

QUEST LAFOLLETTE, URGED IN SENATE

Mississippi Senator Reads Editorials on Wisconsin Election in Senate.

Washington, March 29.—(U. S. S.)—Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi exploded another bombshell in the senate Thursday by demanding the expulsion of Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, who has been under fire on disloyalty charges. The senate had subuded and proceeded to the consideration of the Indian appropriation bill when Senator Williams arose and requested that several editorials on the Wisconsin election be inserted in the record. Senator Ashurst of Arizona, in charge of the Indian appropriation bill, jumped to his feet and shouted, "Mr. President, I give notice that if there is any more of the miserable twaddle that was displayed here yesterday I will move for an adjournment in order that the country may know that the senate of the United States has descended to so low a point that it cannot transact its routine business."

Senator Williams persisted. Senator McCumber objected to the insertion of the articles and Senator Williams then proceeded to read them. "Will the senator read them so I can hear?" Senator McCumber asked. "I will endeavor to read them so the angels in heaven can hear," answered Senator Williams. "It is evident from the laughter in the galleries that some of the angels did hear," Senator McCumber replied. After reading the editorial, Senator Williams said: "That, of course, refers to the senator from Wisconsin, Mr. La Follette, who ought to be expelled from this body."

Although Senator La Follette's impeachment has been demanded from many parts of the country this is the first time it has been demanded on the floor of the senate by one of his colleagues. Disloyalty charges against Senator La Follette have been under investigation by the senate privileges and elections committee since last fall.

GERMANS DO NOT WORRY JAPANESE

Diplomat Coming From Russia Does Not Fear Aggression in the Far East.

Tokio, March 29.—(U. S. S.)—The Japanese ambassador to Russia, who has just arrived from Petrograd, declared Thursday that he did not fear German aggression in the Far East. He added: "Germany plans to crush Russia by an offensive in Siberia, but to concentrate all her efforts in France, meanwhile securing, if possible, the food accumulated in Ukraine. The soviets are gaining enormous power in Russia," the diplomat went on. He said that German prisoners of war had been influenced by the Bolshevik movement and that he is convinced they will become propagandists upon their return home.

"Germany might destroy the Lenin government, but Bolshevism will permeate the world," continued the ambassador. He criticized the maliciousness of part of the Japanese press in its recent discussion of the question of Japanese intervention in Siberia. It was when asked regarding the possible dispatch of a Japanese expedition that the diplomat said that he did not fear German aggression in the far east. The ambassador was accompanied by a diplomatic party including 36 Americans. In the course of his talk the Japanese diplomat asserted that diplomatic relations with Russia have not been broken, but that they remain friendly.

David R. Francis, the American ambassador to Russia and other representatives of the allies, stopped off at Volodga to continue their negotiations with the Russian government.
