

SOCIETY AND WOMEN'S CLUB HAPPENINGS TOLD FULLY IN SUNDAY'S JOURNAL

SOCIAL CALENDAR

Friday, June 7
Luncheon in compliment to Miss Jean Morrison, bride-elect, given by Mrs. John S. Napier at her residence near the Waverly Country club.

Miss O'Neill To Become June Army Bride

Engagement to Lieutenant James Hatfield Lemons, 14th Infantry, Announced at Luncheon.

By Nona Lawler
At a luncheon at the University club Wednesday Mrs. James Twombly announced the engagement of Miss Grace O'Neill and Lieutenant James Hatfield Lemons, U. S. A. The engagement comes as a great surprise, as it is a romance of two months' standing, the bridegroom-elect having been stationed here on detached service at that time. He was in the Fourteenth Infantry, most of his unit are in Alaska. They are to be assembled shortly. The wedding is planned for June 19, as plans beyond that date are, in keeping with the war uncertainties, quite indefinite. Lieutenant Lemons is a University of Michigan man, class '12, and is a member of the Portland Hunt club here.

Miss O'Neill is a popular and clever girl, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. O'Neill, and her engagement will be heard with interest by hosts of friends. The wedding will be a pretty home ceremony at the residence of the bride's parents in Irvington, at East Fifteenth and Brazee streets.

The luncheon was prettily appointed, the table being centered with a French basket of roses, corsage bouquets of the same flowers marking the places. The announcement cards were concealed in these. Those circling the board were Miss O'Neill, Mrs. Henry Connor, Mrs. Frank Tebbetta, Mrs. Frank Watkins, Mrs. M. B. James, Mrs. Jerry Neuman, Mrs. Frederick Hyakell, Mrs. Emory Olmstead, Misses Margaret and Alberta Blair, Mrs. J. J. O'Neill, the honoree and the hostess.

Visiting at Salem

Mrs. S. Seese of Portland is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Charles K. Spaulding, in Salem, having motored with Mrs. Spaulding and Miss Ila Spaulding from Portland, after accompanying Miss Spaulding's house guest, Miss Clara Bean of Idaho this far on her trip home. Miss Bean was planning to stop en route at Spokane, Mrs. Spaulding, Mrs. Seese, Miss Spaulding, Mrs. Walter L. Spaulding and Miss Rosa Hines motored to Newberg to spend Decoration day.

To Visit Toronto

Mrs. M. T. Daly and her daughter, Miss Irene Daly, left Wednesday evening for Toronto to visit her son, Orwin Daly, who is with the royal flying corps there. He entered the service in Canada last fall, when the examinations for the American flyers were so strict that he was unable to pass them on account of his eyes. His training during the winter was at the American camp at Fort Worth, Texas, after which he was returned to Canada. The stay of Mrs. Daly and her daughter in Toronto will be indefinite, pending orders for service overseas.

Guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ayer

Mrs. Vernon Kellogg, the distinguished Eastern woman who is touring the country in the interests of the food administration, and who will speak here next Thursday, will be the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ayer during her short stay in Portland, arriving Wednesday of next week.

W. R. C. Plans for Flag Day

William McKinley W. R. C. will give a flag day entertainment in I. O. O. F. hall, East Eighteenth and Gileson streets, at 3 p. m. Tuesday, June 18. All are invited.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Friendly, with their little son, Melvin Charles, are now in their new home, 808 Northrup street. At home Fridays.

$743.76 Is Raised By Basket Social

Portland, Or., June 6.—Secretary C. E. Roosevelt of the Umattila Club Red Cross chapter received notice Tuesday that $743.76 had been deposited in the Echo bank to the credit of the Red Cross, and he supposed the sum to be a turnover from that district from the war drive. However, it was no such thing, he found out later, but was a donation from the little country school, 11 miles southwest of Echo, known as the Thompson school. The money was raised at a basket social and entertainment held there last week to celebrate the closing of the term. One bidder bought $80 worth of baskets, which sum Auctioneer Allen Thomson equalled with a check. Thomas Rose wished to be sure the school made a good showing and added a check for $75 to the amount raised through the basket sale.

FERN'S CLOAKS, SUITS AND DRESSES

After-Season Sale
ANY SUIT
in the Store From $15.00 to $22.50
COATS
$14.50 to $20.00
DRESSES
$12.50 to $22.50

FERN'S CLOAKS, SUITS AND DRESSES
144 BROADWAY
NAT. FRIEDMAN, Mgr.

