Judge Burke Shows Successor About Building and Introduces Him to Custom House Staff.

Will Moore of Pendleton, newly appointed collector of customs, will take up the duties of his office Tuesday. Word has been received that his commission was executed several days ago n Washington and should reach here Tuesday morning.

With his family, Mr. Moore came to Portland Sunday and has tempo-rarily established his home at the Hotel Portland. He will later establish his permanent residence here. He has a wife and son. Mr. Moore was in Portland two weeks ago making preliminary arrangements to take up his new duties. He returned to Pendleton to wind up his business affairs there. He has been a resident of eastern Oregon for over 20 years and of late years made his home at Pendletor, where he was engaged in the grain business. He is well known in that section of the state. At one time he was a member of the Pendleton water board. He has served as a member of the Umatilla county Democratic central committee at-various times and on one occasion was chairman.

Today Mr. Moore is spending his time getting acquainted with the duties of collector. He called upon Judge Thomas C. Burke, the present collector early this morning and after, going over details of the office, was taken on a tour of the customhouse by Judge Butke. He was introduced to all the "boys" and shown every nook and corner, for, in addition to being collector, he will be custodian of the building. position Judge Burke has also filled during his incumbency.
