Convention of Grand encampment G. A. R., Portland, July.
Pacific Coast Advertising Men's association convention, Portland, Or., July 2-6.

WEATHER CONDITIONS

Low pressure prevails from the lake region to the Gulf of Mexico, and an important low pressure area covers the extreme North Pacific slope. Elsewhere the pressure is generally high, the highest readings being apparently near Alberta. Precipitation has occurred over most of the eastern half of the United States, and is reported from a large number of northwestern stations. Sleet is falling in the Middle Atlantic states. Much colder weather prevails in Alberta and Saskatchewan, while in parts of Colorado, the Dakotas, Minnesota and Manitoba the temperature has risen rapidly. The temperature is generally below normal except on the middle and North Pacific slope and the Valley of the Red River of the North.

Under the influence of the low pressure area that is central on the North Pacific coast rain may be expected in Portland and its vicinity tonight and Tuesday. Southwest storm warnings were ordered along the coast from the Columbia river northward.

TODAY'S FORECAST

Portland and vicinity—Tonight and Tuesday rain; fresh southwesterly winds.
Oregon and Washington—Tonight and Tuesday rain; strong southwesterly gales along the coast.

EDWARD L. WELLS,
Meteorologist.

TOWN TOPICS

Oregon's Death Rate Low—Oregon's death rate is 8.37 per thousand and the birth rate of the state, 15.27 per thousand on an estimated population of 848,866, according to the annual report of the state board of health, which has just been issued from the state printing office. The figures, however, are for the year 1916. Lack of help in the state board of health office and tardiness in the reporting of vital statistics from the counties of the state are mentioned as causes for the delayed publication. The report is principally occupied with statistics of births and deaths and statements from state aided charitable institutions.

Will Entertain Soldiers—D. C. Freeman, publicity agent of the North Bank system lines, and Fred Kiser, of the Kiser studio, went to Camp Lewis today to assist in a series of entertainments put on for the benefit of the soldiers at the Y. M. C. A. huts. The Portland men have been commissioned by President McCrillis of the Ad club to formally bear the greetings of that club to the cantonment. Mr. Kiser will present 150 colored views of the Northwest country, with a descriptive lecture, and Mr. Freeman will display several reels of motion pictures of scenic attractions and vacation adventures in Oregon and Washington.

Milk Supplies Examined—A thorough investigation of the milk supplied soldiers at Forts Stevens and Canby at the mouth of the Columbia river is being made by State Dairy and Food Commissioner J. D. Mickle in response to a request from the military authorities. Commissioner Mickle is conducting the examination in the form of a competitive test, having taken samples of milk from all the dairies supplying either of the forts. These samples will be subjected to both bacteriological and chemical examination.

Similarity of Names Confuses — In a recent issue The Journal published a story of the arrest of a Mrs. Harry Henderson by Constable Mark Peterson in connection with a suit subsequently filed charging alienation of affections. The article has caused much embarrassment to Mrs. Harry M. Henderson of 666 East Twentieth street, on account of the similarity of names. This Mrs. Henderson was not the one figuring in the arrest and subsequent litigation.

Will Talk on Aviation—Captain Lewis Levy, examiner of applicants for the aviation unit of Portland, and Lieutenant Frank N. Cordner, president of the local aviation examining board, will be speakers before the Rotary club at its luncheon Tuesday noon. Nominations for six trusteeships will be made. The retiring trustees are R. H. Atkinson, A. J. Bale, J. H. Joyce, H. E. Judge, Dr. E. K. Scott and Thomas J. Swivel.

Small Lads Brought Home — Russell, aged 13, and Grant, aged 10, sons of Grant Hill, 393 Grand avenue, who felt the call of the farm too strong for them several days ago and hied themselves to Joseph, Or., were returned to their home here Saturday night. They said they wanted to go to Joseph, where they could play in the barn and enjoy other bucolic sports.

Lieutenant Colonel MacMillan Returns—Lieutenant Colonel J. M. MacMillan, one of the Canadian officers touring the state under the State Council of Defense, returned to Portland Sunday. Major B. F. Edwards and Captain E. J. Gook will continue their tour with Bruce Dennis of the State Council of Defense.

Columbia River Highway Stage—Two round trips, Multnomah Falls to Portland daily. Leave Multnomah Falls 7:30 a. m. and 1:10 p. m.; leave St. Charles hotel, Portland, 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. Saturday and Sunday evening leave Multnomah Falls 6:30 p. m. and Portland 11 p. m. (Adv.)

Dr. Chapman Resting Easily—Dr. C. H. Chapman of The Journal editorial staff is reported as resting easily at the Portland Surgical hospital, where last Saturday he underwent a minor operation which was performed by Dr. Robert C. Coffey.

Ricen to Speak.—In the University of Oregon extension course on "The Russian People and Their Literature," in room H, Central library, Dr. Leo Ricen will talk tonight on the writings of Tolstoi, Garshin and Gonskarov.