MRS. WILLIAM H. SKENE, chairman of the overseas committee of the National League for Women's Service, which opens headquarters in Liberty Temple this week. This is one of the largest and most important of the league's committees.

—Photo By Grove.

Household Hints

So far as her physical endurance is concerned, a woman would make as good a soldier as a man.

No less an authority than Dr. Dudley H. Sargent, head of Harvard college gymnasium, is responsible for this statement in a recent interview. The doctor doesn't stop here either.

He goes on to say that women have just as much courage as men and, what seems more unusual indeed, that pound for pound they can spend more muscular energy than men can. It is by the strength in her legs a work comes in she is at a disadvantage. Give a trained woman the chance to use the muscles of her lower legs, Dr. Sargent says, and in some cases she can lift a 1000 pound weight. He cites instances where women have actually done this.

It is interesting to note how Dr. Sargent tramples down that old pet theory about women's lack of strength and courage. It is encouraging to the woman who reads this now and feels no answering beat of energy. Woman can be strong and courageous and not realize it, the doctor asserts. The point is this: From the very beginning she has been so surrounded with the idea of her own weakness that there was nothing else to do but believe it, and she's been believing it ever since—until now. To prove his contention of what the purportedly weaker sex can do when it throws off tradition, Dr. Sargent quotes the fact that some people say will bring him to the league headquarters, Marshall 4600, and they will be called for by the motor division of the league. Contributions of fruit and vegetables are also desired and these will also be called for.

The school for commercial classes will open June 24 under the auspices of the University of Oregon in the old Lincoln high school. All who desire to take advantage of this excellent course at an extremely low rate of tuition are urged to register as early as possible at the headquarters of the league. The course will take students in stenography and typewriting, bookkeeping and office work, penmanship, arithmetic, and telegraphy. It is a special war emergency course, and will be conducted through Dean Morton of the University of Oregon, for the national league. Classes will be in the evenings so that all women employed during the day may have an opportunity of taking whatever branch of the course they desire.

The finance committee of the league follows: Mesdames Wilbur E. Coman, Julius L. Louissou, Ralph E. Williams, John A. Keating, Allen Jobs, A. Kerry, L. Weinstein, Edna Ransom, Adrienne L. McCalman, M. Leroy Fields, Andrew R. Porter, Julius L. Meier, Julius Lippett, Folger Johnson, Harold M. Sawyer and Max Hirsch.

To save time for circuses in moving a wagon has been invented that carries a huge spool upon which tents can be rolled, horses providing the power.

He comes a little bit nearer home than this, too, and reminds us of the man with the cold who stays at home to nurse it. He isn't happy unless every one in the house is just as uncomfortable about it as he is. Then he reminds us of mother when she has a headache. It isn't necessary to talk about this, Dr. Sargent says, and in some cases she can lift a 1000 pound weight. He cites instances where women have actually done this.

It is interesting to note how Dr. Sargent tramples down that old pet theory about women's lack of strength and courage. It is encouraging to the woman who reads this now and feels no answering beat of energy. Woman can be strong and courageous and not realize it, the doctor asserts. The point is this: From the very beginning she has been so surrounded with the idea of her own weakness that there was nothing else to do but believe it, and she's been believing it ever since—until now. To prove his contention of what the purportedly weaker sex can do when it throws off tradition, Dr. Sargent quotes the fact that some people say will bring him to the league headquarters, Marshall 4600, and they will be called for by the motor division of the league. Contributions of fruit and vegetables are also desired and these will also be called for.

The school for commercial classes will open June 24 under the auspices of the University of Oregon in the old Lincoln high school. All who desire to take advantage of this excellent course at an extremely low rate of tuition are urged to register as early as possible at the headquarters of the league. The course will take students in stenography and typewriting, bookkeeping and office work, penmanship, arithmetic, and telegraphy. It is a special war emergency course, and will be conducted through Dean Morton of the University of Oregon, for the national league. Classes will be in the evenings so that all women employed during the day may have an opportunity of taking whatever branch of the course they desire.

The finance committee of the league follows: Mesdames Wilbur E. Coman, Julius L. Louissou, Ralph E. Williams, John A. Keating, Allen Jobs, A. Kerry, L. Weinstein, Edna Ransom, Adrienne L. McCalman, M. Leroy Fields, Andrew R. Porter, Julius L. Meier, Julius Lippett, Folger Johnson, Harold M. Sawyer and Max Hirsch.

