

EXPENSE ACCOUNT OF R. N. STANFIELD NOT COMPLETED

Of $15,000 Reported Donated, Candidate Shows How but $2000 Was Used.

LEAGUE ALSO DELINQUENT

Secretary of Booster Organization Files Affidavit Intended Only for Candidate.

Washington, May 21.—(U. P.)—The expense account of R. N. Stanfield, candidate for senator from Oregon, has not been completed. The account shows that $15,000 was reported as having been donated to the candidate, but that only $2,000 of it had been used. The expense account also shows that the Stanfield League, a booster organization, is delinquent in its payments to the candidate. The league has not paid for the printing of the candidate's name on the ballot, and has not paid for the cost of the campaign. The league's secretary, W. C. E. Pruitt, has filed an affidavit with the court, stating that the league's funds are being used for the candidate's campaign. The affidavit is intended only for the candidate and is not a legal document. The league's delinquency is a violation of the laws of the state, and the candidate is liable for the amount of the delinquency. The candidate has not paid for the league's delinquency, and the league's secretary is liable for the amount of the delinquency. The candidate's expense account is not complete, and the league's delinquency is a violation of the laws of the state.

LEAGUE OVERLOOKS EXCEPTION

This exemption does not extend to a committee or to anyone but the candidate himself. The Stanfield league appears to have overlooked this and has assumed that it had the same privileges as the candidate. It has reported no expenditures at all except for newspaper advertising. The cost of its headquarters, its salary list, payments for workers and circulating, do not appear. These are expenses which the law of congress is intended to cover, so that congress and the public can know where campaign funds are spent, and what amounts go for such purposes.

FRUIT USES WRONG AFFIDAVIT

Pruitt, secretary of the Stanfield league, attached to his statement an affidavit which is intended for use only by the candidate, thereby giving himself immunity from reporting what may be assumed to be the heaviest part of the league's expense, in view of the visible output of the Stanfield campaign. Unless this is corrected by a later statement the public will be unable to size up the properties of the case, and the senate will be unable to judge whether the law has been complied with.

THE STANFIELD EXPENSE ACCOUNT IN ITS DETAIL BECOMES ALL THE MORE INTERESTING IN THIS RESPECT IN CONTRAST WITH THE MODERATE EXPENDITURES OF SENATOR McNARY, WHO REPORTED THAT HE HAD RECEIVED NO CONTRIBUTIONS AND EXPENDED ONLY A LITTLE MORE THAN $600.

PUBLISHERS CALL ON WASHINGTON OFFICIALS

Washington, May 21.—Newspaper publishers in numbers descended on Washington a few days ago following the adjournment of the publishers' association meeting in New York. Some came for a look around at the capital, but most of them also came for a look-in at various departments on public matters. Consequently there have been numerous calls on the food and fuel administrators, the shipping board and the federal trade commission, the latter organization being in touch with the news print situation. Second class postal rates and the construction placed on capital investment under the excess profits tax were likewise the subject of consideration. Among others who came to Washington were Scott Bone of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Samuel A. Perkins of the Tacoma Ledger, W. H. Cowles of the Spokane Spokesman-Review, V. C. McClatchy of the Sacramento Bee, C. A. Morden of the Portland Oregonian and Joseph A. Blodgett of the Seattle Times.

McArthur Reports Expenses

Washington, May 21.—H. S. McCutchan, as manager and treasurer of the McArthur campaign committee at Portland, has filed a report with the clerk of the house showing $300 received in contributions for the primary campaign of Representative McArthur, and $475 expended.

In this account $300 figures as a credit offset by an equal debit, as this sum is reported as a temporary loan by A. D. Katz, already repaid.

The contributions proper are $200 each from A. L. Mills and E. Cookingham, $50 from W. C. Alvord and $25 each from J. C. Ainsworth and William McKinnis.

Expenditures are $300 to the secretary of state for pamphlet space, $40 to the Portland News for advertising and $23.88 for newspaper cuts.

