

Miss Schnabel Becomes Bride Of Army Man

AT THE residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. J. Schnabel, on Park avenue, the wedding of Miss Katherine Schnabel and Edward Alexander O'Neill, U. S. Army, took place Thursday evening in the presence of a large company of friends and relatives. Rev. Father William Cronin, pastor of the All Saints church in Laurelhurst, officiated, and the bride was attended by Mrs. Aloph Neu (Helen Minsinger) as matron of honor and Miss Florence Ackerman of San Francisco as maid of honor, the latter a former classmate of the bride at Miss Harker's school.

The wedding service was at 8:30 and a number of additional guests were invited for the reception at 9 o'clock, when dancing was enjoyed by the younger people.

The wedding was exceptionally pretty in all its appointments. The bride was a picture of loveliness in her wedding robe of ivory toned satin elaborated with rare old lace. Her hair was styled with Duchesse snow and was stayed with a coronet effect of the lace. A shower bouquet of orchids and pale lavender sweet peas completed her costume.

The bridesmaids wore summery gowns of pale green and carried baskets filled with spring flowers. The little ringbearer was in military attire and carried the ring on a white satin pillow.

The house was beautifully decorated with Ophelia roses and lilies with ferns and greenery, and made a most effective setting.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill have gone for a short wedding trip after which they will make their home near Camp Lewis. Mr. O'Neill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. O'Neill of Santa Cruz, Cal., who with his grandmother, Mrs. M. T. O'Neill, came up for the wedding.

MRS. EDWARD ALEXANDER O'NEILL (KATHERINE SCHNABEL) THE OREGON SUNDAY JOURNAL

New Ribbons

LINGERIE is going in strong for double-faced ribbons showing a different color in each side. Pink and lemon yellow, lavender and green, blue and pink, grey and blue, in fact all the combinations of the pastel tints are seen on the latest bits of silk and nainsook underwear. Lots of lovely chiffon negligees are graced with ribbons. Now it is not always easy to match your two tones of chiffon, for instance, in a double-faced ribbon, but that is no reason why you should not have this latest lingerie trifle. The best and our own ribbon, using a satin for one side and a moire or soft taffeta for the other, each in a different shade. The only thing to watch is that both are exactly the same width. You may run overhand them together with fine stitches, or better yet, crochet them together with a very fine picot edge. If you can't find your two shades in ribbon use silk and have them picoted (hem-stitched) together by machine.

Habits of Wasps
All wasps are industrious and ambitious—quite much so, in fact, as their more celebrated relatives, the bees and ants. Labor and effort are evenly divided up in a nest of wasps. For instance, some of them assume the duty of plunderers, going out in search of food, while others act as policemen and stay at home and guard the place. Their devotion to honey is well known by people who keep beehives, and constant warfare is needed to keep them out of the hives and prevent them from carrying off the honey. The drones of the wasp world are energetic and keep the nest in the best of order, and lead well-regulated, quiet lives.

The Complexion Beautiful and the Secret

A Simple Wonder-Worker, and Any Woman Can Do It. How to Make Superfluous Hairs Dissolve Away as Frost Before the Sun.

BY VALESKA SURATT
IN your face, just the same as in that of the most beautiful woman in the world, lie the possibilities of an exquisite complexion. It's simply that the beautiful lineaments of the face are hidden as by a veil. Some of the results accomplished in a few days by a method which I adopted long ago read almost like a fairy tale, the magic of it is so astounding. It succeeds even on the most motley, disfigured, ugly skins, making blemishes disappear as a fog lifts before the sun. A skin, spotted as and as soft, adorned with the eye and touch, that is the sure result. Mix the formula yourself at home. It takes but a few moments to make and is far more economical than any prepared cream you can buy at any drug store. Get one ounce of zintone from the drug store and mix it with two tablespoonfuls of glycerine in a pint of water. A cream is quickly formed, and there you have this little wonder ready to apply. You must use it liberally every day.

MISS QUESTION—You will realize what a "hair grower" really is when you use this. There is no more doubt of its hair growing power than there is of the sun's rays. The hair grows in a most glorious condition of absolute cleanliness. As a head-wash it cannot be excelled. Use a teaspoonful of it in a half cup of water. You can get enough for twenty-five cents to last for over a dozen shampoos.

