RAPP PUTS MUCH HOOK ON PELLET

Sullivan's Heavy Artillery Work in Twilight Too Much for Clayton of Tacoma.

TACOMA, Wash., May 21.—Frank Rapp, veteran left-hander put the old southpaw jinx on the Tigers yesterday while his team-mates were pounding the offerings of Jack Clayton right merrily and as a result the Portland Buckaroos got away to a winning start for their first road series. The veteran Rapp, with his slow curves and knowledge, was on top of the game throughout and although the Bengals threatened on one or two occasions Rapp always had the necessary stuff to turn the home club back.

Portland put up a gingery, fast game in the twilight battle and well deserved victory. Led by outfielder John L. Sullivan, they rattled hard and found the Tacoma hurler for 11 safeties for a total of 14 bases.

Smith Scores From First The Cubs drew first blood in the opening canto. Smith walked and Sullivan contributed a line drive to right center that was good for two bases and Smith was over the pan. Clayton had his bad inning in the second, Jack Kibbie doubled, Peterson singled and Lee singled. This coupled with three walks, produced two more runs.

Tacoma broke in for one in the fourth on good base-running and Portland executed a double steal. Sullivan and Cox, in the fifth for another run. Tacoma counted again in the sixth on Messner's double and Hoffman's single. The final Portland run of the game came in the ninth on a single by Lee and another double by Sullivan.

Speas and Ritter Star Tacoma made a game attempt in the closing innings but Rapp proved the master in each frame and the home club was turned away. Manager Speas of the Tigers contributed a sensational running catch while Ritter also performed well at shortstop.

Bogart's Triple Wins Game Spokane, May 21.—A lusty three base drive by Eddie Bogart with the bases loaded in the eleventh yesterday broke up a seasaw contest and gave Aberdeen a win over Spokane by a count of 10 to 6. Three Spokane pitchers gave 12 bases on balls. Broten was effective, but was taken out for a base runner. Camozzi was hit hard, but his backing was of a gilt edged variety throughout.

RETIREES WITHOUT WORLD TITLE

Mike Gibbons, one of the greatest fighters in the game, has announced his retirement from the ring. Although Mike could have beaten any one of the fighters that held the middleweight crown during his career, he was unlikely to always meet them in no-decision bouts. He had everything that makes a good fighter, cleverness, a heavy punch and a good head. He won a small fortune in the ring, but retires without having attained the goal of all pugilists, the championship of his division.

Chicago Cubs Up Against Military "Officer of the Day" One Busy Guy

The Chicago Cubs could tip President John K. Tener of the National league to a real umpiring system. But the chances are they won't. The Cubs know of a place where the umpire is kind and where a player's eye is even more futile than a "cure" for baldheadedness.

The Cubs got their lesson during the training trip. The umpires they encountered at Camp Cody, N. M., wore silver bars, gold leaves and silver eagles on their shoulders and those ornaments completely disconcerted the chips worn in the same positions by the Cubs.

"Mr. Umpire," ruled the officer, "Your word is law. If anyone questions you, throw him out. There'll be plenty of help for you." It was hard medicine for the Cubs, but some claimed later they liked it. "The army umpire is supreme," said the lieutenant wearing the pad. "You can't abuse him."

King Lear, rookie third baseman, was next. He made caustic remarks regarding the umpire's vision, judgment and general ability. "Officer of the day!" yelled the umpire. Shortly King was marching toward the club house, a fully accoutred guard at either side. The umpire sacker was permitted no rest until he had donned his "cure" and departed from the field.

Fred Merkle turned to dispute a decision as casually as he would have upbraided Hank O'Day. Protesting his remarks somewhat he brought Major Nelly, divisional adjutant, to the plate. "Mr. Umpire," ruled the officer, "Your word is law. If anyone questions you, throw him out. There'll be plenty of help for you."