Dymert in Washington

Washington, D. C., May 21.—Colin V. Dymert, formerly on the staff of The Journal at Portland, Or., is now acting as assistant to the director of the division of state administration of the national fuel administration. Mr. Dymert was granted leave of absence for work from the University of Washington, where he was at the head of the department of journalism. He may remain indefinitely with the fuel administration, or may join the Red Cross forces in France. David Whicomb of Seattle, until recently state fuel administrator for the state of Washington, has arrived here and taken up work as executive secretary to Dr. Harry A. Garfield, federal fuel administrator.

Survey of Boiler Plants

Washington, D. C., May 21.—Many small shops throughout the United States can make boilers suitable for use in the wood merchant fleet, in the opinion of Chairman Hurley of the shipping board, and he is starting a survey to locate them. It is proposed to supply contracts for boilers to the limit of capacity of all the plants where facilities exist. After that is done, if it appears there is still a shortage for the government needs, new plants for the work will be considered. Location of the shops will not weigh against them in securing contracts. Business will be awarded to plants in the interior towns whether within a shipbuilding section or not.

Two Firms Penalized

Washington, D. C., May 21.—Two coffee firms of Portland, Or., are included in a list of delinquents penalized by the food administration for failure to submit applications in time for receipt in Washington by February 4, the date fixed by the president's proclamation requiring importers and dealers to secure licenses. The J. J. Dunning company and the Portland Coffee company will not be given licenses until May 8, the effect being to suspend their coffee business until that date. About 250 firms throughout the United States were subjected to a similar penalty.

Bulletins on Clover Midge

Washington, D. C., May 21.—C. W. Creel, in charge of the entomological laboratory of the department of agriculture at Forest Grove, Or., and his assistant, L. P. Rockwood, are joint authors of a new farmers' bulletin, "Controlling the Clover Flower Midge in the Pacific Northwest." The publication describes the measures adopted in defeating the ravages of a dangerous pest.

Soil Survey Approved

Washington, D. C., May 21.—Carl Vrooman, assistant secretary of agriculture, has reported to Representative Hawley that a soil survey has been approved for Washington county, Oregon. Requests had been made in behalf of Josephine, Polk, Washington, Multnomah, Des Chutes and Jefferson counties, and Washington county was chosen as the one likely to confer the greatest immediate benefit.

The Chaplain Bill

Washington, D. C., May 21.—It is expected that the Rev. Frank James, a Methodist minister of Lebanon, Or., and captain of the home guards there, will be one of the first to be appointed in the list of additional chaplains of the army when the "chaplain bill" is finally approved. The bill was once passed and vetoed by the president because of his belief that the language would unintentionally exclude from service some of the chaplains now serving.

MRS. FALKNER, 103, DIES AT ALBANY

One of Oldest Oregon Pioneer Women Lived on One Farm in Linn 67 Years.

Albany, Or., May 21.—Mrs. Mary Falkner, believed to be the oldest woman in the state, died at her home near Albany at the age of 103 years 14 days. She is survived by seven children, 25 grandchildren and 50 great-grandchildren. She passed away Monday. Mrs. Falkner was born in Ohio, came to Linn county in 1851 and since that time had lived on the donation land claim taken after first arriving in the state. Her husband died 20 years ago. The eldest son, Elias Falkner, is 83 years old and lives in Linn county. John Falkner and George Falkner live in Eastern Oregon. M. E. Falkner in Albany; Solomon Falkner in Lebanon, Joe Falkner on the home farm, and Mrs. Mary Foster in Eastern Oregon. All will attend the funeral today except Mrs. Foster.

front, ready to strike the moment Field Marshal Hindenburg finds an opening. I calculate that 100 divisions of shock troops (1,200,000 men) are awaiting Hindenburg's order. Forty of these are fresh, not having been used in this season's fighting. The other 60 have been out of the line long enough to be rested and doped up morally by Germany's professional spirits boosters. Without prophesying what will be the nature of the attack, or how the effort naturally ought to be his final or semi-final attempt.

Expected to Hammer British

From now on, all prisoners returning from Russia, together with the 1913 British wounded, are being sent probably will barely suffice to keep his active divisions up to anything like their intended strength. The Kaiser may undertake elaborate feints here and there, but the indications are his main thrust will be against the British or the French and British combined.

