon Manufacturers and Land Products show will be opened in for a month's exhibition at the Auditorium. The show will open with a big parade. At the Auditorium, Governor Withycombe, Mayor Baker and other officials will speak.

After months of effort on the part of Colonel David M. Dunne and his associates, preparations for the big show have been successfully completed.

Construction work at the Auditorium will begin Monday. The floor will require 25,000 feet of lumber.

The booths for the county exhibits will be placed early in the week and working exhibits of manufacturers will be installed in the manufacturers' pavilion as soon as the necessary construction work can be done. All the space on the main floor has been sold and it remains only to place the exhibits.

Manufacturers in Line

Sixty-three of the large manufacturers of the state will have working exhibits to demonstrate the merits of their wares and the methods of manufacture.

Special effort has been centered upon the land products show and in this field the officials have had invaluable assistance from managers of fairs throughout the state.

The high-grade beef cattle industry in the state of Oregon centers at Prineville, where each year the interstate fair brings together the best display. This year an exceptionally fine showing was made and the prize animal was owned by one of the big cattlemen southeast of Prineville. This prize steer will be brought to Portland by H. L. Schow of Prineville and placed on display at the Land Show, representative of the principal industry of Central Oregon. At the close of the show the animal will be sold to a packing plant for consumption in Portland.

Freytag Is Named

Clackamas county has named O. E. Freytag as its representative at the Land Show, and he is now preparing an excellent exhibit of the resources of that county. Mr. Freytag was identified with the state fair for a number of years and is recognized as an expert in exhibition work.

I. M. Graham of Forest Grove, who has been active as president of the Commercial club in that town, has taken charge of the Washington county exhibit and promises to bring to Port-

WELL KNOWN YOUNG MAN TO ARMY'S "Y"

Clarence H. Sprague

Clarence H. Sprague, advertising writer and window trimmer for the Portland Gas & Coke company, left last Tuesday to take up army Y. M. C. A. work, stationed at the Vancouver rifle range.

Mr. Sprague is one of the several young men of Portland who have been called into this service within six months. For several years he was connected with the Portland Y. M. C. A. boys' department, later going to the North Pacific Lumber company. He has been with the gas company for two and one-half years.

Portland Mother Finds Son Is Alive

Mrs. Kate Dunn Discovers Harold Dunn, Killed in Warren, Ohio, Last May, Was Not Her Boy.

Warren, Ohio, Oct. 20.—(I. N. S.)—While messages of love sped across a continent today, between a son in Portland, Me., and a mother in Portland, Or., local authorities started in to all over a job bungled last May. The first step was to remove from a grave a headstone bearing the name "Harold Dunn." For Harold Dunn is alive in Portland, Me., and his mother, Mrs. Kate Dunn, after months of mourning, is joyful that she soon will see her boy alive.

A young man with a letter in his pocket addressed to Mrs. Kate Dunn, Portland, Or., was run over and badly mangled by an Erie train last May. Mrs. Dunn came to the city and, unable to stand the shock of viewing the body, took the corner of a gold tooth and a birthmark on the cheek. This coroner "found" them. The body was buried.

In the meantime, Harold Dunn, roaming about the country, wondered that his parents stopped writing him. When he settled down in Portland, Me., he tried again. He was answered by wire. Authorities here have no clue as to the identity of the young man who was Harold Dunn's double.

Plummer Has Busy Schedule for Week

O. M. Plummer, a member of the Portland school board, recently returned from a most successful trip to Southern Oregon, where he created the "Hoover's Drive" as Food Conservation week has been termed. He will spend the coming week in Eastern Oregon. Sunday he will address a union meeting at Hood River. On Monday he will address the schools of Hood River. Tuesday he will spend in Pendleton where he will meet the members of the Commercial club and make addresses in the high school and graded schools in this city. He will be at La Grande on Wednesday, where he will give the message of the necessity of saving food to the school children. Thursday will be spent at Baker and Friday at Vale.

