FORMER OWNER OF SEALS IS COMING NORTH FOR A VISIT WITH M'CREIDIE

Henry Berry of San Francisco Wires He Plans Visit to Northwest; May Be Interested in P. C. I. L.; Judge to View Team at Pendleton; Bogart Will Play With Aberdeen.

HENRY BERRY, the California baseball magnate, who recently disposed of his interest in the San Francisco Coast league team to Charley Graham and his associates, contemplates a visit to the northwest. Judge McCredie, the portly owner of the Portland Beavers, received a telegram from Berry Monday, asking if the judge would be in Portland Friday, but the judge wired Berry to postpone his visit until next week.

Whether Berry's visit is a pleasure trip or whether it means that Berry is anxious to hook up with one of the northwest clubs is not known, but as all things are uncertain these days, it would not be surprising if the former owner of the Seals was not casting around for a P. C. I. L. league franchise, with a view of making the Coast league an eight club circuit next season.

When Berry sold his stock in the San Francisco club he announced that he was through with baseball, but still, his coming north may have some connection with the national pastime.

Clark Not for Beavers
Judge McCredie will leave Thursday night for Pendleton, where he will look over Manager Fisher's aggregation of ball tossers. The judge is enthusiastic over the prospects of Fisher turning out a winning combination and he is anxious to see the players in action. Judge Mac will return Monday.

According to information received from the East, there is little chance of Pitcher E. E. Clark joining the Beavers. Clark dickered with the Des Moines club after the Central league disbanded last season and the national commission has ruled that he must report to that club.

Empire Are Signed
Umpire Mullen, who officiated in the International league a couple of seasons ago, has been signed to handle the indicator in the Pacific Coast International league this season. Mullen is the second umpire Blawett has signed, the other being Bedford, who worked in the International league last season.

Bedford and Mullen have been ordered to report at Seattle April 27 for instructions and assignments for the opening of the league season April 30.

Eddie Bogart, the local infielder who is working at the Sipple & Baldwin shipyard, will join the Aberdeen club of the Pacific Coast International league, according to reports current in local baseball circles. Bogart played with the Butte team last fall. It is reported that the Wolfers will rejoin the Vancouver club.

Red Sox 7, Athletics 1
Boston, April 16.—(I. N. S.)—The Red Sox opened up the 1918 season by developing the Athletics 7 to 1. Babe Ruth was the hero of the occasion, holding the Mackensies to four scattered hits. The Harrows brigade hammered Myers hard and after the early frames never were in trouble. The game, while marked by quite a few errors, was snappy and enjoyable for some 10,000 fans who took advantage of a perfect day.

Grover Alexander May Join the Navy
Chicago, April 16.—(I. N. S.)—Grover Alexander, star pitcher of the National league, visited the Great Lakes naval station yesterday and spent an hour in conference with Captain Moffett. Whether he agreed to come in or is going to take his chances with the draft board of his home town was not learned, but previous to making the trip to the station he declared he'd rather join the navy than the army. He looked over the quarters at Lake Bluff and expressed satisfaction over his visit. It was learned that should he become a member of the navy he could gain leave of absence until fall and thereby finish the season with the Cubs.

GIANT FIRSTSACKER IN SHAPE

Walter Holke, the young first baseman of the New York Giants, is playing good ball on the Giants trip from the training camp. Holke is batting the pill about with the same vim and snap of last year.

FIELD MARSHALS OF THE MAJOR LEAGUES

In finding and developing pitchers. It is a shortcoming that no one can explain, but it is there.
In every other way Jennings is a bear, but the pitchers have always been his hoodoo. He has acquired his knowledge of baseball in years of service. Back in 1894, '95 and '96 he was the leading shortstop of the National league. He was a mainstay of the old Baltimore champions, and a club mate of McGraw, Brothertons, Carey and Jack Doyle. He ranked also as one of the league's greatest hitters.
Started With Louisville
Jennings was born in Moulie, Pa., in 1871 and started out as a semi-pro player in 1890. He broke into the National league with Louisville and the following year, 1893, was traded to Baltimore. Later he played in Brooklyn and Philadelphia, finally going back to Baltimore as manager of the club, which was then in the Eastern league.
Jennings took a sheepskin away from Cornell university, mixing study with his baseball to do it. He became so widely known that Detroit tried to purchase him from Baltimore, and, failing in that, drafted him in the fall of 1906. Since that time he has been in the harness for the Tigers, and he has always given Detroit a good club. He is known as the player at his home in Polo, Mo. That makes him one of the most honorable and fearless managers in the game. Though he has never won a world's title, he has three American league pennants to his credit.