My information is that the Germans will hammer the British with the bulk of their army, simultaneously spreading propaganda to the effect that the British do not fight as well as the other allies, in order to create friction among the neutral nations.

Meanwhile, prisoners admit that German mouths are still watering for Amiens and the cool, gray valley of the Somme, stretching toward the sea.

The Fighting Weather Continues

Thus, with double objectives—one impudently to draw attention to the losses and desperate—Hindenburg may be expected shortly to set the western battlefront ablaze. In the meantime, events out here are proceeding as usual before an offensive. There is considerable shelling by high explosives and jockeying for the high ground that furnishes the advantage of position in the air country over a front of 4000 yards, creeping nearer to the heights of Kemmel itself, which the Germans captured at such enormous cost of human life.

To use the expression made famous by Marshal Joffre, the Anglo-French forces on the battlefronts are "nibbling" at the German lines in a series of highly successful minor operations. But while the British are nibbling, the Germans are gnawing at the Picardy and Flanders battlefronts, earlier in the war they had been called big engagements.

Following the capture of Ville Sur Ancre, on the northern end of the Picardy front, the British attacked on the southern end of the Flanders zone Tuesday night, gaining ground near Merville. Merville lies from seven to eight miles northwest of the British railroad and base position of Bethune, in the district where the Germans have been heavily shelling the allied front for several days. Gigantic deals with big guns continue over the greater part of the two battle zones. North of Albert, in the Hebuterne zone, where many European war critics look for the next German blow to fall, there is intense shelling, and also between Nieppe forest and Meteren, about midway along the Flanders battle line.

East of Arras and from the Scarpe river to Hill No. 70 north of Lens the Germans have increased their artillery activity.

This was the sixty-second day of the German grand offensive.

BIG EXPRESS COMPANIES TO MERGE

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—(U. P.)—A formal agreement was reached today between the Wells-Fargo, American, Adams and Southern express companies is expected from New York within the next few days, it was learned here Monday afternoon.

A. Christensen, vice president and general manager of Wells, Fargo & Co., left here Monday for New York to confer with eastern officials.

It is rumored that he will be placed in charge of the merged concerns in the west. Reports from New York received today indicate that C. C. Taylor of New York, president of the American Express company, would be head of the merged company, with D. B. Caldwell of New York, president of Wells, Fargo & Co., chairman of the board of directors.

JOURNAL OPENS NEW FREE TRAVEL BUREAU FOR ALL TOURISTS

Dorsey B. Smith Has Charge of Department to Assist Travelers in Many Ways.

To accommodate all prospective railroad and steamer travelers and automobile tourists, The Oregon Journal established a free travel and information bureau in its circulation room Monday. The bureau is under the direction of Dorsey B. Smith who has conducted a travel bureau in Portland for the last eight years.

The stress of war has caused the closing down of the Portland office that formerly cared for the needs of travelers and only urgent railroad business is handled at the main office. The Journal Travel and Information Bureau's purpose, according to Mr. Smith will be to give the service formerly rendered by the displaced agencies. This will include planning of trips; making up detailed itineraries; reserving and providing tickets for Pullman berths; securing steamer and hotel accommodations; furnishing railroad and steamer tickets; checking baggage from home hotels to destination; providing descriptive literature; caring for automobile tourists' needs, and helping in any way possible to make travelers' trials less trying.

that both papers are 3004 votes away from the correct result so far as the contest over the public service commissioner's office is concerned.

Hoff Gains Small Lead

Thomas F. Ryan and O. P. Hoff seem to be playing a game of "button, button, who's got the button" over the Republican nomination for state treasurer. Hoff, at the last tabulation of the count, had jumped into the lead with 138 votes ahead of Ryan, who up to this time has been slightly in the lead. Hoff's lead comes as the result of a change in the count from Coos county. This includes the complete count from 23 counties, including Multnomah, together with incomplete returns from all the remainder except Grant, Harney, Lake and Wheeler, which have not been heard from as to this office.

In Multnomah's complete count Hoff led Ryan by 358 votes. In the count from the outside state, so far as received, Ryan leads Hoff by 370 votes. The struggle between the two marks the closest contest of the primary election.

