War Products Set Wheels Humming and New Methods Are Introduced to Meet Needs.

ORDNANCE EXPERTS TRAINED

United States Enters War With One Expert for Every 200 in Germany; Handicap Overcome.

From the Committee on Public Information Washington, June 8 .- The foundries of 16 steel plants in the United States are today doing capacity business. Throughout the night the work will go on with alight interruption. The whistles that blow to announce closing time to one army of workers will be a summons to another shift to take its turn. The blast himneys will continue to roar, and the glittering white-hot streams of molten metal will flow into the molds. A year are only two of these 16 foundries where cannon forgings are now being made were in existence. The foundries at Bothlehem and Midvale represented almost our entire resources for the making of cannon forgings. Today these two plants constitute less than 10 per of our total facilities for making such products.

New Methods Introduced In one year a new industry has been created in this country. It is new not only in the sense that the 14 foundries have been built, but that the processes manufacture are new. Making gun forgings is different from making steel forgings for any other purpose. The hammered. The methods of heat treating the steel, of cooling it, and of anent. Yet, within one year, this new industry has been built up in this country. and today it provides the wherewithal for the carrying out of an artillery proprojected in any other country. Nor is that all. In more than a score of other factories gun carriages, recoil $40,000 each" mechanisms and other parts of artillery are being made. For the making of those parts new industries have likewise been created. As an instance, a new glass of a quality available for use in lescopic sights on cannon. Such glass had never been made in the United sixth street north, purchased by W. F States before.

Experts Are Educated When we entered the war we were handicapped by a lack of technical knowledge. We had been a peaceful people; we had not trained our scientists and engineers in the art of munitions making. Therefore, we had but one ordnance expert for every 200 in Germany. We went into this war with an ordnance bureau consisting of 97 officers and 820 enlisted men. Not all of those REALTY TRANSFERS 97 officers were ordnance experts. Some of them were only on detail to the ordnance department. In fact, not more the designing work in the manufacture of artillery. Before a year had elapsed the ordnance department had grown into an organization of 5000 officers, 30,000 J. enlisted men and 20,000 civilian employes. It has undergone a thorough reshaping to adapt itself to the extraordinary new conditions. The ordnance bureau in the first year of war did a Gentlemen Burglars Rob Till Chicago, Ill., June 8.-Two armed bandits made a social call at the of-fices of the Williams Grain company They chatted pleasantly with Miss Cora Stewart and Mrs. Walter Applegate, employes punctuating their conversation with flourishes of revolvers. After a stay of several minutes they left, taking along $90 that had been in the cash drawer.

Ruralite Had Idea Big War Was Over

St. Louis, Mo., June s.—(I. N. S.)—A man who did not know that America was at war was discovered here by a conductor on a market street car. A farmer boarded the car and stood on the rear platform. A squad of sailors marched past, attracting the rural-Ite's attention.

"They are United States sailors," the conductor informed him. "What are they for?" "They are going to fight for Uncle

Well-paid shipbuilders are giving to the local real estate market a prosper ity that it has not known in several to find somebody with a house who lots. wants to sell it. Improved property has near in proportion to the increase of the demand. It is possible now to buy a very good, comfortable cottage, well lo-cated, within reasonable distance of the streetcar, for from $1500 to $2000, while a pretentious house of seven or eight rooms can be had for from $2500 to $3000. Of course, somebody loses money en a house of this type at such a price, but the man who has been carrying it for several years wants to sell, and shipbuilders and other investors want to

"Of course, in my judgment, this ac tivity is the forerunner of good real estate market conditions, and it won't be long until all classes of Portland real property will be in active demand and selling at good prices."