MRS. GIVENS—It would be preferable to go around with the hairs on the forearms than to get them off the way you mention; that is, with those "burnt" pastes. They irritate, redden and spot up the skin, often for weeks afterward. By moistening the superfluous hairs with sulfo solutions obtainable for one dollar at any drug store, they just dissolve away like snow in the sun. There's no spot or mark left even on the most delicate skin.

LOOKING—There is one reliable and safe way to try for bust development. This is to dissolve two ounces of rutone and half a cup of sugar in half a pint of water, and of this mixture take two teaspoonfuls after meals and at bedtime. Nobody can promise you success absolutely, but I suggest that you use the above as the best method known.

Elks' Lodge Is Taking in Big Lot of Members

PORTLAND LODGE No. 142 of the Elks, had a class of 56 last Thursday night and is still holding the initiation fee below the normal for the benefit of a few more friends of the new members, Charles Ringler, exalted ruler, presided. The name of Dr. Ben L. Norden, loyal knight, is responded to and marked as present, although in body corporate he is in the service of Uncle Sam in the navy and somewhere on the high seas. The lodge has 83 members serving the country in the various branches of the military and naval service, and a first gold star is for Major C. E. McDonell, who died in New York, April 3. The lodge now holds $4000 in Liberty bonds, and has a special fund for the benefit of widows and orphans of soldiers and sailors. The membership is now close to 2000, with a long list of applicants awaiting action. One of the recent activities of the lodge was to preserve the lives of the herd of elk owned by the city and to make arrangements to have the animals turned loose in their native habitat, the Cascade mountains, where they will be protected from slaughter by lawless hunters and encouraged to enjoy life in their natural way.

The grand question before the next grand lodge of Odd Fellows meeting at Seaside, May 21, will be, "Where do we go from here?"

Portland lodges and I. O. O. F. affiliated orders are out for the celebration of the centenary of Odd Fellowship to be celebrated by the next grand lodge meeting at Seaside, May 21, 1919, and a round century old April 25, 1919, and Portland members are of the opinion that from 12,000 to 15,000 visitors to Portland will be secured with the proper amount of publicity given.

Hotel men, restaurants and various lines of business connected with the work of entertaining guests have given assurances of reasonable rates and ample accommodations. The city authorities will donate The Auditorium, and many civic organizations will assist in making the Odd Fellows of Oregon the grand lodge decide in favor of "the little city on the Willamette, just above St. Johns," as one rival community committee described the location.

Elks' Lodge Is Taking in Big Lot of Members

Omega Rebekah lodge, I. O. O. F., at its meeting last Tuesday evening decided to give a card party on the evening of May 7, in Oriens hall, East Sixth and East Alder streets. All members and friends are invited. The initiation of a class of candidates was put on by the team of Utopia lodge, and was commanded by Miss Jennie Kistler with a company of 21 ladies. The work was greatly appreciated by the members and visitors present.

Columbia Rebekah lodge, I. O. O. F., will give the last official reception to Mrs. Mary Lankaster on the evening of May 18. It will be held in the Odd Fellows temple, First and Alder streets. The dedication of the new home of the I. O. O. F. in Portland, which is sustained by the entire order in Oregon, will be made May 19. The new addition to the home, which has recently been completed at Holgate and East Thirty-second at a cost of over $25,000, has placed the entire institution in the front ranks of state I. O. O. F. homes.

Portland tent of the Maccabees has decided to give a round trip ticket to Seattle and Tacoma for every member who secures three or more applications during July.

Dr. G. C. Escheleman, chief medical director of the United Artisans, has returned from Southern Idaho, where he assisted in making the report on the order. He reports prosperity in Idaho and population increasing. Alfalfa is $15 a ton in the fields, with prices ranging upward. Large quantities of foodstuffs are being planted and the demand for horses has opened up the largest horse market in the West at Caldwell, Idaho. The report on the irrigated sections of the land is rapidly being made use of in food production.

Elks' Lodge Is Taking in Big Lot of Members

H. S. Husson, supreme master of the United Artisans, is enjoining in Wasco county and paying official visits to number of local assemblies. He will be engaged in Wasco and other Eastern Oregon counties for several days.