Steamer Jessie Harkins for Camas, Washougal and way landings daily, except Sunday; leaves Washington street dock at 2 p. m. (Adv.)

McCarger, Bates & Lively—Fire, casualty and automobile insurance, Yeon bldg. Telephone Main 168. (Adv.)

Hole Cut in Show Window—A hole about a foot square was cut in the plate-glass window of the Portland Photo Supply company over Sunday, evidently by someone who was attempting to steal. The work was done by someone who understood the use of a glass-cutter. It is believed that the thief became frightened, as nothing was missing. Inspectors Moloney and LaSalle are investigating.

Oregon State Board of Nurse Examiners will meet to hold an examination on February 27 and 28, 9 o'clock in the morning, at the Central library, Tenth and Yamhill streets, Portland, Or. Application forms may be obtained from the secretary, Jane V. Doyle, 674 Kearney street, Portland. (Adv.)

SECRETARY M'ADOO TO ASK ALL TO PURCHASE WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

Head of Every Home in Portland Is Scheduled to Receive Order Card.

Heads of Portland homes may prepare to receive a communication from W. G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury. In it Secretary McAdoo will tell of the patriotic, economic and investment importance of War Savings Stamps.

The arguments in favor of liberal purchases of the stamps are so conclusive that the reader's impulse to go forthwith and buy is aided by a postcard attached to the letter. This card may be filled out with an order for War Savings or Thrift Stamps and sent postage free. The mail man will deliver the stamps. Thus economy is made simple and easy for every patriotic citizen.

If you have a War Savings Certificate, better have it registered if you would be insured against loss by fire or otherwise of all the savings it represents. E. C. Bradley, federal director for the Western division of the War Savings national committee, has advised Oregon headquarters that the owner of a War Savings Certificate which has been registered may recover the value of same by complying with postal regulations.

The record of the postmaster shows the number of the certificate and number of stamps attached thereto, and the whole is reimbursed thereto for principal and interest by meeting the simple requirements of the postoffice department. An unregistered certificate, however, is just the same as a coupon bond, and the holder cannot recover on it if it is lost or destroyed. He must take the same care of it as he would a $5 bill.

The beauty of the system is that it costs nothing to register a War Savings Certificate.

SERMON TOPICS

As Lucien E. Becker, organist of the Trinity Episcopal church, played the "Star Spangled Banner" at the Sunday morning service, Dr. A. A. Morrison, the rector, unveiled and blessed the large service flag, on which have been placed stars representing the young men of the congregation now in the service of the United States.

Preliminary to the unveiling, the vested choir marched down the aisle of the church, a flag bearing the cross in the lead, followed by an American flag carried by choir boys in khaki uniforms. The choir stopped at the east door, where the service flag hung, until the unveiling service had been concluded.

The church was filled to capacity, many of those in attendance being relatives and friends of the boys represented by stars on the flag.

The dedicatory service was featured by Dr. Morrison's sermon in which he quoted famous German authors to show the spirit of autocracy that exists in that country.

"Editors of newspapers can only be true and loyal to the country by cheering the president and his counsellors, instead of following the policy of picking out the small mistakes that are always likely to happen, in the conduct of a great enterprise such as the war," said Rev. J. H. Irvine in his sermon Sunday morning at the St. Johns Methodist Episcopal church.

Rev. Irvine commended The Journal for an editorial entitled "With the Hun Amuck," which appeared on January 25. After reading this editorial, he exhorted his congregation to be true and loyal "to our great, patient Lincolnlike president and to his able and trustworthy family of counsellors."

In celebration of the thirty-seventh anniversary of the Christian Endeavor society, founded in Portland, Me., an elaborate service was held at the Sunnyside Methodist church Sunday night. Miss Faye Steinmetz, president of the Multnomah County Union, spoke on "Sunnyside's Place on the Map of Oregon Endeavorism."

Special services are planned by other Portland Endeavor societies next Sunday.

"Doing things by halves is the best way to get in the hole," and "A man's heart may be right and his head wrong," were two of the many epigrams given by Dr. T. W. Lane in his sermon Sunday night at the Centenary Methodist Episcopal church. Sunday morning Lieutenant Colonel Scott of Seattle, commandant of the Salvation Army of the Northwest, filled the pulpit.

"The world is not coming to an end, it is just beginning," said Dr. W. W. Youngson, who filled the pulpit of the First Congregational church Sunday morning. Dr. Youngson is district superintendent for the Methodist Episcopal church in the Portland district. Dr. Youngson predicted an era of "great tribulations," after which he said the world would experience "a new art, a new literature and a new brotherhood."

Defeat of Germany Insures Democracy

The right of small nations to dwell in security is the fruit of democracy made safe for mankind. The ultimate defeat of Germany will secure for little Belgium and other countries of limited domain an equal opportunity for liberty.

