New Offerings on Screen and Stage

Maude Adams Is Wonderful in New Play

Heilig Audience Charmed by Delightful Actress and Barrie Wonder Play.

By S. R. Jr. OVERS of the best in the theatre know that when Miss Maude Adams comes in a James M. Barrie play, they are in for a treat.

That's why they crowd the theatre and settle back for an evening of clean, clever entertainment; encore Miss Adams to the echo and then go out, happy and satisfied, feeling that they have had more than their money's worth and to praise and flatter Miss Adams and her artistry, as they did last night after the opening performance of "A Kiss for Cinderella," at the Heilig.

Delightful, Miss Adams is no less charming than ever. As we would have it, she dominates the scene whenever she is on stage, but still she is not the "whole show," for there is the play itself, a wonderful "fancy," as the program says, and the other players, each one an artist.

And the combination is indeed delightful. There is indefinable charm in Maude Adams acting—an elusive something that defies definition or analysis; there is the very essence of dramatic construction, action, appeal, beauty, wit, pathos and lesson in Barrie's Cinderella, a jewel in a war-time setting. Together, Miss Adams, Mr. Barrie and the play are wonderful. That's all.

Cinderella is neither a fairy story; a war play, a drama from life, a love story nor an extravaganza. And still it is a bit of them all—all woven together in a tapestry of every emotion.

Particularly worthy of mention in Miss Adams' company are William Boyd, the policeman, and Mr. Bodie, the artist, though there is not a misfit in the entire cast of characters. There could not be without marring the charm of it all, and Miss Adams is too much the artist to permit that.

In brief, "A Kiss for Cinderella" is one of the best things the theatrical season to date has brought us. Moreover, we may not expect anything more generally satisfying on the calendar to come.

There will be performances tonight, tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night.

Bed Time Tales BY CLARA INGRAM JUDSON

Jimmy Coon Plans a Race With Mr. Black Bear.

NOW, Jimmy Coon just chuckled to himself, all the way home, after his mischievous call on his Cousin, Mr. Black Bear. But Jimmy is as full of fun as a beech-nut is full of meat. And the next day he made another call on his big black Cousin, Mr. Bear.

Jimmy found his Cousin sitting in his front door; and Mr. Bear was again feeling his sore feet. It was a funny sight to see Mr. Bear manœuvre his hands and feet. It was a big job for his hands and feet are very big, and his toe-nails are immense in size.

And Jimmy Coon was grinning from ear to ear, bent on mischief, as he watched his big Cousin manœuvre his hands and feet. And the cunning Jimmy Coon, spoke up, "Cousin Bruin, I know where there is a big pool chock full of fat trout, and I'll show you the place, if you wish."

Now Cousin Bruin was mad enough to eat brass tacks; but he was almost starved to death, after having not a bite to eat for over four months of his winter sleep. So Mr. Bear controlled his temper, an excellent thing for any Bear to do, and he tried to smile as he answered, "All right, Jimmy Coon, you are a fine chap to tell me about those trout, and I'll be glad to go with you."

And Jimmy Coon chuckled inside his fur coat, as he saw Cousin Bruin peeling more skin off the soles of his sore feet. You see, Mr. Bear had been hunting around, by himself, and the skin was cracking and peeling off the bottom of his big feet. You know, that happens with all bears in the Spring, after four or five months of winter sleep. Now, Jimmy Coon knew all this; and so he planned a great prank on Cousin Bruin.

When I count "Three" and say "Go," we'll both start together.

And Jimmy also knew that Mr. Bear was awfully hungry, and very weak after these many months of fasting.

And Jimmy Coon said, "Cousin Bruin, I'll race you to the pool."

And the fellow who gets there first, gets all the nice fat trout!" And Cousin Bruin spoke up in his big bass voice, "Well, Jimmy, my feet are awfully sore, but seeing it's awfully empty down in my big stomach, I'll make a try." And Cousin Bruin got up and stretched himself several times, and said in his big gruff voice, "Now, Cousin Jimmy, you come and stand here beside me, and place your toes along this root of this beech tree; and when I count 'Three' and 'Go,' we'll both start together; now, no cheating, you little rascal." And it was a funny sight to see those two 'Cousins' toing the line, and to hear Mr. Black Bear count in a very slow and solemn voice, which you could hear half a mile away, "One, two, three—go!"

Tomorrow—"The Race."

New Program at Hip. Full of Hits

Lincoln Impersonation Is Headliner, With Other Girl Acts Above Par.

