

CORN, PRUNES AND GRANBERRIES HELP ENRICH FARMERS

Splendid Exhibits Made at Land Products Show—Oregon Corn in Demand for Meal—Prune Yield Big.

Baker County's Display Is Indicative of Varied Resources of Eastern Oregon—Special Days Listed.

Corn, cranberries and prunes, a most unusual combination of crops, stand out prominently at the third annual exhibition of the Manufacturers and Land Products Show, which will close its doors next Saturday night.

Every county showing an exhibit offers corn as part of the farm crop. True, a few of the displays do not emphasize corn, but in general, the exhibit is corn. In Jackson county a number of farmers have produced large fields of corn, and with excellent results financially.

The Jackson county exhibit is in charge of D. M. Lowe of Ashland, who this year produced more than 2000 bushels of corn. One of the best of the land show Mr. Lowe has sold his corn to a Seattle firm for manufacture into meal. The buyer from the Milwaukee Grain Elevator company of Seattle, came to Portland, and bought all of Mr. Lowe's corn, with the avowed purpose of mixing it with western corn and producing a new grade of meal. The buyer says that Jackson county corn is richer in food qualities than is Nebraska corn, and it makes a whiter meal. In other counties the Seattle buyer is purchasing corn, in an effort to meet the demand for wheat substitutes.

Clatsop Shows Cranberries

The best showing of cranberries ever made in the state is offered by Clatsop county. And, the best of the story lies in the fact that the display is made up of straight commercial berries. Two or three hundred crates of berries from the marshes near Astoria were sent to jobbers in Portland for use at the show. When the stock was wanted it was necessary to take care of the berries from the boxes on hand, and this was that berries with no special selection or care were offered as display stock. The auditorium committee estimated that 1000 acres of bog lands are available for cranberry culture in Clatsop county. Already plantings have reached full bearing.

The Salem Fruit union offers a remarkable display of prunes. The stock is taken from every district where prunes have been grown successfully. In other counties the Seattle buyer is purchasing prunes, in an effort to meet the demand for wheat substitutes.

FUEL ADMINISTRATOR IN IDAHO HOPES TO AVERT COAL FAMINE

Ex-Governor Gooding Asks Authority to Distribute Coal From Utah-Wyoming Mines

DEALERS WILL HELP HIM

Demand in Idaho Reported 30 Per Cent Greater Than Last Year With No Increase in Production.

Boise, Idaho, Nov. 17.—Ex-Governor Frank R. Gooding, fuel administrator for Idaho, has asked the federal fuel administrator for authority to distribute coal from the mines of Utah and Wyoming to points where it is most needed. If this authority is granted, Administrator Gooding believes the threatened coal famine can be averted.

In meetings held over the southern part of the state he has discussed the situation with dealers and has secured their cooperation in his plans for relieving the situation. The demand for coal in this state is reported to be 30 per cent greater than last year, while only about the average amount has been received during the past season.

Dealers in the southern part of the state have accepted without complaint the prices agreed upon at the conference between Administrator Gooding and the Boise coal dealers. Dealers north Idaho indicate strong opposition, men in the coal business complaining that they cannot remain in business when limited to a gross margin of 10 per cent, according to the terms of the Boise agreement. Mr. Gooding has gone north to take up the matter with the dealers.

Railroad Officials At Grays Harbor

Aberdeen, Wash., Nov. 17.—Harry E. Byram, president of the 151-mile road, and other officials came to the harbor late this afternoon on a trip of inspection. Mr. Byram has been on the coast three weeks and leaves tomorrow for Chicago. He said that he has been greatly impressed with the prosperity of the coast, and says there will be greater prosperity after the war. He says the government does not want control of the railroads, as it has a big task outside of that, and that the railroads are helping the government in every way possible. In fact, the government's interests are in the best consideration now, he said, and as to a possible near ending of the war, Mr. Byram would not even make a guess.

Fruitola and Traxo are compounded from the original Edsall formulas at the Pinus laboratories in Monticello, Ill., and can be purchased in drug stores; a doctor's prescription is not that acts as an intestinal lubricant, and disintegrates the hardened particles that cause so much suffering, discharging the accumulated waste to the sufferer's intense relief. One dose is usually sufficient to indicate its efficacy. Traxo is a tonic-alternative that is most effective to rebuild and restore the weakened, run-down system.

A booklet of special interest to those who suffer with stomach trouble can be obtained by writing to the Pinus Laboratories, Monticello, Illinois.