The German invasion of Belgium was the first downward step of the domineering Prussian autocracy destined to collapse before the allied nations.

Interesting revelations of the diplomatic phase of Belgium's terrible experience will be related by Brand Whitlock in his masterly story of Belgium to be published serially in The Sunday Journal beginning Sunday, February 17.

PORTLAND YOUTH WINS PROMOTION

Lieutenant Gus E. Ledbetter

Portland friends of Gus E. Ledbetter, a well known young man of this city, have received word of his promotion to a first lieutenancy. Lieutenant Ledbetter won his commission as second lieutenant at the first officer's training camp at the Presidio and was assigned to the One Hundred Sixty-sixth depot brigade at Camp Lewis. His promotion to the grade of first lieutenant has just been announced. Lieutenant Ledbetter was a member of the national guard at the time it was mobilized for the Mexican border and was stationed with the commissary department at Camp Withycombe.

Railroad Reports Improved Business

General Conditions in Territory Served by S., P. & S. and the Oregon Trunk Lines Are More Encouraging.

A remarkable improvement in general business conditions in the territory in Oregon and Washington served by the Spokane, Portland & Seattle and Oregon Trunk railways is shown by reports just issued by officials of these lines. The reports give comparative figures on freight tonnage and freight train mileage for these lines during November, 1916, and November, 1917.

A 37 per cent increase in revenue ton miles with a 10 per cent increase in freight train miles was made in that month. There were 11,384,790 more revenue ton miles recorded for November, 1917, than for the same month in the previous year. The loaded freight car miles aggregated 1,782,400 miles, an increase of 328,033.

There was 49 per cent increase in the number of freight cars in use, though only three more locomotives were in service during November, 1917, than during the same month of 1916.

The freight car's average load in 1916 was 21.7 tons. Greater volume of business and heavier loading brought the average up to 24 tons per car, while the average daily mileage of the car was reduced from 37 to 29 miles, slower movement being due to heavier trains and more capacity carloads.

CLASS IN INVESTMENT BANKING WILL BE OPENED IN PORTLAND

Frank A. Freeman Will Conduct Course; Public as Well as Bank People Invited to Attend.

A class in investment banking will be conducted in Portland beginning about the middle of February by Frank A. Freeman, vice president of the Lumbermen's Trust company, under the auspices of the extension division of the University of Oregon. This announcement was made Saturday by Shad O. Krantz, of the faculty of the school of commerce of the university, who was a Portland visitor.

The course will be open primarily to bank clerks and bank officials but will appeal also to business men and the investment public generally. On account of the approaching sale of another issue of Liberty bonds, it is believed the demand for this kind of a course will attract a large number of students.

Students Urged to Register

While the course will be open to the public, it is expected that those students who will want to continue the work throughout the series of 15 lessons will register and thus be enabled to secure university credits.

The first lecture probably will be given Thursday evening, February 14, at 7 o'clock, in a room in the Oregon building. Both the Chamber of Commerce and American Institute of Banking have offered rooms for the purpose. These organizations are cooperating with the university.

Inasmuch as the field of industrial banking is more or less new in the Northwest the first few lessons will be elementary in their nature.

Attention to Liberty Bonds

Special attention will be given to the various issues of the Liberty bonds and to the war bonds of foreign governments which are now being sold in this country.

Later lessons will be devoted to the study of the Portland improvement bonds, highway bonds and to various other municipal securities, common in the Northwest. Bonds sold under the Bancroft act also will be given attention.

Students will be told how to analyze a bond and how to judge the security back of it.

Verses on Home Industry Are Good

Not long ago a home products essay contest was conducted among schoool children of the city and arrangements for the distribution of 30 prizes on February 8 at the hCambef of Commerce under the auspices of the Friday Round Table were announced today.

Among the contributors, two in verses are thought by Manager A. G. Clark of the Home Industry league to be very good.

Alice Beck of Sellwood school, wrote:

Buy in Oregon, help win the war,
Help can the kaiser—
That's what we're for.

Buy Oregon flour and Oregon shoes,
Buy only Oregon products,
And then we can't lose.

The verse from Wilma Smith, also a student at Sellwood school, was as follows:

Buy in Oregon—help win the war,
Repeat this, saying it o'er and o'er,
Oregon products help Oregon men
Keep on saying it again and again.

ANOTHER PROOF OF QUALITY

"My New Boss"
Said the Observant Stenographer,
"is a wonder. Longest head of any man I ever saw. Dropped his glasses and broke them, yesterday, right in the middle of a lot of dictation. I thought it was all off. Supposed, of course, he'd have to quit and put in the rest of the day peeving about it, like most of 'em do. But not he! Just reached into his desk and pulled out a reserve pair, told me to phone the Columbian to send up for his frame and put in a new lens from the prescription they already have on file—and, honestly, in less than one minute we were going on with our work as though nothing had happened. Now that't what I call real 'efficiency.'"