To save time for circuses in moving a wagon has been invented that carries a huge spool upon which tents can be rolled, horses providing the power.

He comes a little bit nearer home than this, too, and reminds us of the man with the cold who stays at home to nurse it. He isn't happy unless every one in the house is just as uncomfortable about it as he is. Then he reminds us of mother when she has a headache. It isn't necessary to talk about this, Dr. Sargent says, and in some cases she can lift a 1000 pound weight. He cites instances where women have actually done this.

It is interesting to note how Dr. Sargent tramples down that old pet theory about women's lack of strength and courage. It is encouraging to the woman who reads this now and feels no answering beat of energy. Woman can be strong and courageous and not realize it, the doctor asserts. The point is this: From the very beginning she has been so surrounded with the idea of her own weakness that there was nothing else to do but believe it, and she's been believing it ever since—until now. To prove his contention of what the purportedly weaker sex can do when it throws off tradition, Dr. Sargent quotes the fact that some people say will bring him to the league headquarters, Marshall 4600, and they will be called for by the motor division of the league. Contributions of fruit and vegetables are also desired and these will also be called for.

The school for commercial classes will open June 24 under the auspices of the University of Oregon in the old Lincoln high school. All who desire to take advantage of this excellent course at an extremely low rate of tuition are urged to register as early as possible at the headquarters of the league. The course will take students in stenography and typewriting, bookkeeping and office work, penmanship, arithmetic, and telegraphy. It is a special war emergency course, and will be conducted through Dean Morton of the University of Oregon, for the national league. Classes will be in the evenings so that all women employed during the day may have an opportunity of taking whatever branch of the course they desire.

The finance committee of the league follows: Mesdames Wilbur E. Coman, Julius L. Louissou, Ralph E. Williams, John A. Keating, Allen Jobs, A. Kerry, L. Weinstein, Edna Ransom, Adrienne L. McCalman, M. Leroy Fields, Andrew R. Porter, Julius L. Meier, Julius Lippett, Folger Johnson, Harold M. Sawyer and Max Hirsch.

To save time for circuses in moving a wagon has been invented that carries a huge spool upon which tents can be rolled, horses providing the power.

He comes a little bit nearer home than this, too, and reminds us of the man with the cold who stays at home to nurse it. He isn't happy unless every one in the house is just as uncomfortable about it as he is. Then he reminds us of mother when she has a headache. It isn't necessary to talk about this, Dr. Sargent says, and in some cases she can lift a 1000 pound weight. He cites instances where women have actually done this.

It is interesting to note how Dr. Sargent tramples down that old pet theory about women's lack of strength and courage. It is encouraging to the woman who reads this now and feels no answering beat of energy. Woman can be strong and courageous and not realize it, the doctor asserts. The point is this: From the very beginning she has been so surrounded with the idea of her own weakness that there was nothing else to do but believe it, and she's been believing it ever since—until now. To prove his contention of what the purportedly weaker sex can do when it throws off tradition, Dr. Sargent quotes the fact that some people say will bring him to the league headquarters, Marshall 4600, and they will be called for by the motor division of the league. Contributions of fruit and vegetables are also desired and these will also be called for.

The school for commercial classes will open June 24 under the auspices of the University of Oregon in the old Lincoln high school. All who desire to take advantage of this excellent course at an extremely low rate of tuition are urged to register as early as possible at the headquarters of the league. The course will take students in stenography and typewriting, bookkeeping and office work, penmanship, arithmetic, and telegraphy. It is a special war emergency course, and will be conducted through Dean Morton of the University of Oregon, for the national league. Classes will be in the evenings so that all women employed during the day may have an opportunity of taking whatever branch of the course they desire.

The finance committee of the league follows: Mesdames Wilbur E. Coman, Julius L. Louissou, Ralph E. Williams, John A. Keating, Allen Jobs, A. Kerry, L. Weinstein, Edna Ransom, Adrienne L. McCalman, M. Leroy Fields, Andrew R. Porter, Julius L. Meier, Julius Lippett, Folger Johnson, Harold M. Sawyer and Max Hirsch.

To save time for circuses in moving a wagon has been invented that carries a huge spool upon which tents can be rolled, horses providing the power.

