VOTE IN MISS HUNT CASE IS PROTESTED

Other reasonable sum should be retained in public service which will not stand solidly behind the government in this war.

So far as I am personally concerned the incident will be closed until the Germans have been driven out of France and the Kaiser is put under the ground.

Holman Opposes Stand. Similar expression is given by County Commissioner Rufus C. Holman, ex-officio member of the library board.

Explaining his view of the incident Mr. Ayer said: "In sustaining the position taken by Miss Hunt we undertook to perpetuate the spirit of individual freedom of thought which actuated the founders of our government."

Incident Called Unfortunate. We found nothing in the record of Miss Hunt's stewardship at the library which would reflect discredit upon her.

Miss Hunt Makes Statement. Miss Hunt, in her own defense, made the following statement to the board of directors:

"Some of the statements that appeared in an evening paper of April 1 are true, but they are so stated that the general impression given of my opinions and attitude are incorrect."

the statement of the other warring nations. "His aims and ideals and those of other earnest people with whom I disagree are my aims and ideals. The disagreement is purely an honest difference of opinion about the methods which will best achieve those ends."

BRITISH FIGHT ON UNTIL GUNS TOO HOT TO HOLD

By William Philip Simms. With the British Armies in France, April 12.—(U. P.)—From La Bassee to Hollebeke, near Ypres, General von Quast's army, with the most desperate determination, hid not in his pressing department tonight today.

As this is ebbled, the battle's swirls reach from about Hollebeke southwestward past Wachte and Neuve Eglise to near Bailleul, toward Bethune and toward Ginevilly hill. These were their immediate objectives, but they had hope of ultimately turning Vimy, Arras and the mountain-like ridge of Notre Dame de Lorette.

Greatly outnumbered, the British, with prodigious rapidity, fired their rifles until they were too hot to hold, and operated their Lewis guns incessantly. Artillerymen, stripped to the waist, blazed away point-blank at targets that couldn't be missed. It is believed the Somme front is becoming feverish. Further fighting is likely.

Thursday afternoon and night the battle boiled around Vielle-Chapelle, Ee-cures and Steenwerck, in positions open fighting on the flat lands. The British blazed away from behind hedges and poured machine-gun fire into the advancing Germans from improvised positions in ditches. In mutual counter-attacks the opposing forces clashed in open cultivated fields.

Huns Claim 20,000 Prisoners

London, April 12.—(U. P.)—Field Marshal Haig, in his night report, admitted the British were being pressed back slowly in continuous fighting in the neighborhood of the Bailleul railway. The enemy made slight progress between the Lawe and the Clarence rivers. The British positions were maintained at other points.

Heavy fighting has continued at Neuve Eglise and in the neighborhood of Wolvengien, where the Germans have been directing strong pressure in an effort to shake the hold of the British upon the Messines ridge.

Lad Peels Bark to Buy Pig; Sells Pig to Buy W. S. Stamps

The Thrift Editor of The Journal wants to publish little stories of how you, and members of your family and your friends are earning and saving money to buy Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps to help Uncle Sam win the war.

For instance this is how Keith White of Seio, Oregon, does it. He writes: "During the summer of 1917 I peeled chittim bark and earned money enough to buy a pig. It cost $5.10 and weighed 30 pounds. I bought it in September and fed it apples, potatoes, skim-milk and some grain."