Vancouver assembly, United Artisans, has a service flag with 13 stars on it which was recently dedicated with appropriate ceremonies. Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Bennett are giving all their time to building up the order in Clarke county and members of the order in Yakima assist in making the social side of Artisanship interesting. The jazz band of the 161st United States squadron of aero service has assisted in the program with music at different meetings.

A liberty meeting will be held by Oregon assembly, United Artisans, Thursday evening next at W. O. W. temple, 125 Eleventh street. All Artisans and their friends are invited. There will be a program of patriotic speeches, readings, recitations, music and dancing.

Alberta assembly, United Artisans, held a patriotic meeting with a musical and literary program Thursday night at Alberta and East Seventeenth street north. A large attendance of Alberta members and visitors from the surrounding section were present. Mrs. James Cahoy and her class of Juvenile Artisans were especially pleasing. Judge W. A. Gatens, Mrs. Ella Wait, superintendent of instruction of Junior Artisans, and others spoke.

Rose City camp members will miss the treat of the season is they fail to attend the "smoker" next Wednesday evening at M. W. A. hall. Eleventh street.

Mount Hood circle, Neighbors of Woodcraft is struggling hard to pass the $1000 mark in the sale of Thrift Stamps, and its clerk, Mrs. E. S. Rutledge, has strong hopes of passing the mark by May 1.

A campaign for membership is also being actively prosecuted by four captains of rival teams. At the meeting in the headquarters building last Tuesday addresses were made by Miss Bessie Hinds of Fresno, Cal., and Mrs. Catherine Stites of Astoria, and assistant superintendent of N. of R. Red Cross units in Portland. An exhibition drill by the team under Captain Bessie Hinds caused an interesting session.

Omega Rebekah lodge, I. O. O. F., at its meeting last Tuesday evening decided to give a card party on the evening of May 7, in Oriens hall, East Sixth and East Alder streets. All members and friends are invited. The initiation of a class of candidates was put on by the team of Utopia lodge, and was commanded by Miss Jennie Kistler with a company of 21 ladies. The work was greatly appreciated by the members and visitors present.

They Only Look At My Hands, Am Postwoman

By Evangeline Byres
In the London Daily News
I AM the postwoman—no, the postwoman, though here there is neither male nor female. The postwoman is an abstraction, a medium, a means, and it does not matter that I am sad, and discharged from the army of the spring; every one is glad to see the postwoman, and she is glad to see the postwoman. I bring gladness, I bring sorrow, I bring watching at windows and doors. Children at Christmas and children with birthday devils and birds singing to me. And in the beautiful autumn weather I walk into the first beams of the sun shooting over the heat that shines through the windows, and the birds are bracken is aglow, and trees and roads are covered with gold.

I am a rural postwoman, and my round is made on foot or wheel, according to the chances of weather and road. In my grand right I stride through the sacred gardens of sleeping houses—beautiful places where birds are at work and where the tall flowers hold shields of gossamer. I march up to doors with loud knockers, or swing up the hand of fate, and I have no other work and where the tall flowers hold shields of gossamer. I march up to doors with loud knockers, or swing up the hand of fate, and I have no other work and where the tall flowers hold shields of gossamer. I march up to doors with loud knockers, or swing up the hand of fate, and I have no other work and where the tall flowers hold shields of gossamer.

I am the postwoman, am responsible for all the letters that never come, for all the letters that are never written. Every one knows that I have lost them or hidden them somewhere. And I may not be late, though the world is upside down, the seas full of traps, the land shaken, or though the mails are fog-bound and the roads gale and snowdrifts cover the top of the stiles.

I am the postwoman, the bringer of tidings, the world messenger, the slow feminine Mercury, whose pricking wings are trodden into her feet, the bright and dark evangelist, the deliverer. I am inescapable, inevitable, irrefutable, final. The hand of fate am I, and no other to me may avail. My only gift is to give; I have no power to withhold, to create, or to destroy. And I give life and death and fortune and grief.

My game is chance. I shuffle the cards and deal from the same pack cards of the dead and the new-born. I am dispassionate and aloof. Though I bring tears, I may not weep, though I give laughter, I may not smile. The postwoman never stays—always before she is here she is gone again.

