

YOUNG MEN UNDER 21 ARE URGED TO STAY IN SCHOOL

Oregon Educators Form Plan to Enlist Boys From 18 to 21 for Technical Training.

TRAINED MEN ARE NEEDED

Resolution Calls for Public Opinion to Keep Boys in School Until Draft Age Is Reached.

The drive to keep young men in the high schools and colleges of Oregon until they become 21 years of age is on.

John K. Kollock and W. F. Woodward, representing the State Council of Defense, yesterday afternoon held a meeting in the Portland library with 20 school principals and superintendents from various parts of the state.

An emergency is declared to exist. Trained men are needed in military and in civilian service, and the young men must prepare.

After the need for trained workers was emphasized, a plan was urged under which young men between the ages of 18 and 21 would be enlisted for service in school and placed under military training and discipline.

The plan was evolved by college presidents of the United States, who met with the National Council of Defense at Washington, D. C. It is proposed to hold young men in school to prepare them to be of the greatest value to the government in winning the war. Preparation also is aimed for the critical period—one of keen competition in all lines—which is expected to follow the war.

Resolution Is Adopted

After the educators had formulated the plan for Oregon, a resolution was passed calling upon the State Council of Defense to appoint a committee immediately to formulate definite plans to bring force of public opinion to bear on young men between the ages of 18 and 21 to enter school and to stay in school until they become of draft age.

P. L. Campbell, president of the University of Oregon, in calling attention to the educational needs, said: "An emergency actually exists. Public opinion should be brought to bear not only to keep boys in school, but to put boys in school who are there. One of the most serious situations the government is facing lies in the shortage of trained men and women for all kinds of military and civilian service."

To cite the emergency, the statement was made that President Kerr of the Oregon agricultural college had been called upon to supply the government with 33 chemists and technical men; that he had scoured the Northwest but had succeeded in supplying only four men.

Man Power Not Short

President Kerr spoke briefly. "It takes more years to train in present conditions for a young man to remain out of the service and continue in school than to enter the service."

"If you want 1,000,000 men, you can lower or raise the draft age and you can get them," declared H. H. Herdman Jr., principal of Washington high school, "but if you want officers to take charge of these young men, you can get them only by the slower process of education and training."

Mr. Herdman's statement formed the theme around which the educators' interest centered, since the young men are the logical ones to be trained for skilled work.

Present at the meeting was E. F. Carleton, assistant state superintendent, who represented the state department.

Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. It doesn't pain you bit. Yes, magic!

Why wait? Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of Freezone for a few cents, sufficient to rid your feet of every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and calluses, without soreness or irritation. Freezone is the much talked of ether discovery of a Cincinnati genius. (Adv.)

Hero of Capture of Flyer Klamath Man

Klamath Falls, June 25.—How Corporal E. Frizzle, a forest engineer now in France, who is well known in Klamath Falls, captured a pilot of a German airplane single handed and unarmed though his antagonist had two loaded pistols, was vividly described in The Journal recently. It is reported that Frizzle saw the plane drop and the pilot jump out, "covered" the German officer with a monkey wrench and cried, "Hands up, you — Heine, before I knock your block off." "Heine" complied and was taken a prisoner into the American camp.

Corporal Frizzle is a brother of Camille Frizzle of this city. The corporal has considerable property interests in this city and Klamath county.

Irrigation Project Delayed

Klamath Falls, June 25.—Putting water on the 2500 acres of land in the Big Springs unit near Bonanza, east of this city, has been delayed owing to a decision of the ranchers to raise the pump about four feet to prevent the possibility of its being swept away by high water in the spring, according to residents of that section. As soon as this work is completed the water will be turned on for the first time. It is believed that the whole 6000 acres in that section, which are to be put under irrigation this year by means of the various pumping plants, will be covered within the next three weeks.

Strike in Munition Works to Be Averted

Washington, June 25.—(I. N. S.)—Secretary of War Baker took steps Monday to avert a wholesale strike of workers at the Bridgeport munitions works, scheduled for Wednesday. In a telegram to the leader of the local union the secretary demanded that there should be no interruption to the vital task of supplying the army with munitions, and there is a vague hint that drastic steps might be taken by the government to prevent the threatened walkout. Refusal of the manufacturers to agree to recent government wage awards is responsible for the threatened strike, which, while immediately confined to about 500 workers, is likely to extend to others.

The new method of crushing illegal profiteering, officials stated, was tried in Philadelphia, where it proved so effective that it will be used as a nationwide campaign.
