Thirty-four Will Go From the Junior and Senior Classes and 24 Are Men of Alumni.

14 COME FROM PORTLAND Men and Service and Those in Draft Report at American Lake; Others in Illinois.

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, May 11.—Following the receipt of a summons for which they have been anxiously waiting for the past months, 34 members of the junior and senior classes and 24 graduates, making a total of 58 men, including 14 Portland men, are today proceeding from Corvallis to report for duty at the fourth officers' training camps Monday morning.

Nine of the men, ranking as civilians pending the winning of their commission, are present at Camp Lewis Monday morning. The remainder are at various points in Illinois, where they are awaiting their assignment to duty.

All 58 of the men called have been prominent in student activities, and the departure of the 34 members of the junior and senior classes by Monday morning has created a noticeable void in the ranks of the active army.

Present members of the two upper classes who report at Camp Lewis Monday morning are: William R. Stow, Walter S. Carpenter, and Carl C. Behne, all at American Lake, and Eric Englund, now at Fort McDowell, California, who has recently answered the draft call, and are to report to the commanding officer at Camp Lewis direct from their present station of duty.

All 58 of the men called have been prominent in student activities, and the departure of the 34 members of the junior and senior classes by Monday morning has created a noticeable void in the ranks of the active army.

Willamette University, Salem, Or., May 11.—Rev. J. W. Bissell of Waterloo, Iowa, for 27 years president of the Upper Iowa university, addressed the students at Friday morning chapel. The speaker is in the city on a special tour of inspection of the United States Steel corporation's big plant at Gary on the lake front.

SAYS U. S. SOLDIERS WILL DICTATE PEACE AT CITY OF BERLIN

Head Consul Book of W. O. W., Willing to Shut Lodge Down to Get Kaiser's Scalp.

L. G. DeYoung, consul commander of Webfoot camp, did not feel equal to the occasion of extending a welcome to Head Consul I. I. Boak of Denver, Friday night, and asked City Commissioner Barbur to do it. Barbur merely informed the several hundred members of the eight local camps of the W. O. W. that they all knew Neighbor Boak, and that many of them didn't attend Webfoot camp any oftener than once in about once a year.

Mr. Boak made a strong patriotic address and avowed himself as willing to shut the door of every camp in the order if necessary to enable our boys in France to get the Kaiser's scalp. He gave a historical account of the rising hatred of Germany for America during the last half century, and predicted a peace dictated in Berlin by the million American soldiers.

Mr. Boak will be in Portland again May 22 when he will receive by Multnomah camp. The order now has over 4000 members in the service of the flag, and it is expected that this number will be doubled within a few months. The head committee was of seven fraternal leaders called to consult the secretary of the treasury at the outbreak of the war as to the protection of soldiers with insurance and the rights of the military and naval forces accepted by congress in laws passed regarding such protection.
