Beauty Chat

Superlative Beauty
OUR ideals of the superlative form of womanly beauty may vary, but our artistic senses discern the charm and grace in all types of loveliness.

I have very little patience with the brunette who has her hair so very foolishly run the risk of ruining her hair, and in a short time is sorry she did not leave well enough alone.

Women of Country Will Be Asked To Abide by Rules of Defense Council.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(U. P.)—Started at the physical defects of American manhood revealed by the selective service, the government has started a campaign to free the rising generation from like disability.

Approximately ten million women in the country will be furnished cards by the federal children's bureau and through the council of national defense will be called upon to abide by the regulations.

First immediate registration of births so that nursing and medical aid may be provided where the parents are financially unable to obtain it.

Second, proper and thorough care by a physician and public health nurse for every woman during confinement.

Third, children's conferences where babies can be taken periodically and weighed and measured and clinics where sick children may be treated.

Fourth, organization of state and city divisions or bureaus of child hygiene.

Fifth, guarding of the milk supply and distribution of the proper share of clean milk for every child.

Sixth, an income making decent living standard possible.

The movement will be started on the theory of public health authorities that at least half the deaths of young children are easily preventable.

"National baby week" will be extended, Miss Julia Lathrop, chief of the children's bureau, declared today, because the present emergency demands longer and more comprehensive program.

Sister States Pay Women More

Comparative Figures Prepared for Joint Conference to Be Held This Afternoon.

COMPARATIVE figures showing the pay for women workers in the states of Oregon, Washington and California have been prepared by the Oregon Industrial Welfare Commission for consideration at the joint conference this afternoon between representatives of the people, the employer and the employees on the request of the Consumers' League for an increase in the minimum for women.

Figures compiled by Mrs. Millie R. Trumbull, assistant secretary of the Industrial Welfare Commission, shows the wage paid for inexperienced and experienced women workers in Portland factories. Payrolls for October and November, 1917, show that 82 were receiving $6 to $7 a week; 97 from $7 to $8.64; 73 from $8.64 to $9; 34 from $9 to $10; 161 from $10 to $11 from $11 to $20, and 1 between $20 and $25.

Fourteen laundry workers were receiving $6 to $7 a week, 462 from $9.25 to $10, and 808 over $10. Figures from 14 offices gave 20 as receiving $6 to $7 a week and 127 as getting $10 a week and over.

According to information received from Washington the federal child labor law applies to newspapers. This means that any child under 16 years of age cannot be employed more than eight hours a day nor after 7 p. m.

As a basis of the distribution of money to meet the various expenses of living, the Washington schedule is cited as the criterion. This allotment follows: Food and rent, 64 per cent; clothing, 21 per cent; laundry, fuel, vacation and other expenses, 25 per cent.

Data will be considered at the conference tending to show the increase in the cost of living since the minimum wage for women was adopted.

"Mayme and I Went Shopping at Cherry's With-out Money!"

"Sounds foolish, don't it? But it's true, just the same. We heard they were having wonderful reductions throughout their women's stock and we certainly found it to be true. But we were broke—wouldn't have any money until next payday. But we found out that Cherry's all through the month of January are waiving their first payment usually required when you get clothes from them, so you just select what you want and pay later and a little each week or as may be most convenient for you. Now that explains how I come to be all dolled up in this nice fur trimmed coat. You just ought to see Mayme's pretty silk dress—it's a dream. Surely you should go and look their stock over while their sale is on, and such liberal terms are being offered." 389-91 Washington street. Pit stock block. (Adv.)
