JOE RIVERS PUTS KNOCKOUT PUNCH OVER IN 16 SECS.

Benjamin Swatted Three Lusty Cracks on Jowl After Emerging From Corner in First.

ANDERSON STOPS WAGNER

Stomach Punch in Fourth Round Takes Wind Out of Sails; Crowd Largest of Season.

Sixteen seconds after Joe Benjamin danced smilingly out of his corner to face Joe Rivers Friday night they were water, hanging the ammonia pot to his beezer and otherwise trying to coax back the bloom of youth, the joy of life, etc., etc.

Adding pity to the horror is the fact that there can be no plausible explanation of the capillary attraction between Joe's chin and Joe's right fist. It just happened, that's all. Three times Joe's fight hand found lodgment on Joe's chin, and three times Joe hit the mat The last time even Joe did not look behind but hunted up the referee so that the official might raise his arm in the fitting and proper manner. A Brown Streak

All that the fans saw when the bell clanged was a brown streak of Mexicano shooting across the ring to meet a pink flash of Hebrew. A right landed almost flush on Benjamin's chin and the next moment they were shoving Joe back into the ring, he having landed kerplunk in the laps of the lirst plutocrats. Benjamin tried to do a gorilla glide away from the territory, but the minute he lifted his hands from
F. Henry him on the inferior maxillary.

The last seen of Benjamin in the quick was when he again pulled the gorilla glide stuff trying to get out of the center of hostilities. As long as he kept both hands on the floor and one eye on Referee Stutt's pendulous wing, Joe was Co. K. But the minute he lifted his hands he was K. O. Rivers did not mess up the knockout. He went at it like an army dentist pulling a rook's eye-tooth. In that respect he showed what experience will do. The moment Meredith 94 98 83 275 what experience will do. The moment Benjamin tried to straighten up, Rivers lunged at him, placed a glove flush on the chin and then figured on whether it would be a roast beef sandwich or a cup o' cocoa before retiring for the pight.

Hornsby Wants Raise some cases the players are already making big demands. The case of Roger Hornsby, of the Cardinals, is one of the most interesting. Hornsby has informed Branch Rickey that he will not play ball next season unless he receives $10,000 for his services. Hornsby is bound to be a holdout will trim salaries in some instances and add a few hundred dollars somewhere else. But all in all, the total payroli in the major leagues is to be reduced notably and in reducing it the magnates are going to have their troubles. Few Holdover Contracts An example of how few players are under contract in the big leagues is furnished by the three clubs located in Greater New York. Only eight players of the Giants, Dodgers and Yankees, are said to

That Pipal was coaching his last year at Corvallis has been a subject of much talk among those who have been in close touch with the football situation in the northwest. Rumors that Pipal would not be coaching the Aggies in 1918 were Pollution of Waters Hurting Salheard frequently during the first part of November, but since the victory over the varsity these reports have not been so persistent. It is hardly believed now that the victory over the Lemon-Yellov -the first in 10 years-will be sufficlent to carry Pipal over the tide of sentiment against him. Pipal is a memper of the faculty on a yearly contract and none but the board of regents has authority in the matter. Business Men Saw Dietz

Red Cross to Reject Fight

Washington, Dec. 22.—(I. N. S.)—The so-called Jess Willard Red Cross fight benefit has never been offered to the Red Cross officially, but when it is, if ever, it will be rejected, according to information today from reliable Red Cross sources. This information also disclosed lack of faith by the society in the efforts of Matt Hinkel, Cleveland fight promoter, to underwrite the fight for $1,000,000.

When the matter is officially brought to the attention of the Red Cross it will be decided by a conference, but the result will be the rejection of the offer, according to all indications at the society's headquarters today. The principal reason for such action is the difference of opinion among the members regarding prize fighting as a sport.

The project has already been considerably dampened by the statement made by the champion that he will fight nothing but a ten-round decision
