FIELDER JONES BESTED MILLER HUGGINS FROM PLAYER DESCRIPTION

Some of Yankees Who Report to St. Louis Americans May Do Some Good, but Pratt Is Thought to Be Slipping and Plank Has Probably Pitched His Last Game.

By H. C. Hamilton

TEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(U. P.)—There is only one chance that the Browns can gain any benefit, viewing it from a purely playing viewpoint, through the deal which sent Derrill Pratt and Eddie Plank to the Yankees, and Leslie Nunamaker, Nick Cullop, Urban Shocker, Fritz Maisel and Joe Gedeon to the Joe Gedeon may yet live up to expectations and come through with major league ability. Urban Shocker may yet turn out to be a star right hander-the fate predicted for him when he left the International league and graduated into the American.

Cullop and Maisel may be classed as dead wood in figuring their worth to the Yankees. When Maisel first entered the American league his marvelous speed and ability to run bases excited critics to praise. It was then believed that he some day woull learn to hit. If such had been the case Maisel would have been a star of the first magnitude, even though his fielding in the inner sections was not all that could have been desired. Maisel may take up a regular station at third base for the Browns. If he does he will be just filling in, something the Browns have been doing | Offer; Beyond Suggestion From for ages.

Nick Cullop, graduating from the Federal league to the American, had a wonderful streak of luck with the Yankees for a long time. He won 12 games in a row in the 1916 season. It has been a matter of general discussion in the American league, however, that Nick's greatest ability consisted of a good prayer and marvelous luck. This was part-ly proven last summer, when he was an in-and-outer of the rankest sort. Shocker May Get Chance

Urban Shocker has given plenty of encouragement to those followers of baseball who predicted that he would amount to something some day. He is a young spitball flinger, a youth who established records in the International league before he got into faster company. So many pitchers have been roosting in the Yankee balliwick that Shocker has been given little opportunity to prove just what he can do. Under the guidance of Fielder Jones, and with a shortage of pitchers in the Brownie fold Shocker may get the chance to develop.

Leslie Nunamaker is a heavy hitter and a most capable receiver. Walters, Alexander and Ruel, all youngsters, are on the Yankee staff, however, and Miller Huggins doubtless figured they would be of more benefit to him than a veteran with the years of Nunamaker.

Both Clubs Will Benefit But, as Colonel Ruppert said in announcing the trade, the benefit is is great to one club as another. Derrill Pratt, the most important commodity the Yankees gained in exchange for the parcel of athletes, a slipping fast. He can't possibly he rated as good as when he was the mainstay of the Brown hitters. Time was when Pratt was considered one of the best of cleanup hitters, but that was several years ago. For the last two seasons his litting hasn't been anything of seious consideration of opposition

For pure fielding ability the Yankees would have been wise to string along with Joe Gedeon, for there are few better fielding second basemen in the game than the young graduate of the Pacific Coast league.

Plank Probably Means It Eddie Plank probably means just what he said when he announced he would not play this summer. He's getting old, although he has still left many good gan,es in his left arm. He would have filled a want for the Yanks.

"In justice to Mr. Willie Ritchie, now boxing instructor in this division, it should be shown that he has made no claim for exemption; he voluntarily enlisted in July and was honorably discharged before being appointed boxing instructor.

"My statement as to his greater usefulness if he were not exempted from future draft was called forth by the efforts of others to have me take action for his exemption. Mr. Ritchie has been innocently placed in a false position through the mis-directed efforts of his friends."

ROUND-UP CITY MAY ASK CLUB

Pendleton Makes No Definite Outsider, McCredie Ignorant.

THERE has been no offer on the part of the Pendleton Reund-Up association or the Pendleton baseball fans to Judge McCredie to have the Portland ball club train there this spring, although the judge would be willing to send the club to the inland city, pro-vided terms were enticing enough.

A man named Hicks called on the judge yesterday and asked him for an opinion relative to training at Pendleton. Hicks, who is in the railway business, suggested that Pendleton might pay all the training expenses of the Portland club on condition that the as-sociation there keep all the receipts. Alexander Leading Twirler MOST EFFECTIVE BOXMAN * * Walt.Johnson Placed Second

By Jack Velock New York, Feb. 2.—(I. N. S.)—The method of ranking pitchers for their effectiveness is fair enough. It does not belittle the perform-ances of the big winning pitcher, though he has allowed opponents many runs. It does help the pitcher who has lost many games through fielding bobbles behind him.

There were just 15 pitchers out of the 100 odd hurlers in the majors last season who allowed less than two runs per nine innings pitched, and naturally enough they were for the most part outstanding stars.

Are Most Consistent. But though the fairness of rank-ing pitchers for their effectiveness in one season is appreciated, it is after all the pitcher who can do the most work and turn in the most victories with consistent regularity who is most valuable to any ball club. The more a pitcher works the greater will be his victories and losses. But it is for such pitchers that the managers are constantly hunting.

The star hurlers of the big leagues number, perhaps, 20 or more. But the outstanding nine selected here are far and above rivals in consis-tency. Grover Cleveland Alexander, through his wonderful pitching last season and for several seasons prior to that, stands out as the greatest of them all. He turned in 30 victories last season and was strikeout king of the lot. He is placed at the head of the list. Babe Buth Forth

Walter Johnson, playing with a losing club, worked like a Turk last year. He has done the same in years gone by. He is still a great pitcher, regardless of his losses. He is ranked second. Eddie Cicotte, the wonderful comeback, is ranked third. Cicotte, apparently, has just found

Babe Ruth stands fourth in the estimation of the writer. His classification will not be agreed upon by more than one in 20 fans, if by many. Another left-hander, Ferdie Schupp, is placed fifth among the great pitchers. Schupp has risen to fame in two short seasons. Sixth on the list comes Jim Bagby of the Indians, with Carl Mays of Boston, seventh: Jim Vaughn of the Cubs, eighth, and Fred Toney of the Reds, Following is the list of rankings, together with the 1917 performances of the pitchers:
