New Offerings on Screen and Stage

A certain amount of distrust is wholesome, but not so much of others as of ourselves; neither vanity nor conceit can exist in the same atmosphere with it.—Southey.

Grandpa Makes Hit on New Program

Music and Comedy of Unusual Character Mark Mid-Week Change.

THE new Hippodrome bill, which opened Thursday, ran to the limit of vaudeville excellence in music and comedy. Francis Owen, who appears in a comedy playlet entitled "Grandpa," and Leon Domque, a good pianist, share top line honors on the bill.

As "Grandpa," Owen plays the role of a Civil War veteran. Needless to say, the playlet is timely. It is unusually well produced and carries plenty of heart interest as well as comedy.

Domque plays ragtime, popular and classical music in a way that is usually heard on the vaudeville stage.

Jones and Johnson, colored funny men, do a lot of talking that produces a storm of mirth. They sing a character song also producing mirth.

Cedil and Mack, a girl and a man comedy team, are good to look at and produce many laughs.

The Petite troupe, doing acrobatic stunts, cleverly worked out some new features that not only make their act top-notch but add considerable merit to the show.

Arthur and Dolly Le Roy are athletic. They sing and dance and extol comedy besides.

The photoplay is a bit unusual. It features Baby Marie Osborne in "Dolly Does Her Bit." It shows the adventures of a mechanical doll auctioned at a Red Cross benefit.

Members of Paulist Chorists of Chicago, the big musical organization, will give concerts at The Auditorium Saturday and Sunday. The chorists are made up of over 100 male voices, 75 of which are boys.

Paulist Singers Give Concert Saturday

Great Chicago Musical Organization Will Appear at The Auditorium; Over 100 Male Voices.

THE Paulist Chorists of Chicago, who will appear at The Auditorium Saturday and Sunday evenings, will present a varied program of sacred, operatic and patriotic airs, interspersed with favorite folk songs. Their director, Father William J. Finn, holds a commission that may call him to the army, navy or some base hospital in France at any time. The Paulist Chorists have given concerts in over 100 cities on their present tour, which has for its object the raising of $100,000 to be spent through the French ambassador, J. Jusserand, at Washington, D. C., for the relief of the destitute French and Belgian refugees. All money derived from the concerts aside from actual operating expenses will be used for this worthy purpose. They are appearing in Portland under the management of Rev. W. J. Cartwright, C. S. P., of the Parish of St. Philip Neri.

Lulu Fada Helps Develop Marines

Paris Island, S. C., May 31.—Wuxtry: United States marines have conquered Lulu Fada without loss of life or firing a shot! Only minor injuries sustained to the extent of a few sore muscles—a really remarkable record taking into consideration that "Lulu" is one of the most difficult of modern society dances.

The Lulu Fada consists of a maze of whirling, dips, twists and, quite often, "flips" on the part of the participants.

It was introduced to the sea soldiers by one of their physical instructors, who, prior to enlisting in the Marine corps, was a prominent New York dancing instructor.

"The dance, while one of the most difficult known, is a wonderful developer of the leg muscles and the men in training here are being aided greatly by it," declared the ex-dancing master.

Bed Time Tales

Jimmy Coon Takes Possession of Somebody's House.

JIMMY COON is like some rich people, for he likes to have several houses. You know, some rich people have so many houses that they have no home. Now Jimmy Coon likes to have many houses, so that he could go on a vacation and have a nice house wherever he happened to turn up. If he went on a hunting trip or a fishing trip, for a week, why, he thought he must have a nice house to sleep in. And wherever Jimmy Coon hung up his hat, was home to him. You see, he could remodel a hollow tree anywhere, and so have another nice house.

And Jimmy is very fussy, and he wants to be comfortable, both in cold weather and in hot weather. And you know that people who think only of their own comfort, are very selfish. Jimmy was selfish, and he wanted the best hollow trees in cold weather, and the highest Summer Houses in the highest trees in hot weather.

