Morrison-Beatty Engagement Announced

News Comes as Complete Surprise at Tea Given by Miss Jean Mackenzie.

THE formal announcement of the engagement of Miss Jean Morrison and Major John Caben Beatty was told this afternoon at a tea given by Miss Jean Mackenzie at her residence in North Twentieth street. The news comes as a complete surprise, though the engagement is one of many months standing. Miss Morrison is a notably beautiful and charming girl, popular in society and one of the most active workers in the Red Cross and Girls' National Honor Guard. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Morrison and was graduated from St. Helen's hall. She is a sister of Mrs. Thomas Sharp of Prineville and Mrs. Donald Green of Portland, and her younger brother, Robert Morrison, recently received the military appointment to West Point. She is a member of Waverly Country club and the Junior League.

Major Beatty is now stationed at the Philadelphia arsenal. He is a West Pointer, his home town being Bristol, Pa., where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Caben Beatty, now reside. He is well known to Portland people, particularly at the time the Vancouver line of polo teams played the Waverly Country club.

The wedding is set for the early part of June.

Hallcock-Spencer Wedding

The marriage Sunday afternoon of Miss Lillian Spencer and Blaine Hallcock at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary Crockett Spencer, in Wellesley Court apartments, is of interest to a wide circle of friends of the couple. Rev. George Greer of Dundee, Or., an uncle of the bride, officiated, being the members of the two families being present. The arrangements were most simple, the couple being unattended. Mrs. Hallcock is both pretty and charming and is possessed of unusual talents as an artist. Her illustrations and designs have appeared frequently in women's magazines. Mr. Hallcock is assistant attorney of the O-W. R. & N. company, and is at present assigned to the state Liberty loan campaign as assistant state campaign manager. He is well known in Eastern Oregon, where his family formerly resided, as well as in Portland.

Mrs. Burrell to Open Home

Society in Oakland is regretting the conclusion of the series of four operatic recitals which have been given in the homes of social leaders there during March by the New Zealand musician and lecturer, Sydney Francis. The recital, Mr. Francis, "Examiner" says, "Mr. Hobson has been lionized and extensively feted by the members of the local smart set, and his departure is a matter of genuine regret. The opera recitals have been quite the smartest and most successful affairs of the season. The 'Tribune' and other papers speak of the musician in such terms as 'the much idolized New Zealander.' Mr. Hobson arrived in Portland on his road to New York a day or two ago and is a visitor at the Portland Hotel. He will be heard here in a series of four opera recitals at private homes. Mrs. Walter E. Burrell opening her handsome home for the first recital. Mr. Hobson sits at the piano and gives both story and music.

Sanderson-Henningsen

Lieutenant Wilbur B. Sanderson of Vancouver barracks and Miss Anne Henningsen of Fresno, Cal., were married Saturday at high noon at the Methodist parsonage, Rev. Joshua Stanfield officiating. A wedding breakfast was served following the ceremony at the Multnomah hotel. The table was centered with a little statue of liberty and red and white carnations and bouquets of blue ribbon. The guests included Miss Pauline Deierling of Vancouver, W. J. Watson of Berkeley, Cal., and several officers from Vancouver barracks.

WOMAN SAVED MUCH SUFFERING

By Taking Friend's Advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

West Plains, Mo.—"I was all run down in health, had indigestion and terrible cramps every month so I was unable to do anything. I had tried every doctor in West Plains, also every medicine, but I could think of nothing without relief. One day when I was suffering greatly a friend was at my house and said, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' So I did, and through it I found relief from my suffering and I really believe it saved my life. It does not seem as though I can say enough in praise of this wonderful medicine for the health it has brought me."—Miss Cora Lee Hall, West Plains, Mo.

Perhaps it may seem an extravagant statement to say that this great remedy saved a life; but women like Mrs. Hall, to whom it has brought health, appreciate the danger and suffering they have escaped too well to doubt it! All who suffer should try it. Why risk life and health without it?

For special advice, write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

MISS JEAN MORRISON, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Morrison, whose engagement to Major John Caben Beatty, U. S. A., was formally announced at a tea given in her honor this afternoon by Miss Jean Mackenzie.

Bed Time Tales

BY DR. WARREN G. PARTRIDGE

Jimmy Coon in a Submarine

WHEN little Fred's Uncle Tom, the Captain of the Submarine, came up to talk with Jimmy Coon, who was standing on top of a big box on the dock, Jimmy wanted to be very polite. He bowed politely to the Captain, and then he did the funniest thing you ever saw, for he took off the Captain's hat!