He comes a little bit nearer home than this, too, and reminds us of the man with the cold who stays at home to nurse it. He isn't happy unless every one in the house is just as uncomfortable about it as he is. Then he reminds us of mother when she has a headache. It isn't necessary to talk about this, Dr. Sargent says, and in some cases she can lift a 1000 pound weight. He cites instances where women have actually done this.

It is interesting to note how Dr. Sargent tramples down that old pet theory about women's lack of strength and courage. It is encouraging to the woman who reads this now and feels no answering beat of energy. Woman can be strong and courageous and not realize it, the doctor asserts. The point is this: From the very beginning she has been so surrounded with the idea of her own weakness that there was nothing else to do but believe it, and she's been believing it ever since—until now. To prove his contention of what the purportedly weaker sex can do when it throws off tradition, Dr. Sargent quotes the fact that some people say will bring him to the league headquarters, Marshall 4600, and they will be called for by the motor division of the league. Contributions of fruit and vegetables are also desired and these will also be called for.

The school for commercial classes will open June 24 under the auspices of the University of Oregon in the old Lincoln high school. All who desire to take advantage of this excellent course at an extremely low rate of tuition are urged to register as early as possible at the headquarters of the league. The course will take students in stenography and typewriting, bookkeeping and office work, penmanship, arithmetic, and telegraphy. It is a special war emergency course, and will be conducted through Dean Morton of the University of Oregon, for the national league. Classes will be in the evenings so that all women employed during the day may have an opportunity of taking whatever branch of the course they desire.

The finance committee of the league follows: Mesdames Wilbur E. Coman, Julius L. Louissou, Ralph E. Williams, John A. Keating, Allen Jobs, A. Kerry, L. Weinstein, Edna Ransom, Adrienne L. McCalman, M. Leroy Fields, Andrew R. Porter, Julius L. Meier, Julius Lippett, Folger Johnson, Harold M. Sawyer and Max Hirsch.

To save time for circuses in moving a wagon has been invented that carries a huge spool upon which tents can be rolled, horses providing the power.

Work Is Directed From Liberty Temple

Two Woman's Service Committees Move Headquarters; New Work Taken Up.

By Vella Wisner
BEGINNING this week the Liberty Temple becomes the home of two of the important divisions of the work of the National League for Women's Service, the overseas committee, of which Mrs. William H. Skene is chairman, and the knitting committee having established headquarters in the Temple. The particular work at this time of the overseas committee is the collection of old kid gloves to be cleaned and made into jackets for airmen. This department of the work has been taken over by the several chapters of the P. E. O. Sisterhood, with one chapter in charge each day. The gloves are being collected in the barrels placed in prominent down town places. They will be cleaned by local cleaners free of charge and will then be made into jackets by women who have volunteered for the work.

The league again proved its usefulness by serving coffee to 800 draft men who passed through Kenton during the evening on their way from Tish to Camp Lewis. Miss Ruth Plummer was in general charge of the arrangements and she was assisted by a corps of league members. Coffee was donated by Closest & Devers, Dwight Edwards & Co. and Lang & Co. The Damascus creamery donated six gallons of cream. The First and Burnside Hazelwood donated six ten gallon cans to carry the coffee over to Kenton and the coffee was made by the Multnomah hotel. The league furnished the sugar.

An automobile school will open June 25 in the Adcox Automobile school, Union avenue and Waco streets, where training in mechanism and driving of various kinds of motor cars will be given on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 6:30 to 9:30. A low rate of tuition will be charged.

The league's canning kitchen will open June 11 in the Sargent hotel, corner Grand and Hawthorne avenues, where volunteer workers will can and preserve fruits and vegetables and put up fruit and berry juices. Everything to fit up the kitchen has been donated and the league now appeals to patriotic housewives to contribute jars and jelly glasses. Anyone having any may telephone to the league headquarters, Marshall 4600, and they will be called for by the motor division of the league. Contributions of fruit and vegetables are also desired and these will also be called for.

The school for commercial classes will open June 24 under the auspices of the University of Oregon in the old Lincoln high school. All who desire to take advantage of this excellent course at an extremely low rate of tuition are urged to register as early as possible at the headquarters of the league. The course will take students in stenography and typewriting, bookkeeping and office work, penmanship, arithmetic, and telegraphy. It is a special war emergency course, and will be conducted through Dean Morton of the University of Oregon, for the national league. Classes will be in the evenings so that all women employed during the day may have an opportunity of taking whatever branch of the course they desire.

