M'CREIDIE UNABLE TO ENTICE BUCKAROOS TO JOIN WITH SALT LAKE

Lee and Daniels Think More of "Work or Fight" Order Than Baseball, While Rapp Demands Guarantee of Pay for Season; Arkenburg Is Sought by G. S.-P. Ball Club.

SEEING three of the prides of the Buckaroo club slipping from his grasp, Walter Henry McCredie, manager of the Salt Lake club, wired Uncle W. W. McCredie last night, telling him to assure Messrs. Lee, Daniel and Rapp that the Coast league would go through with its schedule, regardless of talk and that he would like to have the Buck stars report immediately.

It is not so much the fact that the Coast league season may be curtailed that is keeping Lee and Daniels off of the Salt Lake club, but the application of the "work or fight" order. They say they don't want to make a trip to Salt Lake only to find out when they get there that they will have to come back to the work they have just left—i. e., the building of ships.

Rapp is above the draft age, so it is said, and does not have to worry about the baseball end of the "work or fight" order. He is a lot of other ancient ginks, he takes to travel about the countryside, having done so much of it in his youth. Therefore Mister Rapp wishes to be guaranteed his salary for the rest of the Coast league season, whether the game keeps on or not. Those are the conditions Rapp puts up to McCredie and he can take it or leave it. In the meanwhile Rapp is learning how to build a real merchant ship at the Albina Engine & Machine works, along with John L. Sullivan and Clifford Lightfoot Lee, all three going to work yesterday morning.

Messrs. Lee and Daniels are threatening to be the object of a fight on the part of Eddie Menser, who pussfooted about among the Buckaroos until Boss Bill Fisher had the bars put up against him. Menser says he will sue for an agreement to play with St. Helens. Menser has made no presentation of the alleged agreement to President Rapp.

Daubert is on Way

Jack Daubert, shortstop of the Bucks, is miles on his way to Salt Lake to join the Bees, where, it is doubtful if he will be of any value. Of the quartet of selected Bucks, Daubert is the one least likely to do McCredie any good. He plays brilliant ball at times and at other times is as unsteady as a Russian soviet.

Daubert is a weak and careless hitter and if there is anything that drives McCredie to the Brillian suits, it is this same class of ball player. However, Mac may be forced to use Daubert and the latter may feel the same way about a winning brand of ball for Mac.

Yates After Arkenburg

Fred Haney and Lyman Smith departed yesterday for Los Angeles via the Rose City, and the following townsman, Vernon McKinley, is still in Portland, undecided on going to work in the shipyards or going home. Judge McCredie asked him to wait around until Wait McCredie could be heard from in relation to recalling him to Salt Lake. However, after having seen Levi for several months, McCredie may not wish his return. At any rate he mentioned nothing about Arkenburg, who has improved a great deal since joining the Bucks, and his wire received from him last night.

Manager Yates of the Grant Smith-Porter company had a talk with Arky yesterday and the latter has promised to give him some word today or tomorrow.

TICK MALARKEY FINALLY HORNS WAY INTO RANKS

University of Oregon Star Goes Into Special Service With N. A.

After being rejected by the army, navy and marines because of defective eye, Leo J. Malarkey, former University of Oregon football star, who later became athletic coach at Columbia university, was called by his local board for special service with the national army and is now stationed at Vancouver barracks under quarantine.

Malarkey, better known as "Tick," attracted attention first in 1914, when he played left halfback on the University of Oregon team. He coached the McMinnville high school team in 1916 to the championship of the state and in 1917 directed athletics at Columbia university in the Portland Interscholastic league. From March until June of this year he was night police reporter on the local papers, besides teaching and coaching at Columbia during the day.

Bob Malarkey, a brother who played football at Oregon in 1914, was France with a bombing squad attached to the Oregon infantry, the 162d.

Baker Will Decide Soon About Players

Washington, July 9.—(U. P.)—A definite decision as to whether the work or fight order applies to baseball players will be made soon by Secretary of War Baker. He said he understood two appeals for decision were coming up to him at once from two players whose names are withheld.

It has been indicated by the appeals section of the war department that the secretary's decision will allow the baseball players' positions to remain in status quo for the remainder of this season, but that beginning next season baseball will be classed a "non-effective" industry.

Yachtsmen Must Get License for Sailing

San Francisco, Cal., July 9.—Collector of the Port John O. Davis has a few words to say to yachtsmen. They are:

"No boat of more than 20 feet may be sailed, rowed or propelled in any way on this bay without a license and identification card carrying the photograph of the owner and navigator."

This includes all pleasure boats. Yachtsmen must apply for license and card at the customs house. Collector Davis is ready to give out cards to recognized yachtsmen on application.

Managers of the Y. M. C. A. expect to send over to France 415 athletic directors by July 15 for overseas service in the "Y" huts.

RED CROWN GASOLINE

What are gasoline boiling points?

