University Club To Compliment Officers

Several Hundred Covers to Be Laid Saturday Night at Dinner Dance.

THIS week's social affairs will close Saturday evening in gala fashion with dinner dance of several hundred covers at the University club, planned by the members as a compliment to the officers at Vancouver barracks. The men of the club will be much in the background, as Portland society will devote itself to the entertainment of the soldiers to the exclusion of the others. The affair has been arranged with large dinner parties given for the most part by prominent society matrons, each including several officers from the barracks.

Bed Time Tales

BY DR. WARREN G. PARTRIDGE
Jimmy Coon Wins a Great Battle
ONE moonlight night Jimmie Coon heard the yelping of the Coon dogs. Four dogs were helping the hunters find a Coon's track. And Jimmy Coon knew the dogs had found the scent of his fresh tracks. Fast and faster ran the four dogs, and nearer and nearer they got to Jimmy Coon.

They were close upon him now, and how could one little Jimmy Coon fight four big dogs! And the old fox-hound Ranger was ahead, and he gave an awful leap; and seemed to be right upon poor little Jimmy Coon! But in the nick of time Jimmy Coon jumped into a hole, in the bottom of a big hollow chestnut tree. And the hole was so small that no dog could follow him. And those four dogs leaped around the tree, almost barking their heads off.

Jimmy thought, "I don't know how long I can stand this terrible smoke."

er, rushed into the hole, and you would have thought to hear his voice and to see his sharp teeth, that he expected to bite down the big tree. And the dogs were leaping up and barking ready to pounce upon Jimmy Coon when he fell to the ground. And all the hunters aimed their guns at the top of the tree, to shoot Jimmy Coon when he came out of the hole of the tree.

But Jimmy kept a level head, and his keen wits, just as we all should do in trouble. He guessed we'll get Mr. Coon. He never can live in that smoke! Why, see the black smoke curling up from the top of the tree, as if the chestnut was a huge chimney!

Will Sell Red Cross Seals On Dec. 3

Council of Jewish Women to Take Entire 10 Downtown Booths.

THE Council of Jewish Women held one of its large and enthusiastic meetings Wednesday. Telegrams from Mrs. S. M. Blumauer and Mrs. Isaac Swett, who are attending the National Council in Chicago, were read. The council decided to take the entire 10 downtown booths for the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals, December 3, and Mrs. Henry W. Metzger was made chairman of the sale.

Federation reports were given by Miss Edda Jacobs and Mrs. Julia Durkheimer. Members were urged to give as much time as possible to the Red Cross work. The Bible study class under the leadership of Rabbi Jonah B. Wise will begin its work next Wednesday at 8 o'clock, room H, Central Library. Thereafter meetings will be held every second and fourth Wednesday. The penny-a-box for the support of the Neighborhood House were distributed.

Mrs. Milton Kahn, who is in charge of the food sale for Thanksgiving at the Superlivity Shop, Tuesday, November 27, asked for contributions of food and for customers. Mrs. Julius Louissou asked for clothing for the shop. Dr. Tilzer urged the need of support of the Jewish work.

The program opened with a flag ceremony by the Boy Scouts. Twenty-five children from the Falling school sang "The Star Spangled Banner" and "My Own United States." Congressman McArthur gave a patriotic address emphasizing the value of the work being done by women and urging an even greater appreciation of the seriousness of the situation. Food cards were distributed. Miss Pauline Klein of Corvallis, a member of the child labor commission, spoke on "Child Labor." Mrs. Sternberg, a visitor from Spokane, told of the recent organization of a council in that city. The afternoon closed with a social hour during which rye bread sandwiches and coffee were served. The council having voted to substitute rye bread for cake in the interests of conservation. Mrs. M. Lavenson was chairman for the social hour.

of smoke to choke Jimmy Coon. And Jimmy thought, "I don't know how long I can stand this terrible smoke. It makes my eyes smart, and it gets in my nose and throat and makes me cough; and I may choke. So I'd better climb to the top, and get some fresh air, and look around for some way to escape."

And as Jimmy was climbing up the hollow tree, he heard the hunters laughing. "Now, I guess we'll get Mr. Coon. He never can live in that smoke! Why, see the black smoke curling up from the top of the tree, as if the chestnut was a huge chimney!"

Condensed Milk Sent Russian Babies Red Cross Purchases 1,000,000 Pounds

Owing to the great scarcity of wholesome milk in Russia, the American Red Cross has purchased 1,000,000 pounds of condensed milk for the babies in that country. Shipment will be made immediately. The money for this milk was appropriated on the receipt of urgent cables from William B. Thompson, chairman of the Red Cross commission to Russia, and Dr. Frank Briggs of Chicago.

Reports from the American Red Cross commission to Russia have stated that nothing could be more heart-rending to many of the Russian people at the present time than providing nourishment for their babies. Another million pounds, therefore, is to be shipped next month. It is probable that further supplies will be made, to the limit of transportation facilities. In subsequent shipments each can of condensed milk will bear a label in Russian reading: "From Free America to Free Russia."

If you would, why don't you try some economical Cottolene Waffles? Wholesome, economical Cottolene, you know, has a delightful habit of making all foods "crispy"—waffles included.
