Portland Clergymen Are to Speak on the Renewed Meaning of Independence Day

CHURCH SERVICES SUNDAY TO BE OF PATRIOTIC NATURE

Pastors Will Show That Now as Ever This Country of Freedom of Religion Must Not Perish.

RESPONSIBILITY IS GREATER

Today Churches Have Far More Important Position Than Ever Before in History of the U. S.

THURSDAY, July 4, is the one hundred and forty-second anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence and Portland churches will celebrate this event Sunday with patriotic services. In their sermons the Portland clergy will show just what "the government for the people, of the people and by the people" has meant to the churches of every denomination, and in the words of Lincoln will prove again that such government must not perish from the earth.

In listening to the weekly sermons of Portland pastors the conclusion may be drawn that both clergy and laity realize that the church today has a greater responsibility than the church of yesterday ever had. The messages of the pastors would indicate that they feel as though the church which falls down in its duty today has practically no hope of existence after the war.

Among church people the meaning and value of the urgent admonition of President Wilson and others, to keep the altar fires of the church burning at all costs, is becoming more obvious every day. The increasing exodus of young men, the constant readjustment of all relations in life is calling upon the church for redoubling of her energies and the vitalizing of her message as never before.

The Sunday morning service at the First Christian church will be especially appropriate to the coming Fourth of July celebration. A patriotic discourse on "The Spirit of Seventy-six" will be delivered at 11 o'clock by Rev. Harold H. Griffis. An anthem with special musical setting for the national hymns of England, France and America will be rendered by the church quartet.

Rev. John H. Boyd of the First Presbyterian church has returned from Camp Lewis, where he reports the "boys exceedingly receptive to the message which I brought them." Dr. Boyd will preach patriotic sermons both morning and evening. In the morning he will show the necessity of making the world safe for those who have Christian character. Following the evening service the usual reception will be held for the soldiers who attended the service.

Dr. J. J. Staub of Sunnyside Congregational church has been doing work in the Y. M. C. A. hut at Vancouver and he will preach patriotic sermons Sunday. Dr. Staub says that it is necessary that the church keep alive the home fires and prove true to its trust in order that it may be of value to the men who have so bravely sacrificed their all for the sake of their country.

The people of Highland Congregational church have arranged to hold a service Sunday night which will be a celebration of American independence. Everything connected with the gathering will be made to center around the idea of the birth of the nation. The order of the exercises will be largely musical, consisting of patriotic songs by the people, several solos and patriotic readings. The pastor, Rev. Edward Constant, will give an address on "The Spirit of '76."

Sunday night at First Congregational church, Rev. A. D. Shaw of Hillsboro, will preach on "The Glory of the Trenches."

Dr. Pence of Westminster church, in charge of Y. M. C. A. religious work at Camp Lewis, will address his congregation Sunday evening on subjects connected with the work at the cantonment.

In keeping with the National Independence day, the evening service at Rodney Avenue Christian church will be patriotic. The service flag will be presented to the church and Sunday school by the Relief corps of the G. A. R. of Montavilla. Mrs. C. H. Dougherty and Mrs. E. S. Rosenberg will sing at the morning service. "He Included Me."