You see, Jimmy Coon had no cap of his own. So Jimmy took off the cap of the other fellow, when he bowed, and gave a little squeal that means, "Good morning." And Uncle Tom and the sailors thought it was the best trick they ever saw; and they laughed loudly and long. And Uncle Tom said, "Little Fred, would you like to take a little ride in the Submarine?"

And it didn't take little Fred long to answer. "Yes, indeed, Uncle Tom, I am just dying to go. And can I bring Jimmy Coon along?"

"Of course, you can," said Uncle Tom. "What will Jimmy Coon do next? He is a wonderful traveler. And do you know that when they were all on board, the little boat steamed on top of the water for some distance; and then, suddenly, it dived and swam under water. Little Fred and Jimmy Coon had the best time in their lives, steaming along fast, under the water!"

And Jimmy Coon said to himself, "I must tell Sammy Muskrat about this nice boat; for the Captain must have learned this trick from Sammy Muskrat; for it is just like Sammy, for it goes on top of the water part of the time, and then it dives, and swims under water just like Sammy; and then it bobs up on top of the water, again, just like Sammy Muskrat, to get a long breath of air!"

And Jimmy Coon got up on the seats, and stood up on his hind legs and looked out of the portholes. You see the portholes were water-tight, and covered with thick glass. And Jimmy Coon was awfully excited to see the creatures and fish in the sea.

And Jimmy Coon gave an awful jump, and he said to himself, "My, that's the biggest crawfish I ever saw in my life. How I wish I could catch him for my breakfast, as I used to do in Mirror Pond!" It was a very laughable thing for Jimmy Coon to say; for the creature Jimmy Coon saw was a big lobster; and Jimmy Coon thought it was a crawfish!

Then Jimmy Coon jumped again, saying to himself, "My, that's the biggest horned pout I ever saw in my life!" Now this was awfully funny, too, for it was a sword-fish that Jimmy saw, way down in the ocean, as that submarine steamed under water! But you see this was the first time Jimmy Coon ever had a vacation at the seashore; and it was the first time he was ever on a submarine!

And Jimmy Coon said to himself, "I must tell Sammy Muskrat about this nice boat; for the Captain must have learned this trick from Sammy Muskrat; for it is just like Sammy, for it goes on top of the water part of the time, and then it dives, and swims under water just like Sammy; and then it bobs up on top of the water, again, just like Sammy Muskrat, to get a long breath of air!"

Oregon Ahead in Welfare Work

Delegate to Woman's Committee of National Defense Council Makes Report.

By Vella Winner

MRS. FRED G. SCHILKE, president of the Oregon Congress of Mothers, presided at the meeting of the board of directors Saturday and gave a report of her recent trip to Washington D. C. to attend a conference of state chairmen of the child welfare section of the Women's committee of the Council of National Defense. In the course of her report, Mrs. Schilke said: "I never before realized how far ahead Oregon is in the advanced movements of the day, especially along lines of welfare. To every suggestion that came up for improving conditions of the child, I could say to the convention, 'Oregon already has that.' For instance here are a few of the conditions brought out: There are four counties in Montana where fresh milk is absolutely unavailable, every drop of it is being consumed to bring the producer better prices; Nebraska has a law which makes it obligatory to have only 40 days of school a year. Oregon is the only state in the Union so far as reported that has a Parents' Educational Bureau. The biggest thing done by the conference was to pass a resolution asking President Wilson to issue a proclamation making the child welfare work a war issue. The state chairmen from Illinois, New York and Oregon were appointed on that committee. Oregon child welfare workers and war workers will hold a conference soon to outline plans for 'baby year,' which begins April 6."

In addition, Mrs. Schilke, who is from La Grande, there were present from out of town Mrs. Robert Marsh of Pendleton, and Mrs. Robert McMurphy of Eugene, a member of the school board in that city, who, after the board meeting left for Spokane to attend the meeting of the Inland Empire State Teachers association.

The Progressive Woman's league held its regular social meeting at Hotel Portland blue room, Tuesday, March 26, at 2:30 p. m. The program opened with a violin solo by Prof. Walter A. Bacon, accompanied by Miss Sonnenman. Will H. Hornbrook, ex-minister to Siam, gave an interesting address on Siam. Vocal solos by Miss Sadie Hornbrook and Mrs. E. P. Duke were much appreciated. Miss Ida Jontz spoke on "Our Country Girlhood." A business meeting followed.