The finance committee of the league follows: Mesdames Wilbur E. Coman, Julius L. Louissou, Ralph E. Williams, John A. Keating, Allen Jobs, A. Kerry, L. Weinstein, Edna Ransom, Adrienne L. McCalman, M. Leroy Fields, Andrew R. Porter, Julius L. Meier, Julius Lippett, Folger Johnson, Harold M. Sawyer and Max Hirsch.

To save time for circuses in moving a wagon has been invented that carries a huge spool upon which tents can be rolled, horses providing the power.

He comes a little bit nearer home than this, too, and reminds us of the man with the cold who stays at home to nurse it. He isn't happy unless every one in the house is just as uncomfortable about it as he is. Then he reminds us of mother when she has a headache. It isn't necessary to talk about this, Dr. Sargent says, and in some cases she can lift a 1000 pound weight. He cites instances where women have actually done this.

It is interesting to note how Dr. Sargent tramples down that old pet theory about women's lack of strength and courage. It is encouraging to the woman who reads this now and feels no answering beat of energy. Woman can be strong and courageous and not realize it, the doctor asserts. The point is this: From the very beginning she has been so surrounded with the idea of her own weakness that there was nothing else to do but believe it, and she's been believing it ever since—until now. To prove his contention of what the purportedly weaker sex can do when it throws off tradition, Dr. Sargent quotes the fact that some people say will bring him to the league headquarters, Marshall 4600, and they will be called for by the motor division of the league. Contributions of fruit and vegetables are also desired and these will also be called for.

The school for commercial classes will open June 24 under the auspices of the University of Oregon in the old Lincoln high school. All who desire to take advantage of this excellent course at an extremely low rate of tuition are urged to register as early as possible at the headquarters of the league. The course will take students in stenography and typewriting, bookkeeping and office work, penmanship, arithmetic, and telegraphy. It is a special war emergency course, and will be conducted through Dean Morton of the University of Oregon, for the national league. Classes will be in the evenings so that all women employed during the day may have an opportunity of taking whatever branch of the course they desire.

The finance committee of the league follows: Mesdames Wilbur E. Coman, Julius L. Louissou, Ralph E. Williams, John A. Keating, Allen Jobs, A. Kerry, L. Weinstein, Edna Ransom, Adrienne L. McCalman, M. Leroy Fields, Andrew R. Porter, Julius L. Meier, Julius Lippett, Folger Johnson, Harold M. Sawyer and Max Hirsch.

To save time for circuses in moving a wagon has been invented that carries a huge spool upon which tents can be rolled, horses providing the power.

He comes a little bit nearer home than this, too, and reminds us of the man with the cold who stays at home to nurse it. He isn't happy unless every one in the house is just as uncomfortable about it as he is. Then he reminds us of mother when she has a headache. It isn't necessary to talk about this, Dr. Sargent says, and in some cases she can lift a 1000 pound weight. He cites instances where women have actually done this.

It is interesting to note how Dr. Sargent tramples down that old pet theory about women's lack of strength and courage. It is encouraging to the woman who reads this now and feels no answering beat of energy. Woman can be strong and courageous and not realize it, the doctor asserts. The point is this: From the very beginning she has been so surrounded with the idea of her own weakness that there was nothing else to do but believe it, and she's been believing it ever since—until now. To prove his contention of what the purportedly weaker sex can do when it throws off tradition, Dr. Sargent quotes the fact that some people say will bring him to the league headquarters, Marshall 4600, and they will be called for by the motor division of the league. Contributions of fruit and vegetables are also desired and these will also be called for.

The school for commercial classes will open June 24 under the auspices of the University of Oregon in the old Lincoln high school. All who desire to take advantage of this excellent course at an extremely low rate of tuition are urged to register as early as possible at the headquarters of the league. The course will take students in stenography and typewriting, bookkeeping and office work, penmanship, arithmetic, and telegraphy. It is a special war emergency course, and will be conducted through Dean Morton of the University of Oregon, for the national league. Classes will be in the evenings so that all women employed during the day may have an opportunity of taking whatever branch of the course they desire.

The finance committee of the league follows: Mesdames Wilbur E. Coman, Julius L. Louissou, Ralph E. Williams, John A. Keating, Allen Jobs, A. Kerry, L. Weinstein, Edna Ransom, Adrienne L. McCalman, M. Leroy Fields, Andrew R. Porter, Julius L. Meier, Julius Lippett, Folger Johnson, Harold M. Sawyer and Max Hirsch.