One day a child came and held my hand as I walked the round. (He never asked, "Is there a letter for me?") True the bag he held was ragged, but he held it to me up his boots. He wants to know where I live. He does not realize that I ought to be in a hurry. Does he really take me for a human being? How nice is the feel of his little hand!

But I am forgetting myself. I must not dream. This is no errand of my own. I am the postwoman. I am the post.

street, near Stark. The committee has arranged for three hours of unintermitted fun, including boxing, pillow fights, Chinese comedian, smokes, laughs and a full evening of merriment. The night will be held at the Odd Fellows temple, First and Alder streets. Members and friends are invited. Everything free. Soldier boys always welcome.

Multnomah camp, W. O. W., will give its regular quarterly dance and card party next Friday evening in its commodious home at East Sixth and East Alder streets. Members and friends are invited.

Site for Home Will Come Up For Discussion

By Alfred D. Crigoe
THE joint committee of the Masonic and Order Eastern Star Home will hold a meeting on May 18 at the office of Grand Master Wilson, Corvallis, Masonic temple, Portland, to consider site offers and prepare a report to the grand lodge at its 1917 meeting with instructions to proceed to building when it had $50,000 accumulated. The members of the board representing the Oregon and Washington lodges are: Grand Master W. G. Shellenbarger as follows:

Will Moore, past grand master, of Pendleton; Frank Miller, grand treasurer, of Salem; O. P. Coshaw, Roseburg; J. S. Roark, Portland; L. M. O'Graham, Forest Grove. The committee representing the Order Eastern Star is as follows: Mrs. Rose Wilson, Corvallis; Mrs. Margaret A. Helm, Corvallis; Mrs. Pauline Moore Rily, Baker; Mrs. Margaret E. Kellogg, Portland; Thomas F. Ryan, Salem.

The Order Eastern Star had authorized funds to be raised some years before, and the cooperation of the grand lodge greatly encouraged the work. Grand Master Shellenbarger and Grand Matron Mrs. Lena C. Mendenhall have earnestly advocated the subscription to sufficient funds to make the starting of the enterprise. In all of their official visits to subordinate lodges and chapters throughout the state they have impressed upon the members the importance of Oregon Masons having a home for their orphan children and their aged members.

From time to time sub-committees have been organized to investigate, but until a site has been determined upon no definite plans have been formulated. Several sites have been tentatively offered, and every lodge and chapter has been invited to send a proposition recommended to the committee.

It is understood that efforts are being made to present to the committee a site at Corvallis, near the river, Seaside and Ashland. The committee will be pleased to have others presented, together with whatever offers of cash contributions may accompany a proposed site. The grand master and grand matron will meet with the committee at this time, as ex-officio members, and in order to make a more intelligent report to their respective grand bodies in June.

A number of lodges of the Masons in the state have subscribed liberally, while others, as yet, have not reported any contributions. The committee is pleased to have the Order Eastern Star had $7000 in the special home fund, and it is certain that several thousand more will be turned into the fund at the next grand chapter meeting on Saturday night at Seaside. Large quantities of entertainments have been given for the benefit of the home fund by both Eastern Star chapters and Masonic lodges, and it is thought that more than $15,000 is in the fund now, with pledges to the total of several thousand more. The intention is to provide for the care and education of orphans and aged members of both orders and to give them fraternal homes and surroundings with all trace of institutionalism and all irksome restrictions removed as far as possible.

There is no doubt but what $50,000 is but a starter, and that the plans outlined and toward which the two orders are working will represent an aggregate of $1,000,000. The committee will be devoted to Portland promoters and business men to so make representations to the joint committee as to secure this institution for Oregon. It is within a very few years, and perhaps in a very few months.

The Sunnyside Building club, an organization composed of members of Sunnyside chapter, Order Eastern Star, and Sunnyside lodge No. 142, I. O. O. F., has decided to hold an old-fashioned county fair at Multnomah camp hall, East Sixth and East Alder streets, on the evening of Saturday, April 27, which the public is invited. There will be mock horse races and wonderful rooster fights. The candidates for every office, from United States senator to canine eliminator, will have special reserved seats and a chance to go over the top and tell why they are willing to be sacrificed. Judge W. Frank Faine will preside in the court, assisted by Judge G. W. Stapleton as prosecuting attorney. All ladies are invited to make a display of vegetable and fruit. The fair will be held in the Sunnyside Masonic hall building fund, an enterprise that is to supply a long felt want in that section of the city with a Masonic temple, to cost $25,000.

