"Somewhere," but no matter where, the most acceptable thing you could send "the boy" is a sweater, or some other knitted article. We have the helmet, the wristlets and mitts, in the O. D. khaki and navy blue.

Your boy deserves the best, and he will need it. Jantzen knitted wear is always made of the best wool that the market shows. And it will have to be Jantzen quality and comfort to pass inspection by "General Satisfaction."

Christmas packages weighing 7 pounds or less, for soldiers abroad, should be delivered to the postoffice not later than November 25th, and addressed as follows:

Name of Soldier:
 Company No., Regiment
 American Expeditionary Force.

Christmas packages for soldiers in camps in the United States should be mailed in plenty of time so that regiments at extreme eastern points will receive them before Christmas morning.

WHETHER IN CAMP or TRENCHES

There is no gift that will be more appreciated than an Eveready Flashlight. Think of the convenience and of the thousands of uses one can find for these lights around the camp, on the battle line, in the still of the darkness of a hospital tent, in the interior of the ambulance van moving swiftly through the night. Wherever darkness might hamper the work of mercy has proven itself invaluable. It combines with the convenience and dependability of instant light the safety that makes its use anywhere.