Mrs. Jennie Kemp, ex-state president of the W. C. T. U., will attend the convention of the State Federation of Women's clubs at Prineville on Wednesday and Tuesday on "How Women Can Help to Win the War." While in Central Oregon she will make addresses through the leading cities in Deschutes, Jefferson and Crook counties.

Sweet Potatoes Grow at Hillsdale

Large, juicy, yellow sweet potatoes are being grown at Hillsdale on the farm of James Sullivan. The original plants were sent by Mrs. Sullivan's sister from Mayville, Ky. They were set out the second week in May in well-ventilated hills. The crop was harvested this week. The potatoes are large and well formed and the weight of the crop from 12 hills was nearly 50 pounds.

WEST GIVES ITS BEST TO 91ST DIVISION AT AMERICAN LAKE CAMP

Experienced Observers at Camp Lewis Declare Superior Material Available.

ALL CASTE IS LEVELED

Broader Outlook on Life Afforded by Daily Contact of Men Drafted From All Divisions of Society.

Camp Lewis, American Lake, Oct. 20.—"The best paid best fed army the world has ever seen, with the highest personnel and finest morale any nation has ever sent to a battle field," is the way army officers, men who have spent their lives in the American army and have had opportunities to study and investigate the armies of the world, describe the men now in training in the Ninety-first division of the new national army.

The west has sent its best to Camp Lewis and the best of the west, according to those in command here, stands equal if not higher than the best in the nation. Camp Lewis is making soldiers by the thousand. Men who never before had any inclination towards military training are becoming enthusiastic advocates of the training, and others who came here against their will have fallen under the lure, the fascination of the army life, and are keenly interested in every phase of it.

Outlook on Life Broadened

Fully 90 per cent of the men have been engaged in earning their own livelihood. These men have rubbed shoulders with the rest of the world, they know hum-nature and the training at American Lake is giving them a broader outlook on life. The bootblack is the "bunkie" of the soldier's world. The farmer is the squad leader for the banker, City and country are brought face to face and shoulder to shoulder, every hour every day.

Coleman to Teach Literature

Professor Norman Coleman of Reed college will deliver the first of a series of lectures to be given at Y. M. C. A. building No. 1, for classes in literature now being formed. Other classes in mathematics, French, geometry, United States history, English grammar and chemistry are being organized or have been organized in camp with large attendance at each class gathering.

The Lincoln high school of Portland has sent out a general call through the camp for the names and company addresses of every former student or graduate from that institution. Arrangements are being made for a gathering of the Lincoln "clans" some night next week at the Y. M. C. A. buildings at which time there will be a get-together rally of the Oregonians and steps taken to form an organization to last during the training period.

Ambulance Men in New Quarters

The Portland ambulance company, officially designated as the 362d field ambulance company instead of the 1st ambulance company, has been assigned to barracks No. 22.

The Lincoln high school of Portland has the largest number of graduates listed in the company. They are: Alfred Schilt, D. Lawrence Rosenthal, Leonard I. Kaufman, Ted Preble, Alfred Mattern, Frederick Raymond Simpson, and William Selberts, James Vranizan, Chester Gasset, Joseph Luckey, E. Rufus Holt, Kenneth Farley and Earl R. Goodwin.

Cecil Stiemler, Perc S. Brown, Mitt Penfield and Robert McMurray formerly attended Jefferson high, while Harlan Bristow and Alvin Bingswanger attended Portland Academy.

Gov Country Men in Demand

While the ambulance unit men are holding up their end in honor of their state, the boys from Eastern Oregon and Washington are fighting for a chance with the remount station, where Uncle Sam has several thousand head of horses to feed, care for and break for the saddle and harness. Men from sandlots have been called upon Captain J. W. Jackson, in charge of the station, urging for transfers from the infantry to the mounted work. A hand in the big horse breaking stunts, and there is plenty of work for the horsemen.