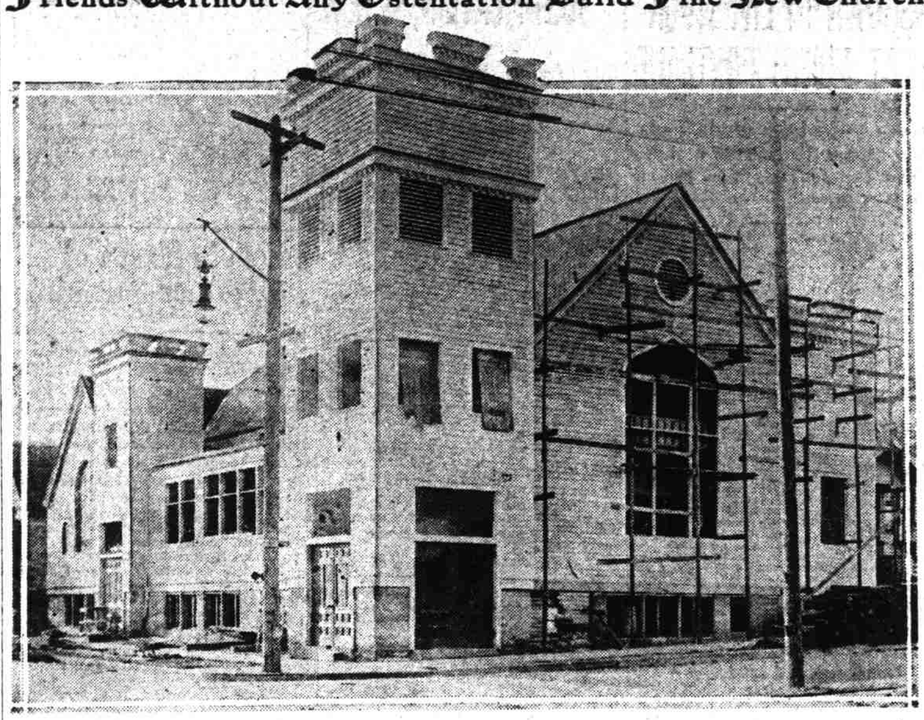
Dr. McLeod Will Be Morning Speaker

Rev. Dr. Murdock McLeod, pastor of the Grace Street church of Minneapolis, will preach Sunday morning at the Central Presbyterian church and Rev. D. Charles Ensign of Knox church of Spokane will preach in the evening.

The pastorate of Central church is still unfilled, but it is expected a new pastor will be secured in the near future to succeed Dr. Arthur F. Bishop, who was compelled to relinquish the pastorate on account of ill health.

Friends Without Any Ostentation Build Fine New Church



New edifice erected at East Thirty-Fifth and East Main street, which is nearing completion.

Quietly, in true Quaker style, the First Friends church of Portland has almost completed its new church without asking aid from many outside sources. About a year ago the members of the church decided to erect a new structure for worship, because they could not seat their congregations on Sunday mornings. The church had previously purchased two lots across from the old structure at East Thirty-fourth and Main streets, and it was decided to build on this corner. The men decided that they would incur no debt in erecting the new structure. First the basement was dug with the funds on hand and then work was discontinued until the money was raised to build the concrete wall. This plan has been pursued throughout the entire enterprise and the church is now almost ready for occupancy with practically no outstanding debts. When the concrete foundation was completed the old church was moved across the street in back of the new church and it will be used for Sunday school rooms.

The new church will have a seating capacity of over 500 people and when completed about 200 more can be accommodated in the Sunday school rooms which will open to the church through sliding doors.

Twenty-five years ago, this church was organized as the Sunnyside Friends church, but it outgrew all other Quaker organizations in the city, and is now officially known as the First Friends church of Portland. Rev. Homer L. Cox has been pastor of the church for the last five years. The first church building was located south of Hawthorne avenue.

Besides the features already mentioned the new church has a large gallery and a platform that will seat a chorus choir. The pastor's study in back of the pulpit has been made cozy with a fireplace.

A place has also been provided for a pipe organ, which will be installed when the members raise the funds to purchase it. The building is of frame construction.

Vernon Church Aid Will Give Social

Next Wednesday evening Vernon Presbyterian church will give a social on the church lawn. This entertainment will be free to all friends and members of the church. The young people are especially invited. It will be conducted by the Ladies' Aid society of the church.

Sunday morning the pastor, Dr. Landsborough, will talk on the breaking up of the traditions previously considered secure and impress upon his hearers the importance of being allied with that which abides. In the evening his sermon will be based on a soldier's letter, recently published in a local paper.

Missionary Day at Nazarene Church

Sunday will be Missionary day at the First Nazarene church, East Seventh and Couch streets. At the morning service, the pastor, Rev. C. Howard Davis, will deliver a missionary sermon and at 2:30 Rev. K. H. Jackson and wife, missionaries under appointment of the general foreign missionary board to India, will speak and sing. They will also speak at the evening service. Mr. Jackson has spent some time in South America, and now expects to start for India in the latter part of September. This possibly will be the last opportunity to hear these speakers before they leave the city.

Last of Evolution Sermons on Sunday

Sunday evening, Dr. Harold H. Griffis will conclude his series of sermons on the evolution of the church with a discourse on "The Church for the Twentieth Century." Last Thursday evening the pastor began a series of midweek lectures on the general theme, "The Christian Idea of the Modern World." These addresses will deal with the world's present challenge to the Christian religion and will be continued several weeks. The topic for the coming Thursday is "To What Extent Am I My Brother's Keeper?"

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR CAMP TO BE OPENED AT JENNINGS LODGE

Summer Outing Will Take on Nature of Training Station; Program Is Prepared.

Nearly all plans have been made for the "Camp Multnomah Christian Endeavor Training Station," which will be held August 15 to 19, inclusive, at Jennings Lodge station on the Oregon City line. The committee announces that Multnomah county is now ready for the biggest Christian Endeavor convention it has ever held.

The program contains the names of some of the strongest workers among young people in the state. It has been prepared by Miss Faye Steinmetz, ex-president of the county union. Each day's course is intensely interesting for it is arranged in military style. At bugle call the delegates emerge from the girls' and boys' barracks, take "setting up" exercises to work up an appetite and then are allowed to feast on their camp breakfast.