To save time for circuses in moving a wagon has been invented that carries a huge spool upon which tents can be rolled, horses providing the power.

He comes a little bit nearer home than this, too, and reminds us of the man with the cold who stays at home to nurse it. He isn't happy unless every one in the house is just as uncomfortable about it as he is. Then he reminds us of mother when she has a headache. It isn't necessary to talk about this, Dr. Sargent says, and in some cases she can lift a 1000 pound weight. He cites instances where women have actually done this.

It is interesting to note how Dr. Sargent tramples down that old pet theory about women's lack of strength and courage. It is encouraging to the woman who reads this now and feels no answering beat of energy. Woman can be strong and courageous and not realize it, the doctor asserts. The point is this: From the very beginning she has been so surrounded with the idea of her own weakness that there was nothing else to do but believe it, and she's been believing it ever since—until now. To prove his contention of what the purportedly weaker sex can do when it throws off tradition, Dr. Sargent quotes the fact that some people say will bring him to the league headquarters, Marshall 4600, and they will be called for by the motor division of the league. Contributions of fruit and vegetables are also desired and these will also be called for.

The school for commercial classes will open June 24 under the auspices of the University of Oregon in the old Lincoln high school. All who desire to take advantage of this excellent course at an extremely low rate of tuition are urged to register as early as possible at the headquarters of the league. The course will take students in stenography and typewriting, bookkeeping and office work, penmanship, arithmetic, and telegraphy. It is a special war emergency course, and will be conducted through Dean Morton of the University of Oregon, for the national league. Classes will be in the evenings so that all women employed during the day may have an opportunity of taking whatever branch of the course they desire.

The finance committee of the league follows: Mesdames Wilbur E. Coman, Julius L. Louissou, Ralph E. Williams, John A. Keating, Allen Jobs, A. Kerry, L. Weinstein, Edna Ransom, Adrienne L. McCalman, M. Leroy Fields, Andrew R. Porter, Julius L. Meier, Julius Lippett, Folger Johnson, Harold M. Sawyer and Max Hirsch.

To save time for circuses in moving a wagon has been invented that carries a huge spool upon which tents can be rolled, horses providing the power.

He comes a little bit nearer home than this, too, and reminds us of the man with the cold who stays at home to nurse it. He isn't happy unless every one in the house is just as uncomfortable about it as he is. Then he reminds us of mother when she has a headache. It isn't necessary to talk about this, Dr. Sargent says, and in some cases she can lift a 1000 pound weight. He cites instances where women have actually done this.

It is interesting to note how Dr. Sargent tramples down that old pet theory about women's lack of strength and courage. It is encouraging to the woman who reads this now and feels no answering beat of energy. Woman can be strong and courageous and not realize it, the doctor asserts. The point is this: From the very beginning she has been so surrounded with the idea of her own weakness that there was nothing else to do but believe it, and she's been believing it ever since—until now. To prove his contention of what the purportedly weaker sex can do when it throws off tradition, Dr. Sargent quotes the fact that some people say will bring him to the league headquarters, Marshall 4600, and they will be called for by the motor division of the league. Contributions of fruit and vegetables are also desired and these will also be called for.

The school for commercial classes will open June 24 under the auspices of the University of Oregon in the old Lincoln high school. All who desire to take advantage of this excellent course at an extremely low rate of tuition are urged to register as early as possible at the headquarters of the league. The course will take students in stenography and typewriting, bookkeeping and office work, penmanship, arithmetic, and telegraphy. It is a special war emergency course, and will be conducted through Dean Morton of the University of Oregon, for the national league. Classes will be in the evenings so that all women employed during the day may have an opportunity of taking whatever branch of the course they desire.

The finance committee of the league follows: Mesdames Wilbur E. Coman, Julius L. Louissou, Ralph E. Williams, John A. Keating, Allen Jobs, A. Kerry, L. Weinstein, Edna Ransom, Adrienne L. McCalman, M. Leroy Fields, Andrew R. Porter, Julius L. Meier, Julius Lippett, Folger Johnson, Harold M. Sawyer and Max Hirsch.

To save time for circuses in moving a wagon has been invented that carries a huge spool upon which tents can be rolled, horses providing the power.

MISS MARY B. JACOBS, head of the department of physical education in the Y. W. C. A., who will leave soon to direct recreational work among the women of that country.

