Danger Too Great From Dreaded Tuber Moth to Longer Delay Action in Matter-Serious Menace to Industry Allowed to Continue.

By Hyman H. Oohen An absolute quarantine against importations of California potatoes into Oregon and Wash-ington is necessary to save the local industry Every day or so carload shipments reach the Every day or so carload shipments reach the local market and some cars are condemned on account of containing tuber moth. While the work of the Oregon inspection forces is as thorough as can be made under the circumstances, still it is stated that the tuber moth semetimes develops after a few days and there is danger that some of this dreaded insect will be turned loose upon the country after the inspectors examine the cars and fail to find them.

From the standpoint of the industry the matter is a very serious one and the trade is more and more demanding a complete quarantine against further importations from the south until such a time as California can give the country a clean bill of hea this most dreaded of potato pests.

The rain will by no means put out the fires, however, and it will be necessary to have patrols in the forests all summer. Forest service officials cite instances of a 10-day rain failing to extinguish a forest fire.

"The fire smoulders along in the soil." said Mr. Jackson, "and in old tree stumps, which are much the same as punk in their fire holding properties. Much of the rain never reaches down Porter shipyards, has devised a plan of far enough to wet these stumps and placing wooden shoots arranged along layers of humus, and as soon as the the ways, into which iron, boits and smouldering fire reaches a place where stray bits of wood may be thrown withconditions are favorable it may flame out danger to the men below. British Shipbuilding Grows; Teutons Lie

London, July 23 .- The German wireless of July 21 discovered a decline in British shipbuilding and expressed the belief that the desired production for 1918 could not be reached.' It gave some figures to "prove" that "there has been no extension of the production." This concern for the British future was quite unnecessary. British ship-building is going on splendidly, as the following correct figures will show: During the year ended June 30, 1917 the output of merchant tonnage in the United Kingdom yards was $33,863 tons gross. During the year ended June 20, 1918, it was 1,431,150 gross tons, which was an "extension of production" of exactly 597,287, gross tons. This is an extension of more than 71 per cent.
