Lane Crops Are Suffering Eugene, June 24.—Rain, predicted for the last of the week, failed to reach Eugene. A slight sprinkle Saturday night was the only evidence. Crops here are suffering badly and, together with the destruction of wheat and the damage to wheat and oats by aphids, prospects are rather slim for the farmers of Lane county.

REJECTED "As a member of the draft examination board I was impressed with the number of young men who were rejected on account of their eyesight. Rejection on account of defective vision was in a much larger proportion than the next largest cause, which was hernia. It was larger than any other two put together. It was simply heart-breaking to see the number of stalwart young fellows fit in every other way, in the pink of physical condition, falling down on but one thing, defective vision. Of men with defective vision, over 700 or 800 in the first draft, only one had organic disease of the eye. Only two of them showed any serious degree of astigmatism. All the rest of them with defective vision were rejected on account of errors of refraction, most of which could be remedied by glasses. Another interesting experience was the small percentage of these men who were wearing glasses. I should say that 60 per cent or 70 per cent of them did not know they had any error of refraction."—Dr. T. G. Atkinson in the Optical Journal.

NEW NATIONAL PARTY ENDORSES NATIONAL PLATFORM OF BODY

J. D. Brown Nominated for Congress From Third District; Other Actions Taken.

The state convention of the National party at the Central library Saturday afternoon nominated J. D. Brown, president of the Farmers Union, for congress for the Third district. It was intimated at the convention in speeches that were made that Mr. Brown will probably receive the endorsement of the Prohibition party next Saturday and the support of organized labor. Also that A. W. Lafferty, independent, would not run.

The convention was presided over by George L. Cleaver, and Miss Mattie Mae Rankin was secretary. The committee on platform was Paul H. Douglas, Mrs. J. D. Brown, O. D. Teal. The platform endorses the principles of the National platform and on state issues advocates the establishment of a single house legislature elected by proportional representation; income and inheritance taxes; the absorption of unearned increment of city land values, and extension of the compensation law.

The platform starts out with warm indorsements of President Wilson and the necessity of a successful prosecution of the war to preserve democracy. The state convention resolved itself into a county convention and nominated the following candidates for the legislature: J. P. Joseph, C. Hart, Miss Emma Wolf, J. P. Newell, C. P. Howard, Mrs. L. F. Addison. Further nominations will be made by the executive committee.