The boiling point of any liquid is the temperature at which it vaporizes. Gasoline has boiling points ranging from the very low to the high, and in "Red Crown" they form a uniform, continuous, unbroken chain. The value of gasoline lies in this uniform continuity of its boiling points. Combustion starts with the lowest boiling points and flashes on through the gas. The continuous chain of boiling points—from the low to the high—is necessary for instantaneous, full-powered combustion. Eliminate one link and the power chain is broken. Only a straight-distilled, all-refinery gasoline can have the continuous chain of boiling points. Mixtures always have "holes" in them. Red Crown, the Gasoline of Quality, is a straight-distilled, all-refinery fuel having the full and complete chain of boiling points necessary for steady, dependable power: Low boiling points for easy starting, medium boiling points for quick and smooth acceleration, and high boiling points for power and mileage. Look for the Red Crown sign before you fill.

Bench Ball Players To Get Chance Now

Those ball players who have been holding down bench jobs for so long that they have ceased to hope they might ever get a chance to prove their worthiness in continuous combat may have their chances, now that so many ball and bat artists are getting ready to help whip the Hun.

Nearly every baseball club has its pinch hitter or pinch fielder or just handy man, loafing around the bench, wasting space in hotels and trains and being just a good fellow. Lots of these men come to the major leagues, live their careers in partial oblivion and drift back to the minors without having been given a real chance to show what they could do.

New York clubs have been full of them. John McGraw is constantly being pointed out as a man who didn't know that he was doing when he let this or that man go for a song, only to see the released gem begin making himself famous.

Marty Kavanagh is one of this kind of heroes. Jim Thorpe is another. Wally Pipp was one and so was Dick Rudolph. It looks very much as though Jim Thorpe is going to get a real chance now.

A series of outfielders among the Giants will give him a chance to become a regular. Any athlete who can do what Jim accomplished in the American association has the stuff to become a real honest-to-goodness big leaguer, so watch Jim closely.

BASEBALL

BAKER WAS PITCHER IN YOUNG DAYS

Yank Slugger Was Dissuaded From Twirling Job by His Chum, Buck Herzog.

J. FRANKLIN BAKER, home run monarch and now star third baseman with Miller Huggins' rejuvenated Yankees, played his first ball game as a professional in his home town of Ridgeley, Md., in the spring of 1907.

Previous to that time Baker had played amateur baseball and like most youngsters he started out to be a pitcher. He had the strength and speed, and he labored to perfect himself as a moundman, but never with much success.

One Was Buck Herzog

He says that there were dozens of "kids" on the lots of his home town who played better baseball than he did in those early days of his career, and among the star players in those days was none other than Charles Lincoln Herzog, who has been a fast friend of Baker's for many years.

It was Herzog who finally induced Baker to join the semi-professional team at Ridgeley and at the time Frank was still trying to become proficient in the art of fooling the batters.

Buck Tipped Him Off

After he had been with the Ridgeley club for a short time, Herzog persuaded him that he was cut out for a pitcher, but because he could hit the ball harder and farther than anybody else on the team he was encouraged to try for an infield or outfield position.

Finally, Baker showed a preference for third base, because it afforded the greatest opportunity for action, and he has been a third baseman ever since.

"Try the Cherry Way of Buying Clothes — and See for Yourself!"

"Credit's your greatest asset. Jim, and during these war times it's been fully exemplified. This whole war is being conducted on a credit basis. And it's just as important that we as individuals use our credit to the utmost in these strenuous times. Cherry has applied the credit theory to the clothes proposition in a sane, sensible way. No extras or red tape—depends on volume of sales and number of customers to offset the long time he waits for his money. See for yourself—by comparing their values with those carried by cash stores. You'll find every word true—and you'll find, furthermore, that their styles are as snappy as you'll find anywhere. Cherry's are in the Pittcock block, 233-31 Washington street—Ady.

Chink Mattick Goes To White Sox Squad

Dallas, Texas, July 9.—(U. P.)—"Chink" Mattick, at one time with the Chicago White Sox and Vernon, Cal., in the Pacific Coast league, has been ordered to report to Branch Rickey of the St. Louis Cardinals. Mattick was part owner with "Doc" White, former White Sox pitcher, and Hamilton Patterson of the Dallas, Texas, league team until that circuit suspended Sunday.

Mattick was rated as one of the best outfielders Texas league fans have seen since Tris Speaker's playing days here.

Of the other Dallas players, St. Paul gets Jewel Ens, a St. Louis boy, and a third sacker, along with Bob Dowie, catcher. Pitcher Ed Matteson, who has won 26 games and lost five, has been ordered to report to Washington.

Mrs. Gavin to Play At Waverley Today

The slight early morning shower has cooled the atmosphere for the golf exhibition this afternoon at the Waverley Country club links between Mrs. William A. Gavin of England, and Forrest Watson of the Waverley club.

The match is open to the public and the proceeds will go to the Drake section sanitarium of the French army.

Mrs. Gavin has been playing excellent golf since her arrival in Portland last Saturday and her admirers believe that she will play a close game with young Watson, of his been close to par in most of his recent games at Waverley.

The match starts at 3 o'clock sharp.

Texas League Closes With Dallas at Top

Fort Worth, Texas, July 9.—The Texas league season came to a premature close Monday with Dallas at the top of the percentage column. All the six clubs of the league were in financial difficulties and three were heavy losers. Application of the "work or fight" order to a number of Texas league players came too late to be a contributing cause to the league's downfall, as the decision to close had already been made.