At the same time the Oregon boys coming from the hay growing counties are in demand at the remount station because of their knowledge of hay and feed. These men will be transferred as rapidly as they can be located and qualified for this character of work.

A large number of selected men from Southwestern Washington, Cowitz and Pacific counties in particular, have been assigned for service with the forestry units and have left Camp Lewis for the training camp of this unit. The reassigned men are looked upon as "black" by the remount station because of their knowledge of hay and feed. These men will be transferred as rapidly as they can be located and qualified for this character of work.

Bear From Vancouver

The Second company of the First battalion, 166th depot brigade, composed of men from Southwestern Washington, has a new mascot, a cub bear sent to Private Millum of Vancouver, Wash., by his parents. The young cub weighs about 75 pounds and is still in the milk eating age, but is a prime favorite in camp. The bear is looked upon as the property of the battalion, and the men jokingly declare that the wonderful showing made by the battalion in the Liberty bond issues, when $5,000 for service was in six hours was due to the "good luck brought by the cub."

This is the same battalion which, when its personnel was informed that the organization would be disbanded, the day Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo visited the camp, roused out of bed at 4 o'clock that morning and for two hours drilled in the cold gray dawn perfecting its marching. This, according to its officers, is a fair sample of the spirit the men of the battalion are displaying on all occasions. "They drill that morning and perfected their marching more in two hours, than they could have in a week's work," the commanding officer of the battalion declared. "These men roused their acting non-commissioned officers and went to it with a snap and punch which is going to make the battalion one of the great fighting units in the division."

Lieutenant J. C. Evenden, a former Oregon Agricultural college man, has been named as one of the athletic officers of the Three Hundred Sixty-third infantry.

WORK PROGRESSES ON STRAHORN ROAD

Part of $100,000 worth of steel and ties at Klamath Falls supply depot.

Klamath Falls, Or., Oct. 20.—Work is progressing satisfactorily on the Klamath Falls municipal railroad being built from Klamath Falls to Dairy, 200 miles east, by Robert E. Strahorn, at a cost of $300,000.

This line will be the first link of a railway system that will connect with the Oregon Trunk Line at Bend, Deschutes county, and eventually connect the termini of five trunk lines entering Oregon from different directions.

The illustration shows part of $100,000 worth of steel and ties in the Klamath Falls material yard.

GOBLINS ARE COMING, BUT THE SHOPS HAVE GREETINGS PREPARED

Displays of Halloween Favors in Portland Stores Are More Lavish Than Usual.

Halloween, with its gorgeous pumpkin colored decorations, Jack-o'-lanterns and kindred things featured in the festivities attendant on the time when witches, fairies and goblins hold full sway, will be here October 29.

The displays at the shops are more extensive than ever before and merchants say they expect some eleventh hour shipments to add to the brilliant riot of color.

Postcards bearing kiddies, kittens and kind wishes preface the collections, which include lamp shades ornamented with still other black cats and black cats peeping from feathered nests. The proverbial "witch" with her broom, of whom it is asked in Mother Goose Melodies "Old woman, old woman, whither so high? To sweep the cobwebs from the sky?"

Then there are miniature chariots and several very gawsome "favors" not destined to find very great favor with thoughtful people. They are skulls of various sizes and skeletons swinging from trapezes.

Besides the toy features designed for the children, very choice confections are being made up in pumpkin-color and tucked in dainty baskets as souvenirs for the grown-ups.

Lewiston Attorney Killed by Auto

Lewiston, Idaho, Oct. 20.—George W. Tannehill, well known Lewiston attorney, was instantly killed Friday when an automobile he was driving left a grade near Webb, 20 miles from Lewiston. Postmaster Lee Pennell of Lewiston, and O. R. Daly of Spokane, were with him, but escaped serious injury.

Mr. Tannehill was a prominent throughout Idaho in Democratic circles, and was a candidate for United States senator six years ago.