The Progressive Woman's league is the first club in the city to purchase a Liberty Bond. Four new members were voted upon and accepted. Mrs. L. B. Nielsen, chairman of the Red Cross Auxiliary, made a fine report of the Belgian relief work, having gathered 55,000 pounds of clothing. The league also sent "Over the Top" in the Salvation Army drive, collecting $2,544.85. A resolution was passed endorsing the candidacy of Mrs. L. T. Hadden, for the legislature. The auxiliary of the league will meet for Red Cross work, Monday, at 12:30, at Meier & Frank's store.

The Women's Auxiliary to the Railway Mail association met at the home of Mrs. Luther Hunt, 7619 Fifty-fourth avenue southeast, Thursday afternoon, Mrs. A. A. Persinger assisting. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. H. C. Felt. Roll call was answered with Irish witticisms. Seventeen members and two visitors were present. Mrs. Dunn gave a fine report of work done for the Red Cross. Mrs. Fullman gave several readings. A card party was given at the home of Mrs. C. H. Miller for the Ladies Auxiliary to the Railway Mail association and their husbands. Five hundred and music was enjoyed by the 36 present.

Easter Throongs Crowd City Churches

Impressive and Inspiring Sermons Celebrate Annual Religious Event.

AT ALL churches, large and small, Protestant and Catholic, Easter was celebrated by impressive and inspiring sermons. The attendance was large, and the change of time, even at the early morning services, kept none away.

At St. Stephens pro-cathedral Bishop Walter T. Sumner conducted the service and preached the Easter sermon, urging his hearers to get a strong vision of Christ, a risen Christ.

"Now is the time when we all should become strong and firm in a belief in God—and in the resurrection," he said. "Do you think that the boys fighting at the front see no vision beyond the trench? Do you believe they have been baptized with a faith that is a reality and a support to them? Let us get this vision, the vision of a risen Christ."

At the Catholic cathedral Archbishop Christie was celebrant and Father E. V.

O'Hara preached the sermon, with Rev. E. J. Cunningham as assistant priest; Rev. W. E. Cunningham, C. S. C. deacon; Rev. A. DeLozier, subdeacon; Rev. John Sheridan and Rev. A. Carmody, deacons of honor.

At the Church of the Madeleine solemn high mass was sung at 7 o'clock. The celebrant was Rev. George Thompson, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. Francis Romer and Rev. George Campbell.

The Oregon commandery, Knights Templar, attended the morning services at the First Methodist church in a body, making an impressive appearance in their plumed hats and uniforms. Special music was heard in every church, many having musical programs alone in the evening.

A special Easter service was held Sunday afternoon in the Odd Fellows Home, East Thirty-second and Holgate streets. Thomas F. Ryan was the principal speaker.

"Easter records the greatest victory of all time—the victory of the good over bad, right over wrong, God over evil, and life over death," said Dr. Joshua Stanfield, Sunday, speaking at an interdenominational mass meeting held in the Auditorium.

"The worst passions and machinations of men may seem to succeed for a time, and they may crowd and crush and crucify and bury the son of man, but he will not stay dead. The last of the Son of God is not down into a grave, but up to immortality and conquering all life."

"Humanity is in its greatest Armageddon. The issue at stake now is kull-

tur or Christ. German frightfulness or human freedom, the iron rule of the Hun or freedom and self-government for men. We have no doubt as to the outcome, for the cause of humanity is the cause of God."

"The Message of the Resurrection" was the sermon by Rev. William A. Waldo, new pastor of the White Temple, Sunday morning, before a large audience. He touched upon a new aspect of the exaltation of woman.

"Mary Magdalene was the first who saw the Savior after his resurrection," said Dr. Waldo. "It was a woman who was the first in transgression; it was a woman who was first to behold Christ risen from the dead."

"This was a moment of wonderful joy to her—she, the first to see her Lord and to comprehend his resurrection. Why was Mary the first to be entrusted with the message? It seems to me, the answer is clear. It was because she loved him most. Love remains at the pulchritude. Love speeds quickly with the message when it is delivered."

Flags, palms and Easter lilies were used to make the reception-room of the Multnomah hotel fitting for the special Easter service of the Wilbur Methodist church Sunday morning. Dr. W. T. Kerr, acting pastor, and Dr. H. J. Talbott, dean of Kimball church and former pastor of the Taylor Street church, conducted the meeting.

Special music was provided at the service by Misses Harriet and Florence Leach, who sang "The Holy City" and other appropriate numbers. Fred S. Peirce sang "Hosannah." A violin solo
