SWIMMING MEET WITH KAHANAMOKU AS ENTRY WILL OPEN UP TONIGHT

Two World Champions and Coming Champion Will Show Portland Fans Real Way to Crawl Through the Water in Making of Speed Records; Saturday Program Is in Afternoon.

WHILE the program for the swimming races in which Duke Kahanamoku, Clarence Lane and Harold Kruger, famous Hawaiians, will compete tonight, has been made, it will be no more attractive than the one prepared for Saturday afternoon.

Saturday afternoon the races will be handicap affairs. For instance, Harold Kruger will make an attempt to lower his own 100 yard world's record of 1:08 1-5 at the backstroke style.

For the 100 yard event, some of the swimmers will be started about six or seven seconds ahead of the duke, who will try to beat them to the finish line.

More Features in Store The "triple or" swim, life-saving stunts and other features will be staged again the second day of the meet.

Owing to the fact that some world's records may be broken, a whole flock of timers has been gathered by Jack Cody, who is assisting Tour Manager Owen Merrick in staging the meet.

Merrick is as busy as a whirling dervish with the seven year itch, these days, keeping up his correspondence with Honolulu guests the cities ahead, getting out the press agent stuff, haggling with the hotels and figuring on how the boys are going to meet the increased Pullman rates for the rest of the trip.

The visitors were charmed. Duke has been all over the world and he tosses out the blue ribbon to the Columbia river highway. If you know the Duke, who rarely says much one way or the other, you can appreciate what the boys from the Pearl of the Pacific think.

The visitors say they were well entertained in California, but they're strong for Portland. Maybe because this is the home town of Merrick and Clair Tait, the youngsters have been received with a wider stretch of the arm.

DURAY GEARING HIS FRONTENAC FOR AUTO DERBY

European Champion Figures 120 Miles an Hour Will Be About Right to Win.

Chicago, June 21.—(I. N. S.)—A fleet of 18 automobiles, driven by the world's greatest racing men, will leave the post tomorrow at the speedway, when the signal is given for the 100-mile auto derby handicap.

It is expected that Duray, while not the favorite, will be a strong contender. He has raced his Frontenac up to the highest pitch and predicts he will whirl around the two-mile course at 120 miles an hour, which would mean a new record and probably victory.

De Palma and Resta, who will compete tomorrow with each other rather than with the entire 18, are today unconsciously competing with each other in the favor of the popular mind.