Colonel Ed M. Lance, in appropriate costume, will sell booking tickets on the "horse races." He will speak with the winners and congratulate the losers—if they come back with refreshments. There will be dancing, refreshments, good music and lot of fun.

W. G. Shellenbarger, grand master Oregon Grand Lodge, A. F. and A. M.

adopted the term "Independent" and have gradually changed the ritual and secret work until there is no affiliation between the I. O. O. F. and the Manchester Unity (British) Odd Fellows. The I. O. O. F. has lodges in Australia, Canada and some European countries and numbers over 3,000,000 in its different branches.

D. P. Markey, supreme commander of the Maccabees, from Detroit, Mich., will be the welcome guest of the membership in Oregon from May 5 to 13, and will carry out the following itinerary: Corvallis, Monday, May 6, evening meeting. Postmaster Moses presiding with addresses by prominent local people; Tuesday, May 7, at Salem, evening meeting. August Huckenstein, postmaster, presiding; Wednesday, a state convention will be held in Portland with a joint meeting of all the tents in Portland and vicinity in the evening; Thursday, May 9, joint open meeting for the public at the hall, corner Eleventh and Alder streets at 8 p. m.; Friday, a trip over the famous Columbia river highway and on Saturday night at Albany for a joint open meeting of the tent and review as well as the public; Sunday, May 12, annual memorial service in Portland in which all the tents and reviews of Multnomah and adjoining counties will participate. Full publicity regarding halls, programs, etc., will be furnished at the membership.

A joint committee from the different local Maccabees tents and the local reviews of the Women of the Maccabees has been formed to entertain Supreme Commander Markey during his visit in Portland. Commander W. H. Burks of Mount Hood tent was elected president and Mrs. Neglespach of Portland review was elected secretary.

State Commander J. W. Sherwood has called a convention of all the local tents of the fraternal order formerly known as the Knights of the Maccabees, but of recent years as simply the Maccabees. It will meet in Portland to confer with D. P. Markey of Detroit, Mich., supreme commander of the order for the past 29 years. State officers will be present and delegates from a number of cities in different parts of the state. The topics for consideration will mostly be concerning the relations of the order to the war. Several medical authorities will also speak on questions connected with the health and vital strength of the order. In the evening the delegates and guests will be entertained by the local tents of Portland at K. of P. hall, Eleventh and Alder streets.

The members of Portland lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, will cut out the regular meeting for once next Wednesday evening and give an entertainment for the benefit of the orphans at Mooseheart, Ill. There will be dancing, cards and a musical program. The Women of Mooseheart legion will cooperate in entertaining guests. Columbia lodge, Mooseheart legion, will meet Tuesday night and expect to initiate a large class of candidates. It is an organization within the L. O. M. with special patriotic purposes and has only recently been organized in Oregon. Its territory makes in all of Western Oregon.

The fourth anniversary of Sunnyside lodge No. 142, A. F. and A. M., will be celebrated with a social program and cards on the evening of May 8, at East Yamhill and East Thirty-fourth streets, and invitations to many members of the Masonic and Eastern Star orders have been sent out by E. M. Lance, secretary, on behalf of the officers and members of the lodge.

Orient lodge, I. O. O. F., will confer the first degree next Wednesday evening at East Sixth and East Alder streets, C. S. Starr, noble grand, presiding. Orient lodge is steadily growing and has a large membership of residents on the east side of the river.

William A. Carter, past grand master of the I. O. O. F., will address the Odd Fellows and Rebekah at St. Helens next Friday evening, April 26, at a joint celebration to commemorate the ninety-ninth anniversary of the I. O. O. F.

Acme lodge, Ladies of the Maccabees, has arranged to give a musical card party Tuesday at 8:30 p. m. in Alisky hall. Members and friends are cordially invited to attend.