One warm moonlight night, when he was traveling in the forest, he was hunting for a hollow tree to settle down in that soft feather bed, and he settled down in that soft feather bed, and laid his cunning head on that soft feather pillow. And Jimmy whispered to his little heart, "What a lovely nest, and what a soft bed! And now I'll drop off to sleep for a long summer day, rocked by the summer breezes, as they sway these branches!"

It was a lovely sight, to see Jimmy Coon fast asleep in this big nest, way up in the top of the big Chestnut tree! And a Song Sparrow sang a lovely lullaby as Jimmy dropped off to sleep. But Jimmy had taken possession of some other fellow's nice house, without asking. There'll be trouble!

Tomorrow—The Owner of the House Awakens Jimmy Coon.

A SUCCESSFUL REMEDY

All things succeed which really deserve to—those which fill a real need, which prove their worth. The fact that the famous old root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has for three generations been relieving women of the country from the worst forms of female ills and has won such a strong place in our American homes proves its merit beyond the question of a doubt. It will well pay any woman who is in need of such a medicine to try it.—Adv.

CHAT NO. 11

Tomorrow Charlie Chaplin will be with us, of course not in person, but in one of those funny, funny pictures that just make you laugh until you ache. He is not going to be the only attraction though, for in the evening there will be a concert by Cliff's Celebrated Band and vocal solos by Beth Groves Young. This entire program is free to park guests.

Then, don't forget that this is the loveliest place to picnic imaginable. Great oak trees shade the park, while a profusion of roses adds beauty and fragrance. Little vine-covered Summer houses afford a delightful place for you to spread the picnic lunch—and in the free kitchenette hot coffee may be prepared. Come out in the morning, bring the children and spend the day. Let Dad join you in the evening for supper under the trees and the concert.

A trip through Hilarity Hall will make you laugh for a week—there are the most unexpected things happening every minute—and the more unexpected they are the more you laugh.

National Anthem Brings Men to Their Feet

Women and Children Are Given Seats

Chicago, May 31.—(I. N. S.)—Great Lakes jacksies in town today are having a nice, quiet laugh to themselves.

It happened Thursday night, when the jackie band boarded an elevated car en route for the station. The cars were crowded, and, as usual, those hanging on to straps were women and children.

The jacksies put their heads together. The next moment the strains of "The Star-Spangled Banner" went floating through the cars. It took several moments, but finally the air dawned on the men and all stood. The jacksies kept on playing as the car rounded several blocks of curves.

Then it stopped, and the leader, in true sailor fashion, shouted, "Women and children first."

When the men recovered, every seat was occupied by the women, girls and children.

Rose Society Decides Not to Hold Show

The Portland Rose society has decided not to hold its show this year as formerly, owing to difficulty anticipated in raising the necessary funds. The city council is unable to give the society any assistance and because the annual Rose Festival will not be held this summer there is no possibility of obtaining financial aid from that source.

Arrangements had been made for the use of The Auditorium in June, but at the request of the Rose society these dates have been cancelled.

A display of fine roses will be made by the Portland Heights club at the club house about the middle of June.

Sphagnum Moss Subject of Lecture

All Red Cross Workers Expected to Hear Professor Sweetser at Library Tonight.

FIRST hand instruction on what sphagnum moss is, what an important part it is to play on the battle fields of France and the essentials of the Red Cross sphagnum moss dressings will be told surgical dressing workers of the Portland chapter, American Red Cross at a meeting tonight in the public library at 3:15, to be addressed by Professor Albert Sweetser, the leading authority in America on sphagnum dressings. The general public is invited.

Following this meeting, table chairmen of the Red Cross surgical dressing workroom will begin the instruction of their hundreds of workers, all of whom are expected to be at the meeting. The leaders have, for the past week, been receiving intensive instruction at the hands of Miss Evelyn Klahr.

Large quantities of sphagnum moss, which was picked by hundreds of volunteers at Iwaco, Wash., are now on hand at the chapter workroom. It has been sorted, dried and prepared. There are on hand also stocks of the special paper manufactured for the Red Cross, and this paper is an essential for the bandage.

The workroom of the Portland chapter will shortly be reopened that a whirlwind start may be begun on the initial order of 500,000 sphagnum moss dressings which at this time, represent the most urgent need of the army.
