Reported Rule On Egg Handling Is Not in Effect

Various rules and regulations which were given out by a morning paper regarding the handling of eggs, are said to be unefficial and mean nothing, according to a ruling made by the food administration to the Estepolica of the office of the dairy and food commissioner, and will not have any effect whatever until a formal meeting of all interested parties is held. It is stated that some of the rules an given would throw entire control of the egg trade into the hands of the cold storage and packing interests.

Crops continues to make seasonable progress and the favorable outlook for the wheat crop is maintained. Some spring wheat sown was damaged by pest, but otherwise conditions are satisfactory. Crops throughout the south of England are in full ear.

Spain—Weather has been generally favorable for the maturing of the crop and material improvement is noted over earlier indications. Rain has fallen, but there are many sections still needing moisture.

Sweden—Much rain and warm weather serve to improve the prospects of the coming harvest. The outlook is described as fair to excellent.

FRUIT MARKETS ARE RULING AT ADVANCE WITH TRADE FIRMER

pricots. Peaches and Cautalouves Showing Rise in Prices-Wenatchee Sends First Carload of "Cots" to Local Trade-Peaches in Demand.

Higher prices are generally named for local fruits because of the increased demand and a shortage of offerings.

Peach supplies, while allowly increasing from both local and California points, are in such heavy request that sales are being made at advanced prices at all points. In many instances wholesalers have been unable to secure their actual requirements. actual requirements.

Sales of Hales Early peaches from Willamette valley and Columbia river points are generally reported at $1.25 per box for the day. California St. Johns are quoted at $1.50 per box, while Crawfords from the same section have been moved to $1.65 generally, with some asking a dime above this.

California reports received here by brokers during the day indicate a general advance of about 25c a box for peaches there during the last 10 days, a condition most unusual as the shipping season progresses.

The first carload of Wenatchee apricots have weaker, with sales at $1.75 @ 2 per crate of four baskets, the demand for large sizes being greater than offerings at the moment.

Instead of showing declining prices, as had been generally anticipated, telegraphic advises from the Turlock, Cal., section report further advances for supplies. This is said to be due to the fact that many shippers have entered the business, and the demand for carload lots is therefore greater than present offerings.

BONDS APPROVED

Capital Issues Committee Gives Backing to First Unit of Big Scheme for Irrigation.

Washington, July 25 .- (WASHING-ON BUREAU OF THE JOURNAL.)the approval by the capital issues committee of the $100,000 bond issue by the Talent irrigation district to construct the first unit of a $600,000 project. The committee previously had refused approval, but held up final action until Senator McNary returned.

Immediately upon his arrival he met officials and presented the importance of the matter to the Rogue river valley section, finally overcoming the adverse action heretofore ordered.

Road Issue Is Cut

Washington, July 24. - (WASHING-TON BUREAU OF THE JOURNAL.)-Skagit county, Wash., which asked authority to issue $300,000 in bonds for public roads, has been granted permission for only $177,000. After securing approval of the district committee at San Francisco, the cut was ordered by the capital issues committee in Wash-

Senator Poindexter, who was notified of the reduction, was not informed as to how the figures approved were de-The general atmosphere around the capital issues committee at present seems to be to curtail public improvement activities on the Pacific coast, and proposed bond issues for roads are critically regarded.
