Contemplated Structure to Include Many Features New to Ordinary Church Buildings.

SHORT THE THE SHORT, the new pastor of the Wilbur Methodist church, will preach his first sermon in the new pastorate Sunday morning 10:30 o'clock in the Multnomah hotel mbly room. Dr. Short accepted the call to the local church from Spokane, the Wilbur people explained to him the possibilities that exist here for building up a downtown institutional If the plans projected by the mbers of the church are realized, it probable that Dr. Short is taking hold one of the biggest jobs of modern

The church contemplates the erection of a structure that will be a church, nission and social center combined. It is planned to incorporate the most modern features of an institutional church the building which will probably include a library, reading room, gymnalum, recreation hall, lunch room and siothing and book exchange. It has been said that many of the members of the Wilbur church have guaranteed to stand behind the new pastor with their resources of finance and see the project reach a successful culmination Dr. Short Well Fitted

Dr. Short came west in 1902 from wilmington, Del., to take the pastorate Dr. Lovejoy to Tell of the old Taylor street church of which he was pastor for four years. REV. EDGAR P. HILL WILL GREET HIS OLD FRIENDS ON SUNDAY

Former Portland Pastor Here From Chicago Will Speak at First Presbyterian.

The First Presbyterian church will have one of its former pastors in the pulpit Sunday. This is Rev. Edgar P. Hill of Chicago. Many of Dr. Hill's friends will be glad to see him in Portland again, and will want to hear him preach. It was in 1895 that Dr. Hill was called to Portland from Freeport,, and for 11 years he was prominent and influential in all the religious and so cial activities of the city. In 1906 Dr. Hill was called to Chicago, where he has resided since as professor of Homilectics in McCormick Theological seminary and superintendent of Presbyterian home missions in Chicago. Mrs. Hill is with her husband, and it is expected that they will remain about 10 days renew ing old acquaintanceships and visiting familiar spots in the vicinity of Port-

The music will have several special features. In the morning Mrs. Virginia Spencer Hutchinson will sing "Gloria" by Buzzi-Peccia and the duet for contralto and baritone, "The Lord Is Our Leader," by Brewer, will be sung by Mrs. Hutchinson and John Claire Monteith. In the evening at 7:45 o'clock Mr. Monteith will sing "Peace to This Sacred Dwelling," by Nevin, and an organ recital will be given by Edgar E. Coursen with the following program:

The president has authorized the heads of all government departments to sanction this observance through their chief clerks. The secretary of war permitted a signal for the ringing of the bells to be fired from the top of an office building. The district commissioners issued a statement giving their sanction to the observance. "This sanction carried authorization through the public utilities commission for the observance of the movement by streetcars and traffic, which stops on specified days, during the time of prayer," said Mr. Capers.

Posters similar to those of the Lib-erty loan drives and the Red Cross campaigns have been made and will be hung in all churches, Sunday schools, clubs, hotel lobbies, banks and restaurants. "Give a moment to God," is the suggestive phrase of the posters. These posters call the attention of the public to the necessity of prayer for the success of our allies and an enduring peace.

HE third annual conference of the missionary educational movement will be held July 30 to August 8 on "Sunset Slope" at Seabeck, Wash. This is one of the greatest annual gatherings of young church people in the Northwest and is also one of the national gatherings which the missionary education movement holds on behalf of the educational department of home and foreign mis-sion boards of the United States and

Rev. John H. Matthews, chairman of the Northwest territory and executive chairman of the conference, has made the following appeal to the young people:
"We desire young men and young women who are expecting to enter college or who are in other training for their life-work; those who desire to broaden the vision of life and to deepen its meaning; those who are seeking to understand the world movements of the day; those who are eager to become eaders in local churches; those who would like a vacation with a purpose." A part of each day is to be devoted to study and conference work followed by discussions on ways and means of introducing missionary interest into the home churches. "Up-to-the-minute" methods are to be presented by experts in missions "fresh from the firing line." Courses will be given for workers in Sunday schools, young people's societies and women's clubs. A vesper serv ice will be held each evening. Young people between 16 and 20 years of age are invited to Seabeck to join the

Servants of the King group and to become a part of the larger conference With the help of competent advisers the young people will be given training in group leadership, in self-governing or-ganization, practice in teaching the Bible and missions, open debate on important and vital problems, the planning of social and recreational programs and learning to pray in the open and in private de
