NEARLY 500 DRAFT MEN LEAVE CITY FOR ARMY CAMPS

Farewell Dinner in Multnomah Hotel Gives Boys Heartening Send-Off.

PROGRAM IS GIVEN AT HOTEL

Friends and Relatives Throng on Way to Train.

Portland bade enthusiastic farewell to 481 members of the second draft quota which started for training camp Sunday evening. Following a sumptuous feast at the Multnomah hotel, the soldiers-to-be marched to the Union station for entrainment, accompanied by relatives and friends, while thousands lined the curbs and applauded those departing. Isadore Van Donick, one of the men who left with the draftees Sunday evening, is a Belgian. Two of his brother are fighting in the Belgian army. Isadore is quite a hero among his associates, who gave him a send off that must have turned other soldiers-to-be green with envy. They carried him on their shoulders; they surrounded him on all sides; they sang and they cheered; they bore him in triumph to the station, and there executed a Belgian dance in his honor. Isadore's mother was along and she was as active in the patriotic demonstration as any of them. Belgian flags were waved along with the Stars and Stripes. In addition to Isadore's two brothers in the Belgian army, he has another brother of draft age, who has been given deferred classification by board No. 11 until he has time to dispose of his business.

Italian Carries Flags

Michael Triggano, an Italian, carried his native flag and the American flag together, wrapped carefully up in tissue paper, declaring that they would stay with him until he marched down the streets of Berlin.

Four men on the list of board No. failed to show up Sunday evening for entrainment and will be classed as deserters. Three of them are Chinamen, Lee Ah Pak. formerly employed at the Fife. Alexandra Court apartments: Low Chow, 392 Morrison street, and John Gum, 89 North Fourth street. fourth man, in the opinion of board members, unintentionally failed to apappear, but, since he did not, he will also be classed as a deserter. Two alternates were at once summoned to take their places and two more alternates will be sent on in a day or so.

Walter Preston, from board No. 11, showed up at the last minute with a case of the mumps. He was sent home to recover and probably will be sent to camp within 10 days. Escorted by Guard

The marchers were escorted by the Multnomah guard band and a detail of police, and officers from Vancouver Barracks, marched from the Liberty temple Sunday evening down Sixth street to the Union station, where they entrained to go into camp to begin active training. Friends and relatives thronged the streets and marched beside the drafters. The farewell dinner was presided over by Acting Mayor Bigelow, who made a en's Service acted as waitresses and fell you fight for the country?" in with the line of march to the station.

Records show that there are about 60,000 Jewish volunteers in the governnental military service and thousands have been enrolled recently. The national organization of the Jewish Welfare board was formed to provide men in the same way that the Y. M. C. crease in the cost of living.

"Associated Press dispatches of recent date have indicated that there has been a wonderful new wheat known Burbank's Super-wheat originated by the well known plant breeder of California. Correspondence with wheat specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture has indicated that this is not claimed to be a new production, but that it has been a successful variety that has out-yielded some other varieties under certain conditions in California. These same government experts have reached the conclusion that the so-called Super wheat is the variety commonly grown in Oregon as Jones Winter

"This variety was tried out on the Oregon Experiment Station at Corval-lis, and it is not as good a yielder as White Winter and some others of the commonly known varieties of the Willamette valley.

"It is therefore, cheaper to buy Jones Winter Fife under Oregon conditions, as such, than to send away for it and get it under a new name.

Jack Day says, "a torrid meeting" in fact. They are intending to enthrone the painitating form of party harmony, after a little session of intensive training in the way of boxing up the preliminary organization, throwing a few precinct committeemen out of their elective jobs and a few things like that. Then, the preliminaries out of the way, Jack Day, with Elmer L. Amidon in his corner, and James D| Abbott, with Charlie Lockwood and Ferdinand E. Reed in his corner, will put on the main event, in which one will take the count while the other will take the championship of Multnomah county in the shape of the county chairmanship. There are to be a few minor events but they will be framed according to the outcome of the main scrap. The entertainment was arranged prior to the preliminaries when Day, and Reed and Lockwood each filed more or less full precinct committeeman tickets with the county clerk. Fragments of each ticket were selected by the voters and now, at the time appointed by law, the fragments are to be hurled against each other for the purpose of grinding out a "county organization."