They Only Look At My Hands, Am Postwoman

By Evangeline Byres
In the London Daily News
I AM the postwoman—no, the postwoman, though here there is neither male nor female. The postwoman is an abstraction, a medium, a means, and it does not matter that I am sad, and discharged from the army of the spring; every one is glad to see the postwoman, and she is glad to see the postwoman. I bring gladness, I bring sorrow, I bring watching at windows and doors. Children at Christmas and children with birthday devils and birds singing to me. And in the beautiful autumn weather I walk into the first beams of the sun shooting over the heat that shines through the windows, and the birds are bracken is aglow, and trees and roads are covered with gold.

I am a rural postwoman, and my round is made on foot or wheel, according to the chances of weather and road. In my grand right I stride through the sacred gardens of sleeping houses—beautiful places where birds are at work and where the tall flowers hold shields of gossamer. I march up to doors with loud knockers, or swing up the hand of fate, and I have no other work and where the tall flowers hold shields of gossamer. I march up to doors with loud knockers, or swing up the hand of fate, and I have no other work and where the tall flowers hold shields of gossamer.

I am the postwoman, am responsible for all the letters that never come, for all the letters that are never written. Every one knows that I have lost them or hidden them somewhere. And I may not be late, though the world is upside down, the seas full of traps, the land shaken, or though the mails are fog-bound and the roads gale and snowdrifts cover the top of the stiles.

I am the postwoman, the bringer of tidings, the world messenger, the slow feminine Mercury, whose pricking wings are trodden into her feet, the bright and dark evangelist, the deliverer. I am inescapable, inevitable, irrefutable, final. The hand of fate am I, and no other to me may avail. My only gift is to give; I have no power to withhold, to create, or to destroy. And I give life and death and fortune and grief.

My game is chance. I shuffle the cards and deal from the same pack cards of the dead and the new-born. I am dispassionate and aloof. Though I bring tears, I may not weep, though I give laughter, I may not smile. The postwoman never stays—always before she is here she is gone again.

One day a child came and held my hand as I walked the round. (He never asked, "Is there a letter for me?") True the bag he held was ragged, but he held it to me up his boots. He wants to know where I live. He does not realize that I ought to be in a hurry. Does he really take me for a human being? How nice is the feel of his little hand!

But I am forgetting myself. I must not dream. This is no errand of my own. I am the postwoman. I am the post.

street, near Stark. The committee has arranged for three hours of unintermitted fun, including boxing, pillow fights, Chinese comedian, smokes, laughs and a full evening of merriment. The night will be held at the Odd Fellows temple, First and Alder streets. Members and friends are invited. Everything free. Soldier boys always welcome.

Multnomah camp, W. O. W., will give its regular quarterly dance and card party next Friday evening in its commodious home at East Sixth and East Alder streets. Members and friends are invited.

Site for Home Will Come Up For Discussion

By Alfred D. Crigoe
THE joint committee of the Masonic and Order Eastern Star Home will hold a meeting on May 18 at the office of Grand Master Wilson, Corvallis, Masonic temple, Portland, to consider site offers and prepare a report to the grand lodge at its 1917 meeting with instructions to proceed to building when it had $50,000 accumulated. The members of the board representing the Oregon and Washington lodges are: Grand Master W. G. Shellenbarger as follows:

Will Moore, past grand master, of Pendleton; Frank Miller, grand treasurer, of Salem; O. P. Coshaw, Roseburg; J. S. Roark, Portland; L. M. O'Graham, Forest Grove. The committee representing the Order Eastern Star is as follows: Mrs. Rose Wilson, Corvallis; Mrs. Margaret A. Helm, Corvallis; Mrs. Pauline Moore Rily, Baker; Mrs. Margaret E. Kellogg, Portland; Thomas F. Ryan, Salem.

The Order Eastern Star had authorized funds to be raised some years before, and the cooperation of the grand lodge greatly encouraged the work. Grand Master Shellenbarger and Grand Matron Mrs. Lena C. Mendenhall have earnestly advocated the subscription to sufficient funds to make the starting of the enterprise. In all of their official visits to subordinate lodges and chapters throughout the state they have impressed upon the members the importance of Oregon Masons having a home for their orphan children and their aged members.

From time to time sub-committees have been organized to investigate, but until a site has been determined upon no definite plans have been formulated. Several sites have been tentatively offered, and every lodge and chapter has been invited to send a proposition recommended to the committee.