The statewide vote is: Ryan, 16,257; Hoff, 16,395; Adams, 15,295; Cusick, 11,193; West, 9074; Plummer, 5225.

Johns Appears Safe

Charles A. Johns seems to have a safe lead for the Republican nomination for justice of the supreme court with 1784 votes to the good, Percy E. Kelly being in second place.

Here again the big lead given Johns in Multnomah county has stood him in good stead and probably given him the nomination. The Multnomah county vote was Johns, 14,488; Coke, 6611; Kelly, 4201; a Johns lead of 8281 over Kelly.

The outstate vote gave Kelly a lead of 6447 over Johns, and of 788 over Coke. The vote was Kelly, 16,465; Coke, 15,877; Johns, 10,018.

The statewide vote is: Ryan, 16,257; Hoff, 16,395; Adams, 15,295; Cusick, 11,193; West, 9074; Plummer, 5225.

ON SAME BILL WITH ALASKA WONDERS IN MOTION

An amazing example of the most daring camera work we've ever seen. A GLACIER CAUGHT IN ACTION! Thousands of tons of ice and snow breaking off and falling hundreds of feet into the sea, setting up great tidal waves and shaking the earth for miles around. Worth a dollar alone.

Last Call to the Settle Sale

WITHOUT wasting a single word, we can tell you that we are trying to wind up the business and quit next Saturday night.

As this is being written we have 20 Suits left, about 40 wash skirts, probably 200 Waists and maybe 75 very charming silk and wool Dresses. The final reductions are in force right now. Nothing is going to be cut again for the reason that we have a standing offer for the balance of the stock from a well known dealer in Seattle.

FOLKS who are figuring that the "last day will see things given away" can therefore say adieu to that fond hope!

But if you come quickly you can buy $27.50 Suits for $16.50, or a $55.00 Suit for $27.50. A $95.00 Suit for $42.50 and so on for the entire 29.

DRESSES of silk taffeta, wool serge or wool jersey are priced in the same fashion. For $17.50 or $22.50 you can buy charming one-piece Dresses that came from New York 30 days ago to sell for $35.00 and $45.00 and $50.00 apiece.

And here's a group for $12.50 that were $25.00 and $32.50. As pretty as a picture, too!

The aristocratic "party" frocks that were the pride of the Settle store have fallen from grace! The $55.00 ones can be bought for $24.50—the $69.00 ones for $29.50. The frocks that were $110.00 are $42.50, and for $48.50 you can get the Callot models that were $125.00 apiece.

OF COURSE, there's just one of a kind of these exclusive models, so to print details would only be to court disappointment. The very thing you decided to buy might be gone!

THE Coats are reduced to a mere armful. The $65.00 and $75.00 Bolivia Cloth Coats are now $38.50 apiece. The $30.00 Jersey Cloth Coats are $15.50, and so on.

Waists are still fairly plentiful—the final prices are $1.50, $2.50, $3.50 and $4.50 for the majority. A few hand-embroidered models are $10.00 apiece — they were $25.00. The best Waist in the store is $16.50 instead of $32.00. Many are "way less than half price and not one is anywhere near full price!

THE Wool Sweaters are all sold excepting two. The Silk Sweaters are also gone, but there are two Fiber Silk Sweaters left at $10.00 apiece—they were $20.00.

There are a few Dress Skirts at less than half price. The Wash Skirts and Wash Dresses are also marked half and in some cases less.

ALL sales are for cash. There are no goods laid aside and no more alterations can be done here. Also at my own suggestion we are charging 10c for all parcels we deliver. We ought not to be asked to pay for delivery when we sell goods at less than they cost to make.

Please buy carefully — we cannot exchange anything nor refund any money.

I PROMISED that Sunday's advertisement should be the last. I sincerely wanted it to be—but The Journal readers are entitled to know what's going on, so the story is told as briefly as possible.

Here's journey's end: The Settle Shop, with all its beautiful finery for women, goes out of business in a few days — Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday—and, curtain, please!

I thank you. GEORGE FRANCIS ROWE.
