

PARKROSE SCHOOL FIRST TO BECOME 100 P. C. W. S. S.

New Star Spangled Banner Is Presented to Institution by the State Director of Campaign.

WASCO TAKES BIG JUMP

Portland Is Exceeded in Volume of Sales for First Time During Campaign by Up-State.

A new Star Spangled Banner floats today from the staff atop the Parkrose school building.

Because Parkrose school, 111 strong, was the first in the state to go over the $20 per capita quota in sale and purchase of Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps.

The new flag was awarded for service rendered by Uncle Sam, by State Director C. S. Jackson, and official presentation was made Wednesday afternoon at a patriotic service at the school.

George W. Stapleton made the formal presentation in a forceful address to the pupils. Response was made on behalf of the school by John Blackwell, pupil, Judge Stapleton was introduced by A. P. Grubb, principal of the school.

Wasco county on Tuesday in the sales of War Savings Stamps distanced all counties of Oregon, including Multnomah county, according to the figures compiled by State Director C. S. Jackson.

Portland is listed as the first day in the campaign that any county has exceeded the sales of Portland. Wasco county yesterday was credited with sales of $47,491 worth of stamps, while Portland and Multnomah county sold $6,714.93 and the big sale in Wasco county placed it in third place in total sales.

Thinks He May Be Cousin of Trotsky

Oregon City Mill Worker, Native of West Prussia, Bears Same Name—Donated Field Glasses to Marines.

Although born in the same province as Leon Trotsky, and bearing resemblance both in name and appearance, Charles Trotsky of 1302 Thirteenth street, Oregon City, who donated a pair of long range field glasses to the United States marine corps recently, is not certain whether he is related to the present leader of the Bolshevik party in Russia.

Charles Trotsky was born in Proboisch, West Prussia, in 1855. In 1878 he came to the United States, landed at New York city. A few years later he came to Oregon and has resided in and near Oregon City since.