'Babe' Ruth Collapses On Way to Ball Game

Boston, May 21.—(U. P.)—George "Babe" Ruth, premier pitcher of the Boston Red Sox and the American league's leading batsman for this season so far, collapsed yesterday on a car here while on his way to Fenway park, "Babe" is expected to be in the Cleveland hospital today for the night. Ruth had just left a doctor's office.

Ruth had been suffering from throat trouble which he believed to be tonsillitis. He was taken to the Stillman Eye and Ear hospital, where it was said he might be laid up for a week.

James Hyde Tennis Champ of Societies Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, May 21. Portlander met Portlander today in a battle which was considered a certainty that he will be called.

DUG AND MAC PAY GOOD COIN TO SEE BASEBALL CLUBS IMITATE DUCKS

Merry Magnates Pungled, Out Some $200 Per Game Last Week for Quasi-Private Exhibitions; McCredie Has New Plan in Relation to Vancouver's Sunday Visits to Local Park.

By R. A. Cronin

DAVE DUGDALE and Bill McCredie are game guys. It cost them about $200 to stage each of five games of baseball last week. But they had a happy time; that is, all but Friday, when Bill took the long walk to the water pail after the electorate tossed him three down curves. We were just about to say that the electorate sat him on the bench, to use a well known term of the grand old game, but that is just what it didn't do.

Anyhow, it cost Bill and Dave a lotta coin to put on the sport last week. The first game played was in a sea of mud. For a long time it was not decided whether the ath-letes should perform. Finally Dug turns to Bill and says:

"Say, judge, we're paying for this thing and now that we are out here, let's have a little ball game. What say, judge?" "Yes, Dug. It's sure costing us a lot of coin to feed these ball players, so we might as well have a game just for ourselves. If the fans are afraid of the weather, we'll have some fun at our own expense."

And so they played most of the week. Twilight Game Coming Up When the Buckaroos return to Portland and open the next series Tuesday, quite likely twilight baseball will be inaugurated. It has been found successful in Vancouver and is being given a thorough tryout in Tacoma. In the Western league Des Moines, which is a busy little city, has been trying out the 6 p. m. starting time with some success. In the three home weeks of the Buckaroos, McCredie tried starting at 3:30 and 4 p. m. but none proved magnetic. Now he will slip back to the 6 p. m. time. If that and good weather do not bring out the fans, then you might just as well kiss the old game goodbye for the season and perhaps the duration of the war.

May Play Shipyarders Portland may witness exhibition games here several times during the summer between the Buckaroos and the Shipyarders' league, the professionals of the old game. A Sunday shipyard game. Thus it will be that the fans may see a double header, at the same time getting an idea of how strong the shipyarders are as compared with the McCredie hirelings. The gate should be profitable for both, as the crowd will not be divided.

Sunday baseball in Vancouver is illegal. When Portland plays Vancouver, the schedule shows that the two clubs play to the big Saturday afternoon crowd and then entrain for Portland for a Sunday game. If Manager Brown does not wish to take chances on dropping down to Portland for one game, McCredie will suggest that two games be played in Vancouver on Saturday afternoon and that the Bucks will come home to play the winner of the Sunday game at Vaughn street for Portland for a Sunday game. Service would permit the Bucks to arrive about 3 o'clock, which would be ample time for them to get into uniform.

One Week Stands Here For the rest of the season, Portland will be a home for stretches of only one week, alternating this week at home with one away from home. There are nine more weeks of baseball scheduled for Portland. Judge McCredie left today for the McCredie hot springs on Salt creek in Lane county, where he will spend the week in getting the resort shaped up for the summer trade.

Cox Says Status Is Same Information from Tacoma is to the effect that Dick Cox says his status with relation to being called into the national army is the same as it was two weeks ago. An ornamental looking letter from the war department addressed to Cox was received at Judge McCredie's office yesterday and the Judge forwarded it to Tacoma. Whether Cox has yet received this letter has not been stated in wires from Tacoma.