—Photo by Grove.

THE Young Women's Christian Association of Portland will within a few days send its first recruit for service in France in the person of Miss Mary B. Jacobs, who has been for two years director of physical education and hygiene in the local association. Miss Jacobs goes in response to a call for 50 secretaries cabled by Miss Mabel Cratty, national general secretary of the Y. W. C. A., who has been making an extensive tour of investigation through France and England in the interest of the Women's War Work Council.

Miss Cratty cabled that the present situation called for patriotic sacrifice by the association of the most experienced secretaries and board members for work over there. They are needed for administrative and recreational work, for cafeterias, stenographic and bookkeeping work, and for musical leadership. Because of the successful experimental work there, prominent officials of the French government have offered large possibilities for service in the immediate future.

For two years Miss Jacobs has been doing effective work in the local association, having established and maintained classes in gymnasium work, including corrective work, general gymnastics and work in esthetic dancing, as well as having charge of the work in esthetic and folk dancing at St. Helen's hall. As Miss Jacobs has had unusual advantages of training and experience, she is eminently fitted for the work she is about to take up.

Before coming to Portland she taught in the Los Angeles Y. W. C. A., the Los Angeles city schools, Battle Creek Normal School of Physical Education and Southern Normal College of Physical Education. She is a graduate of the Sargent Normal School of Physical Education at Boston, the Paul-haber Normal School of Classical Dancing at Cambridge, Mass.; of Harvard Summer school and the Chalfin Normal School of Dancing at New York. The work she is about to take up will be that of establishing organized recreational activities of the right type for the unemployed hours of the women who are doing the work of the men at the front.

The finance committee of the league follows: Mesdames Wilbur E. Coman, Julius L. Louissou, Ralph E. Williams, John A. Keating, Allen Jobs, A. Kerry, L. Weinstein, Edna Ransom, Adrienne L. McCalman, M. Leroy Fields, Andrew R. Porter, Julius L. Meier, Julius Lippett, Folger Johnson, Harold M. Sawyer and Max Hirsch.

To save time for circuses in moving a wagon has been invented that carries a huge spool upon which tents can be rolled, horses providing the power.

He comes a little bit nearer home than this, too, and reminds us of the man with the cold who stays at home to nurse it. He isn't happy unless every one in the house is just as uncomfortable about it as he is. Then he reminds us of mother when she has a headache. It isn't necessary to talk about this, Dr. Sargent says, and in some cases she can lift a 1000 pound weight. He cites instances where women have actually done this.

It is interesting to note how Dr. Sargent tramples down that old pet theory about women's lack of strength and courage. It is encouraging to the woman who reads this now and feels no answering beat of energy. Woman can be strong and courageous and not realize it, the doctor asserts. The point is this: From the very beginning she has been so surrounded with the idea of her own weakness that there was nothing else to do but believe it, and she's been believing it ever since—until now. To prove his contention of what the purportedly weaker sex can do when it throws off tradition, Dr. Sargent quotes the fact that some people say will bring him to the league headquarters, Marshall 4600, and they will be called for by the motor division of the league. Contributions of fruit and vegetables are also desired and these will also be called for.

The school for commercial classes will open June 24 under the auspices of the University of Oregon in the old Lincoln high school. All who desire to take advantage of this excellent course at an extremely low rate of tuition are urged to register as early as possible at the headquarters of the league. The course will take students in stenography and typewriting, bookkeeping and office work, penmanship, arithmetic, and telegraphy. It is a special war emergency course, and will be conducted through Dean Morton of the University of Oregon, for the national league. Classes will be in the evenings so that all women employed during the day may have an opportunity of taking whatever branch of the course they desire.

The finance committee of the league follows: Mesdames Wilbur E. Coman, Julius L. Louissou, Ralph E. Williams, John A. Keating, Allen Jobs, A. Kerry, L. Weinstein, Edna Ransom, Adrienne L. McCalman, M. Leroy Fields, Andrew R. Porter, Julius L. Meier, Julius Lippett, Folger Johnson, Harold M. Sawyer and Max Hirsch.

To save time for circuses in moving a wagon has been invented that carries a huge spool upon which tents can be rolled, horses providing the power.

He comes a little bit nearer home than this, too, and reminds us of the man with the cold who stays at home to nurse it. He isn't happy unless every one in the house is just as uncomfortable about it as he is. Then