CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—(I. N. S.)—Charles Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, champions of the world, and who has given thousands of dollars to the Red Cross, is in another move to aid the soldiers who are willing to go "over there" and give their lives to establish democracy.

Comiskey has instructed Secretary Harry Grabner to arrange games for as many of the army camps as possible, while the Sox are doing their spring training. Admission can be free or there can be a charge, but in the event money is taken in at the gate, this coin must go to the post exchange.

The home of the Sox prefers to send his team against a picked team of soldiers from the camp in which they play, but should that camp be minus ma-

HUGGINS PLANS TO CLEAN HOUSE WITH YANKEES

New York American Manager Contemplates Trades to Strengthen Team.

New York, Feb. 1.—(I. N. S.)—Baseball fans here will not be surprised to see Miller Huggins do some more housecleaning with the Yankees.

Huggins, who is expected to arrive here today to help make preparations for the opening of the season, has proven that he will sacrifice any number of players to get one regular of whom he is sure, and the deal which brought Pratt here from St. Louis is a case in point.

The schedule meeting of the major leagues, which will be held here February 12, may see further trades and sales. It is whispered today, and Manager Huggins is expected to have some new deals prepared by that time.

The Yankees will leave here March 8 for Macon, Ga., and will take 30 players to the camp, 15 being regulars from last year's squad.

TIGER GRID STAR IN AVIATION CORPS

Sam White, whose name has a prominent place in the Princeton hall of fame, has been accepted as a candidate for a commission in the non-flying section of the aviation corps. White was a star football and baseball player at Princeton a few years back and practically defeated Yale and Harvard single handed in 1911. In the Harvard-Princeton football battle of that year White's sensational 95-yard run enabled Princeton to beat the Crimson by an 8 to 6 score. Two weeks later, in the Yale-Princeton game, Sam made a 65-yard sprint which spelled defeat for the Bulldog by 6 to 3.

Oregon Aggies	2	0	1,000
Oregon	0	2	600
Washington	0	2	600

The University of Idaho and the Washington State college basketball teams will open a series of four games this evening at Pullman, which will go a long way toward deciding the champions of the eastern division of the Pacific Northwest basketball conference. Idaho is leading with four victories and no defeats, having won two games from the University of Montana and two from Whitman college. Washington State college won two games from Whitman and broke even in a series of two games with the University of Montana.

Washington State will journey to Moscow, Idaho, Saturday for its second game with the Gem Staters. The other two games between these two teams will be played February 19 at Pullman and February 27 at Moscow.

The eastern division schedule will close March 2.

The Oregon Aggies appear to be the best team in the western division. Their double victory over the University of Washington last week on the Washington floor was a huge surprise. The Aggies will play the Oregon team tonight and Saturday night at Corvallis and, according to reports from Eugene, there is little hope of the inexperienced Lemon-Yellow team winning the games.

Outspying German Spies

A Remarkable Expose of Germany's Spy System in the United States Will Appear in Next Sunday's Journal

The story of how John R. Rathom, editor of the Providence Journal, and his staff, trapped the German spies who for many months carried on a reign of terror in the United States, reads like a thrilling detective tale.—This information was furnished to President Wilson, thus enabling the secret service to arrest dozens of plotters.

Some of the Things Rathom Did

Erected a wireless station where, day and night for five months, his operators "listened in" on the German wireless station at Sayville, L. I.

Deciphered messages that implicated three prominent German-Americans in dynamite plots—forced these men under threats of exposure to secure positions for Rathom's men in the German embassy, the Austrian embassy, various German and Austrian consular offices and also in the Hamburg-American Steamship offices, a hotbed for German intrigue.

These reporters secretly opened Count von Bernstorff's mail and learned of dynamite and arson plots.

As supposedly loyal Germans, they visited the home of a prominent German-American in Brooklyn, in company with the German officers, Von Papen and Boy-Ed, and listened to the spy who dynamited the Dupont Powder Works, killing 31 men, tell his horrible story.

You will learn how the conspirator, Boy-Ed, made love to one of Rathom's women reporters, who was employed in the Austrian consulate, with bad results for Germany.

Rathom will tell how his men uncovered the great plot originated in San Francisco for the purpose of starting a revolt in India. Several of the conspirators are now in jail.

A Providence Journal reporter, posing as a faithful German, "sat in" at a conference where plans were arranged for wrecking the German steamships interned in the United States.

AN EXCERPT FROM RATHOM'S STORY COVERING WIRELESS DISCOVERIES

"When I was able to show President Wilson that in one week little Anna, the daughter of a very prominent New York banker—a German-American so-called—had died six times in eight days, and that on each occasion her body had been placed in a different named room in a house, and she had died of a different disease, and was to be buried next day in a different named cemetery beside a different named uncle—I asked him if he believed that little Anna did die six times in eight days, and he said he did not. And then we proceeded to give the government an immense mass of names positively proving that several hundred very prominent Germans and German Americans in this country had been acting for four or five months as treasonable correspondents of the German foreign office."
