TODAY'S FORECASTS

WEATHER CONDITIONS A well defined low pressure area is central in southern Idaho; elsewhere throughout the country the barometer is relatively high. Showers have fallen in western Oregon, on the northern California coast, and over a broad expanse of territory extending from the western Canadian provinces southeastward over the upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys, and central Plains states to the northern portion of the West Gulf states. The weather is much warmer in Montana and southeastern Idaho, and correspondingly cooler in the interior of the Pacific Coast states; elsewhere temperature changes have been unimportant.