"LINCOLN OF THE U. S. A.," a patriotic feature on the new show which opened at the Hippodrome Thursday, was well played and as a patriotic offering excelled in many ways other skits of its kind that have appeared in Portland playhouses.

Lincoln was played by Edgar Murray with great likeness as to physical aspect and actions. He played the part well.

Georgia Edwards made a pretty little rebel girl who obtained the pardon of a spy from Lincoln. August Neville made a good Secretary Stanton.

Soprano, light baritone and tenor are sung by Glenn. She sings equally well in each range. Her act is entertaining.

Frank Terry, in his English comic sketch, was a bright spot on the bill. "Mister Boose," a characterization by him, was one of the hits of the entire show.

Miller and Morrison, two girls, sing and play the piano in a manner that makes old, dull ears sink out the exits.

Reno and Platt offer an acrobatic and juggling act that vies for athletic honors in the show with the Choy Weng Ha troupe from China.

"Danger Within," with Little Zoe Rae, is the photoplay.

Potato Dishes Are Prepared Methods Are Shown By Chefs

Emil Aldorfer, chef of the Portland hotel, demonstrated the following methods of preparing potatoes to a large audience at the Meier & Frank auditorium Wednesday afternoon:

Special baked potato—Baked potatoes first; take inside out and mix with butter salt, paprika, cream, chives; wash thoroughly and put back into shells; put cheese over top and brown. O'Brien potatoes—Slice potatoes and fry with butter, green pepper and onions.

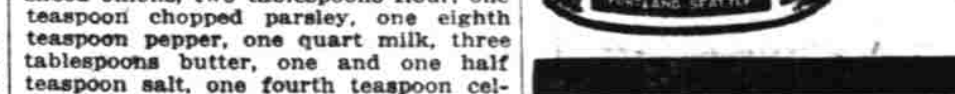

Bouillon potatoes—Take small potatoes and boil whole with soup stock, green onions and a little bacon or ham. The food administration suggests the following potato menu for Friday's meals:

Breakfast Haashed brown potatoes—Try out a piece salt pork. There should be about one third cup fat. Add two cups cold boiled potato, finely chopped, salt and pepper. Mix potato thoroughly with fat. Cook three minutes, stirring constantly. Let stand to brown underneath. Fold as omelet and turn onto hot platter. Any meat drippings may be used in place of the salt pork fat.

Lunch Potato soup—Three potatoes, two sliced onions, two tablespoons flour, one teaspoon chopped parsley, one eighth teaspoon pepper, one quart milk, three tablespoons butter, one and one half teaspoon salt, one fourth teaspoon celery salt. Cook potatoes in boiling salt water; when soft, rub through a strainer. Scald milk with onions. Remove onions and add milk slowly to potatoes. Add butter, salt and pepper.

Make sponge and let stand six days. Three ounces yeast, five quarts water, six whites of mashed potato. Mix rye, corn and barley and let rise four hours. Work over with two pounds rye flour, let rise and bake in moderate oven.

Mix bacon, potatoes and onion in salt. Fry bread crumbs in butter. Add teaspoon white pepper. Separate eggs and put yolks into mixture. Beat whites and add one tablespoon sugar. Add rice flour. Mix other ingredients. Form into balls and drop into salted boiling water. Let boil about 10 minutes.

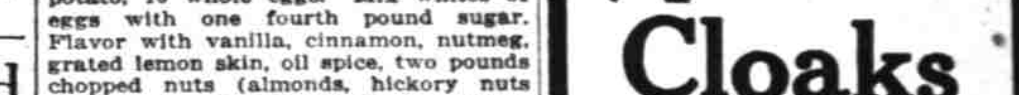

Potato fruit cake—Two pounds sugar, two pounds butter, five pounds mashed potato, 16 whole eggs. Mix whites of eggs with one fourth pound sugar. Flavor with vanilla, cinnamon, nutmeg, grated lemon skin, oil spice, two pounds chopped nuts (almonds, hickory nuts or walnuts), one pound citron peeling, one pound orange peeling, one pound bleached raisins, one pound currants. Handle like fruit cake, but mix whites of eggs and mix with two pounds of rice flour. Bake one hour and 15 minutes in moderate oven, in layers not more than two inches thick.

The recipes for Saturday as given out by the food administration are as follows:

Breakfast Potato cakes—Shape cold mashed potatoes into small cakes and roll in flour.