Willard-Fulton Bout Not to Occur in Cuba

New York, April 16.—(I. N. S.)—The report that Colonel J. C. Miller intends to stage the Willard-Fulton heavyweight championship bout in Havana is denied on good authority. It was said the bout would not be held outside the United States unless that was absolutely necessary on account of the valuable moving picture rights. The government ban on the Willard-Johnson fight pictures was mentioned as the reason that Cuba would not be considered.

BATTERY A TEAM WINS

Somewhere in France, March 24.—(By mail)—In what started out like a whirlwind affair, Battery A, 14th field artillery, composed of Portland boys, "razz-berried" a team from a hospital unit of the University of Pennsylvania, 11 to 1. Rhoorbaugh, the hurler for the hospital team, wrenched his arm at the beginning of the fourth inning and had to leave the game. From then on it was "duck soup" for the battery boys.

"Lefty" Schroeder whiffed 13 of the hospital workers and allowed but four hits. Pitts, the Battery right fielder, annexed three hits. Decker grabbed down a hard drive in centerfield that saved a couple of tallies.

Charles Bell of Spokane won the all-around championship and was named MVP in events, repeating his victory of last year.
C. J. Kruse, the Portland cracker, won a special 10-game singles match from Sartor, the Spokane star. Kruse averaged better than 265 for the 10 games, and Sartor averaged 181. The match was for a purse of $100.

McCarthy to Manage Newark
New York, April 16.—(I. N. S.)—Tommy McCarthy, former baseball player and of late years a scout for both Boston clubs, was today announced as the new manager of the Newark club in the new International league.
McCarthy is associated with the new owners at Newark and the situation in the Jersey town is said to have been satisfactorily smoothed out. The names to Cleveland and sold outright to Portland.
But Maybe He Will Be.
Shoup is in class A-1 of the draft, but before coming West visited his board in Chicago and was informed that he was so far down on the list that he could come out to the Northwest and probably would not be called during the course of the season.
Owing to a cold wind blowing across Roundup field yesterday Fisher called off the practice, fearing his players might suffer muscle-tied arms.
Infielder Hessler asked for his release yesterday so that he could work in Portland shipyards. Sands, Fuerborn and Morton have not arrived from the Salt Lake club, but are expected daily. Fisher also has his lines out for Third Baseman Walter "Hack" Altmuth of the Evansville club, who was tipped off to Fisher by Shoup. He was two years with Evansville and originated in Boise.

REJOICING GREAT AT BALL CAMP

Bill Fisher Discovers a Pitcher Who Is Not What He Thought He Was.
Pendleton, Or., April 15.—Great is the rejoicing of B. Fisher, callip of the Portland club. He has discovered a ball pitcher who is not what he thought.

Being not what Fisher thought he was, Bill Shoup will be added to the Portland team the latter part of the month as a regular. It was a close call for B. Shoup who is an experienced pitcher and who ought to win a lot of ball games for B. Fisher.

Now if Shoup had been a southpaw pitcher he would probably have been away shortly by left strengthen the Spokane or the Aberdeen club. Fisher has one southpaw of experience already in Frank Hupp, and being a crooked arm, himself, it is rather a remarkable commentary that he doesn't want to load his ball club up with them.

Furthermore, it shows bravery on the part of Bill in his willingness to send left-handed pitchers to other clubs that he might some day have to face himself.
What! Treason!
It might be well for the Hetmen of the Ancient Order of Elephants to take this matter up in council and properly castigate young Mr. Fisher for his lack-luster allegiance. For one southpaw person to think of sending another southpaw person on his way is not strategem but treason.
But Shoup is not a southpaw. Let that sink in. Where Fisher got the idea of human beings as Rube Waddler and Walter Malis he does not know. Great was the rejoicing, therefore, when Will Shoup of Evansville showed up in his own right, a well handed glove and a safe and sane right hand with which to throw the ball.
"I'm tickled to death," said Fisher when he saw Shoup warm up for the first time.
The newcomer has all the actions of a pitcher and the best argument for this is that the Cleveland American held a string on him for two years and then sent him to Portland, with whom Cleveland enjoys the friendliest relations. This is tantamount to saying that Cleveland has a paternal if not a proprietary interest in the good looking youngster.
Shoup has been pitching for three years, being a product of the fast Chicago City league. He was signed by Cleveland in 1916 and remained four months, when he was sent to Davenport in the Three I league for development. He was recalled in 1917 and then turned over to Evansville in the Central league for further development. He had a good year with Evansville, but when the Central league failed to start this year he was turned back to Cleveland and sold outright to Portland.
