

LA GRANDE GUARD IS READY TO PREVENT INVASION BY I. W. W.

Anticipating Visit, 75 Men, Heavily Armed, Patrol Streets All Night.

La Grande, Or., March 7.—With bayonets fixed and rifles loaded, the La Grande home guards, about 75 strong, were out last night patrolling the city's industries in anticipation of a visit by the I. W. W. The finding of a letter Tuesday evening purporting to have been written by Industrialist members stationed here, to the headquarters of the order, was the cause of the call to duty.

The letter said the Industrialists were ready to cut off the city's water supply and fire the city's industries and asked for further instructions.

March 6 was the date mentioned in the letter as the time for action. Members of the guard were hurried to the city reservoir, the Palmer Lumber company plant, the rail yards and various other points about the city.

Before calling out the guard, a consultation was held between Sheriff Warnick and officials of the city, the railroad company, the lumber company and other industries in which the move was deemed advisable as a precautionary measure against any attempt by the Industrialists to carry out the plans set forth in the letter. It is known that many Industrialists have been gathering in this section of late, two of their number only recently having been arrested with a considerable quantity of incendiary literature in their possession, and the city is prepared to act in any emergency.

I. W. W. Reported Diminishing
Washington, March 7.—(I. N. S.)—The I. W. W. is gradually diminishing and is segregated almost in its entirety to the state of Washington. Secretary of Labor Wilson said today that the I. W. W. who happens to be an alien, the secretary said, and in cases where the person is an American, punishment will be turned over to the police.

HUNS FORM RUSS INTO CONSCRIPT DIVISIONS

of 160 barons and landowners, held as hostages near Pskov.

Petrograd, March 6.—(U. P.)—(Night)—The Moscow soviet voted overwhelmingly today to ratify the peace treaty with Germany, following a visit from Zinovieff and others. This is accepted as indicating Premier Lenin's "steam roller" may succeed.

This is not the pan-soviet council of workmen, peasants, soldiers and Comrades, called to meet in Moscow, March 12, to pass on ratification of the treaty.

Petrograd, March 7.—(U. P.)—A conspiracy of students and officers to overthrow the Bolshevik government resulted in a raid on a house near the winter palace. Six students were shot.

German troops, after raiding Rada government forces in the occupation of Kieff, moved toward Zhitomir (100 miles west of Kieff, in Volhynia).

General Petelur, leading a Ukrainian detachment, sought to cut off the Russians from the central province. At Komotop (150 miles northeast of Kieff) in the province of Volhynia, heavy forces of revolutionary troops defeated Petelur, compelling him to retreat. The Germans did not participate in this action.

Francis Moves Toward Siberia
Petrograd, March 7.—(U. P.)—Ambassador Francis, writing from Volhynia to the Norwegian envoy here, urged the latter to afford every protection to Americans in Petrograd.

According to the commissariat for foreign affairs, Francis and his staff left Petrograd for the city of Vologda, at that name, 65 miles east of Vologda and less than 300 miles from the Siberian border.

Despite the signing of peace with Germany, the Russian government is removing its valuables from the capital. The foreign office is moving to Nijni-Novgorod, capital of the province of that name, 275 miles east of Moscow. Women, children, aged persons and invalids continue their exodus.

Defense Triumvirate Named
Commissaries Bonchbruyevitch, Schutke and Pronchik have been named a defensive triumvirate.

The newspaper Pravda, supporting Premier Lenin, says: "Junkerism is flaunting its reactionary banner with the obvious design of destroying the revolution and restoring the bourgeois regime. A Russian counter offensive now would afford the Junkers an excuse for completing the destruction of the revolution."

"Peace is unfortunate, but does not matter, as the struggle against imperialism continues under changed forms."

The Novaya Zembla, internationalist Socialist organ, demands a "holy war."

The Pravda's urgings against a Russian counter offensive tend to confirm confidential advice received in Washington and carried by the United Press yesterday that Premier Lenin has agreed to deliver Russia into Germany's hands. The Pravda supports the premier.

Plot Against Russia Is Seen
Both the Bolshevik and anti-Bolshevik newspapers regard Hertling's, Balfour's and Sonnino's latest speeches as an indication of a plan by the western belligerents to conclude a compromise peace at Russia's expense.

Japan's preparation, with the allies' consent and possible cooperation, to occupy Siberia, is regarded as a blow against the Russian revolution. The Bolsheviks point out that it proves the existence of an international conspiracy to wreck the soviet government with Germany permitted to do "the dirtiest part of the work."

Move Would Not Surprise
Washington, March 7.—(I. N. S.)—A dispatch dated March 4 was received from Ambassador Francis today stating that he, together with the Siamese and Brazilian minister, had established headquarters in an unused clubhouse in Vologda. It is understood that conditions in that city are not very comfortable and it will cause no surprise should the ambassador move to a more convenient location. Mr. Francis stated that certain American publicity agents and Red Cross agents remained in Petrograd.

The state department also received a dispatch from Stockholm today saying that the British charge at Petrograd with 60 members of his staff, had reached Helsinki on March 4 en route to Stockholm. Because the Gulf of Finland is blocked by German warships, it is necessary that the entire trip be made by rail.

Many Fleeing Petrograd
Copenhagen, March 7.—(I. N. S.)—There is a heavy exodus of all classes from Petrograd toward Moscow and the railway lines are all congested to the point of suffocation, said a dispatch from Petrograd today.

It added that the city is full of rumors and that high excitement prevails. One report is that the Germans have renewed their advance from Narva, while another is that the Bolshevik government may repudiate the peace treaty signed with the Germans at Brest-Litovsk.

The dispatch failed to state whether or not Premier Lenin and Foreign Minister Trotsky had gone to Moscow, but it is presumed that if they have not already departed they soon will do so. Both are to take part in the all-Russian congress which is scheduled to open at Moscow on Tuesday to consider the peace situation.

Ensign Krylenko Resigns
Petrograd, March 7.—(U. P.)—Ensign Krylenko, commander-in-chief of the Bolshevik armies, has resigned on account of the differences between the commissaries regarding political and military questions, the newspaper Nova Yajuzn declared today.