After breakfast they scatter to their various conferences, general parliament and Bible study. The afternoons will be devoted to recreation. Games and contests of all kinds between societies in vaulting, races, etc., will be played. After supper song services will be held. Splendid inspirational addresses have been planned for the evening, followed by cosy bonfire watches. A special feature will be given each night in addition to the regular program.

Dr. Wilson to Preach

Dr. Clarence True Wilson of Washington, D. C., will have charge of the Sunday morning service at Centenary Methodist church and will give a patriotic sermon on the divine right of democracy. In the evening the choir, assisted by the Sunday school orchestra, will give a sacred concert under the direction of George D. Hieb.

MINNEAPOLIS PASTOR IS COMING TO SUPPLY 1ST CONGREGATIONAL

Dr. J. R. Smith Will Be Here July 7; Rev. A. D. Shaw of Hillsboro Will Preach Sunday.

Rev. A. D. Shaw of Hillsboro will preach Sunday at both services in the first Congregational church.

In connection with the evening service, there will be the monthly organ recital by the organist, Lucien E. Becker, and the special musical numbers by the choir. These musical evenings are very interesting and thoroughly enjoyed by the large congregations which attend. They are a treat that is well worth one's time and effort to take advantage of. The public always is heartily welcomed to this beautiful church home at all its services. Sunday, July 7, will be the regular communion service of the church and the presence of every member is urgently requested. Dr. James Robert Smith of St. Paul, Minn., will begin a service as temporary pastor on that morning and will be here several Sundays. He is a strong preacher and should have a large hearing each Sunday while he is here.

Endeavorers Lose One of Their Most Faithful Workers

In the death of Miss Helen Orr, on June 23, the Christian Endeavorers of Oregon lost one of their most faithful and beloved members. In 1916 Miss Orr was Multnomah county superintendent, then state superintendent of the expert classes. She supervised these classes in Christian Endeavor efficiency all over the state. Last year she held the office of state secretary and raised it to a high standard. She was entering this year into the work of life life recruit chairman. Her unselfish devotion and faithful services in the upbuilding of the Oregon Endeavor union made her greatly beloved by all Oregon Endeavorers. Her departure is felt keenly.

EPISCOPALIANS' SUMMER SCHOOL IS BIG SUCCESS

Prominent Prelates From All Parts of the Pacific Northwest Are on Hand to Take Part.

COMMITTEE IS RE-ELECTED

Visitors Take Trip Over Columbia River Highway; Bishop and Mrs. W. T. Sumner Entertain.

THE annual summer school for the clergy of the Episcopal church closed Friday evening at St. Helens hall. Its success was most gratifying to the committee and to the visiting clergy and especially to Bishop Sumner. The summer school has come to be an established institution of the Episcopal church in the Northwest, and is attracting the attention of the clergy of other states. Among the prominent clergy present were Dr. H. H. Gowen, Seattle; Very Rev. Cecil S. Quaniton, dean of the cathedral at Victoria, B. C.; Very Rev. Guy D. Christian, dean of the cathedral at Juneau, Alaska; Rev. W. H. Bliss and Ven. Thomas A. Hilton of Seattle, and Rev. Thomas Alleson of Chehalis.

Dean Quaniton, who was one of the lecturers, held the attention of a large audience at three successive evening meetings. He forecast a theological battle arising out of the attempt to place Buddha, Confucius and other religious leaders on the same level with Christ and asserted that Christianity again would demonstrate its superior character and be all the stronger because of the strife.

Dean Christian, who came as a stranger to the Oregon clergy, was a member of the faculty and left a favorable impression. Dr. Gowen stressed the tracing of the development of poetry and showed the similarity of the ancient barbaric war odes with the German hymns of hate.

At the annual business session, held Thursday evening, the present committee was reelected to have charge of next year's session, being as follows: Rev. Thomas Jenkins and Rev. John Rice of Portland and Rev. Thomas Alleson of Chehalis, Wash.

A round table conference on religious education, led by Rev. W. H. Bliss and including a discussion by Rev. Thomas Jenkins, was held Thursday afternoon. During the session the clergy traveled the Columbia river highway to Multnomah falls and were the guests of Bishop and Mrs. Sumner at a tea at Bishopcroft, at which Mrs. Sumner and her mother, Mrs. Samuel Mitchell of Negaunee, Mich., presided.

PORTLAND CREMATORIUM

CREMATION AND MISINFORMATION

Like most departures from that which has been almost universal, much that is ridiculous in the opinions of those who know the subject is often retained by the uninformed, in regard to Cremation.

Earth burial is but man's clumsy evasion of a duty. There is a better way, a more humane way, a reverent way of disposing of the remains of our dead. It is Cremation. Visit the Crematorium or send for a booklet of information that gives many reasons why Cremation will shortly be the universal method of disposition.
