

MANY MEN AND MUCH WORK NEEDED TO WIN VICTORY, SAYS BAKER

War Secretary Says Foch's Blow Has Changed Complexion of War, However.

Kansas City, Aug. 6.—That the whole complexion of the war has been changed by General Foch's counter offensive, which wrested from the Germans the offensive phase of the war, was the statement of Newton D. Baker, secretary of war, who was in Kansas City Monday on his way to Fort Leavenworth.

"Hereafter the allies will choose the battleground," Secretary Baker said, "and this means that they will have an advantage which formerly has been held by the Germans. We have the initiative now and that means that the enemy must fight on the defensive. He will meet the same difficulties the allies have encountered in the earlier stages of the world conflict."

While Mr. Baker referred to General Foch's drive as a great victory and the one big turning point in the war, he called on Americans everywhere not to become too enthusiastic and over confident.

"I still have a fight on my hands, and it is going to take much work and many men to win a victory that will bring lasting peace," he said.

Referring to the new draft, which plans to make men between the ages of 18 and 45 years subject to military service, Secretary Baker said he hoped to have the bill passed at once. He added that its passage would mean that no men would be taken from the deferred classes.

"I have been assured that we have sufficient men in class 1 to meet our demands until such time as the proposed measure becomes a law," he said. "We now have in training in the United States more than 1,500,000 men, and the plan of the war department is to keep 1,000,000 in training at all times."

Secretary Baker declared that the problem of sending enough men to France to turn the tide in the favor of the allies was not the most difficult now faced by this country.

"It is a matter of sending food supplies to feed that army," he declared. "The transportation of vessels laden with food, the unloading of this food and carrying it to the great concentration camps in France where it can be distributed to the Americans and their allies is the one big problem of the war at this time."

Secretary Baker stated official Washington is optimistic concerning the present counter offensive.

"General Foch has won a wonderful victory," he said, "and dispatches to the war department indicate that the pressure on the Soissons-Rheims front has caused the enemy to abandon his leisurely withdrawal into a more precipitate retreat. I believe that General Pershing's dispatches referring to the more than 8,000 prisoners taken refers to the latest phase in the counter offensive."

The secretary declared it was not the intention of the government at present to use the national guard units formed since the federalization of the national guard, for service abroad. He declined to state the reason for his visit to Fort Leavenworth at this time. He will return to Washington today.

A Strange Fact About Indigestion

A strange fact about indigestion with which comparatively few people are acquainted, is that nine times out of ten pain in the stomach after eating is due to food fermentation and acidity; which, as any doctor or druggist can tell you, is almost instantly relieved by taking a teaspoonful of pure Bismia (powder form) in a little hot water immediately after eating or whenever pain is felt. Pure Bismia is obtainable of druggists everywhere and if everyone would adopt this simple plan, indigestion, dyspepsia, sour stomach, gas and flatulence would soon be unknown. (Adv.)