It is understood that efforts are being made to present to the committee a site at Corvallis, near the river, Seaside and Ashland. The committee will be pleased to have others presented, together with whatever offers of cash contributions may accompany a proposed site. The grand master and grand matron will meet with the committee at this time, as ex-officio members, and in order to make a more intelligent report to their respective grand bodies in June.

A number of lodges of the Masons in the state have subscribed liberally, while others, as yet, have not reported any contributions. The committee is pleased to have the Order Eastern Star had $7000 in the special home fund, and it is certain that several thousand more will be turned into the fund at the next grand chapter meeting on Saturday night at Seaside. Large quantities of entertainments have been given for the benefit of the home fund by both Eastern Star chapters and Masonic lodges, and it is thought that more than $15,000 is in the fund now, with pledges to the total of several thousand more. The intention is to provide for the care and education of orphans and aged members of both orders and to give them fraternal homes and surroundings with all trace of institutionalism and all irksome restrictions removed as far as possible.

There is no doubt but what $50,000 is but a starter, and that the plans outlined and toward which the two orders are working will represent an aggregate of $1,000,000. The committee will be devoted to Portland promoters and business men to so make representations to the joint committee as to secure this institution for Oregon. It is within a very few years, and perhaps in a very few months.

The Sunnyside Building club, an organization composed of members of Sunnyside chapter, Order Eastern Star, and Sunnyside lodge No. 142, I. O. O. F., has decided to hold an old-fashioned county fair at Multnomah camp hall, East Sixth and East Alder streets, on the evening of Saturday, April 27, which the public is invited. There will be mock horse races and wonderful rooster fights. The candidates for every office, from United States senator to canine eliminator, will have special reserved seats and a chance to go over the top and tell why they are willing to be sacrificed. Judge W. Frank Faine will preside in the court, assisted by Judge G. W. Stapleton as prosecuting attorney. All ladies are invited to make a display of vegetable and fruit. The fair will be held in the Sunnyside Masonic hall building fund, an enterprise that is to supply a long felt want in that section of the city with a Masonic temple, to cost $25,000.

Colonel Ed M. Lance, in appropriate costume, will sell booking tickets on the "horse races." He will speak with the winners and congratulate the losers—if they come back with refreshments. There will be dancing, refreshments, good music and lot of fun.

The ninety-ninth anniversary of the founding of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows in the United States will be celebrated at Washington high school auditorium, Friday night, April 26. A number of lodges, Grand Lodge and Rebekah have united to make the affair attractive to all. Officers and members of Stanton Portland No. 1, Patricks Militant in British uniforms, will act as a reception committee and as ushers. The public is cordially invited. Mayor Baker will deliver an address of welcome. Grand Lodge and George W. Trefren of Ashland and Mrs. Mary Lankaster, president of the Oregon Rebekah assembly, will speak. Rev. R. Sawyer will read a paper on the "American Odd Fellowship." A musical program has been arranged for, which will include patriotic airs and special solos. American Odd Fellowship originated in Baltimore and was an outgrowth of British societies of that name. The idea of being under the same government as the British was repugnant to the American Odd Fellows and they early in its history

PRESIDENT OF OREGON REBEKAH ASSEMBLY

Mrs. Mary Lankaster, president of the Oregon Rebekah Assembly, I. O. O. F., is the first occupant of that office who has visited every local Rebekah lodge in the state during her term. The Oregon Rebekah lodges have prospered as never before during the year she has been in charge. Mrs. Lankaster will preside at the annual session of the Oregon Assembly to meet in Seaside May 21.

Ouch! Sore, Touchy Corn! Few Drops and Corns Lift Out
Don't hurt a bit! Cincinnati chemist finds drug that works miracles—No humbug!
Your high heels have put corns on your feet, but why care now? This tiny bottle holds an almost magic fluid. A genius in Cincinnati discovered this ether compound and named it freestone. Small bottles of freestone like here shown can be had at any drug store for a few cents. Don't limp or twist your face, but get a bottle of freestone and apply a few drops on your tender, aching corn between the toes, as well as hardened calluses without suffering one particle. Freestone is magic. Keep it on dresser. Costs a few cents.